WABASH TAPS VALLEYS WITH NEW LINES

EXISTING LINES FORM THE BASIS

Pittsburgh, Lisbon & Western and Salem Railroads Extended.

WILL COST $10,000,000

Yesterday developed a new set of plans of the Wabash railroad in the Pittsburgh district of surprising magnitude. These plans include:

A line from Steubenville to Ashtabula harbor.

An expenditure of not less than $10,000,000 for these purposes, in addition to the $25,000,000 the Wabash interests have already spent in this district.

The Pittsburgh, Lisbon & Western, a line of 25 miles extending from New Galilee on the Ft. Wayne, near Beaver, to Lisbon, O., is the line in the name of which these plans are being carried forward. This is done by the absorption of the Salem railroad, which was accomplished Tuesday, and of the Shenango & Beaver Valley railroad, of which notice has not yet been given. This is expected to develop Friday.

Articles Filed Yetserday.

At Columbus, O., yesterday articles were filed with the secretary of state increasing the capital stock of the Pittsburgh, Lisbon & Western from $10,000 to $5,000,000; registering the merger of the Salem railroad, and describing the terminl of the proposed extension as Steubenville on the south and Ashtabula on the north.

On Saturday there will be filed with the secretary of state of Pennsylvania a notice of merger between the Pittsburgh, Lisbon & Western Railroad Company and the Shenango & Beaver Valley. This is the corporate name of the line in Pennsylvania. That part of the line to Eliwood is to be built at once. The purpose of this is to obtain the connection with the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh at that point.

In these plans as in many other eastern plans of the Goulds, Col. Myron T. Herrick of Cleveland is the active head. As told in yesterday's Gazette, the Pittsburgh Lisbon & Western Railway Company approved a plan of consolidation and heard reports on surveys in Ohio and Pennsylvania. The consolidation is with the Salem railroad, a seven-mile line from Salem, O., to Washingtonville, O. Col. Herrick owned this road and turns it over to a new company formed for the purpose and named the Pittsburgh, Lisbon & Western Railroad Company. The change in the name is from "railway" to "railroad." The consideration in the records is $1.

The Ashtabula Extension.

The plan for the Ashtabula extension is the one in which the Salem railroad figures. A new link will be built from Lisbon to Washingtonville, O., then the Salem road used for seven miles to Salem. From that point the new line to Ashtabula will be run. It will pass up the Mahoning valley in all probability, tapping the great industries of that district. It is certain to touch Warren, O. The details of the route have not yet been disclosed, because of the fact that rights of way would be made too costly by such a disclosure.

"Our surveys eastward for an extension to New Castle from New Galilee and westward to Minerva have been practically completed," said President N. B. Billingsley to a Gazette reporter yesterday over the long distance telephone. "The route has been adopted and we are secure in our position. Arrangements have been made at New Castle for terminals. Construction work will start within a few months. It should be well under way before the winter is over."

The length of the new line to New Castle will be about 14 miles. The cost of construction will be about $600,000 or $700,000. It will involve a bridge across the Ohio river. At New Castle a traffic arrangement will be made with the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh by which an interchange of freight can be made with great advantage to both. It is believed that the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh terminals in New Castle will be the ones used by the new Gould road. This is in addition to the connection.

The outlet westward will be by means of the Wheeling & Lake Erie, which was obtained by the Gould interests nearly two years ago. Connection is made by the extension to Minerva, O., which town is reached by a branch of the Wheeling & Lake Erie.

Unequalled Lake Ports.

Much interest devolves upon the extension to Ashtabula, mentioned in the articles filed at Columbus. The Gould interests already have six ports at Cleveland, Huron and Toledo. This additional harbor at Ashtabula will give them a line of lake ports unequaled by any other railroad system. The extension to Steubenville, mentioned likewise in the Columbus articles, gives the line connection with the Wheeling & Lake Erie for southern traffic and entrance to Pittsburgh from the Ashtabula port.

Not all of the plans have yet become public. Others which will develop within a few days will bring out still more clearly the details of the new plans.

As in all its moves, in Pittsburgh, Baltimore, West Virginia, Washington county and elsewhere, the Gould interests have secured strong local backing. The president of the Pittsburgh, Lisbon & Western Railroad Company is N. B. Billingsley, who was formerly judge of the circuit court in the Lisbon district. The secretary is Robert W. Tayler, the well-known lawyer and congressman, and a partner of Mr. Billingsley in the law firm of Billingsley, Tayler & Clark of Lisbon. The work of bringing the enterprises so near to a conclusion has been done with much skill, so that little definite information has become public too soon.

Quarreled Over Divorced Wife.

MINE WHISTLE GIVES SIGNAL

Evening Call for Today's Work Is Again Heard By Miners.

MANY TURNED AWAY

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Oct. 22.—The whistle of the mine engine echoed throughout the anthracite region today, announcing to the striking miners that digging would begin again tomorrow morning.

Rapid progress is being made by all the companies toward a general resumption. The suspension officially ends at 7 o'clock tomorrow morning, but the quantity of coal that will be mined this week will not be great.

It is not believed 25 per cent of the normal production will be reached until some time next week. Many mines will not be in condition for operation for several months and there are others that will not be ready for the men under two or three weeks. The day was devoted to a general inspection at most collieries to see what is needed in the way of repairs before the men can cut coal.

In a great number of collieries there will have to be much timbering done to prevent "squeezes." The nearly six months idleness has in many instances rusted breaker machinery, which may cause some delay in starting. Notwithstanding the many drawbacks, however, the company officials are confident there will be plenty of coal for distribution before cold weather sets in.

Thousands of men of every class made application for work today. Under the decision of the convention those directly employed in cutting and handling coal cannot return to work until tomorrow, but workmen who are needed to make repairs and otherwise place the workings in condition for operations were reinstated today wherever needed.

There were many disappointments, principally among the engineers and pumpmen. These two classes of mine workers struck on June 2 for an eight-hour day and also to help the miners win their contest. Their positions are not so arduous as those of the miners, and the wages are comparatively better.

Many Are Disappointed.

They want their old positions back and in many cases they failed. It is the opinion of the workers that the superintendents will find a way to re-employ all of them. The strikers argue that superintendents will not risk the lives of the men nor the wrecking of the mines through the mistakes of the non-union men, whom the strikers claim are mostly incompetent. Company superintendents said today there would be no discrimination in taking back men, except that where men have committed violence or were otherwise unduly aggressive during the progress of the strike. Such men, the officials say, will not be re-employed.

One of the developments of the day was the great number of men who have been employed during the strike who left their places today and returned to their homes. Hundreds were put off by the several coal companies in this valley and the same is true for the regions. Among these are men, who will return to the offices of the coal companies; men who were employed in other occupations and were thrown out of work on account of the strike; men who were strikers, but went back to work in other parts of the region where they were not known and will now return to their own localities and try to get work in their old places, and some coal and iron policemen.

Will Be Forced Out.

It is expected more of these men will quit work in the course of the next few days. They are disliked by the unionists and it is probable the relations between them will not be improved once they get working side by side in the mines.

President Mitchell is now engaged in preparing the miners' side of the case for presentation to the arbitration commission. He will appear before the tribunal and will have with him a number of assistants. Mr. Mitchell held a conference with National Secretary-Treasurer Wilson today, and the latter left for the national headquarters of the mine workers at Indianapolis late this afternoon. It is very likely that soon after his arrival there an announcement will be sent out to terminate the collection of the strike assessment levied in July on all union coal miners.

FIVE MEN ARE DEAD AND SEVEN MISSING

Now Believed Only Twelve Persons Were Killed in Chicago Fire.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHICAGO Oct. 22.—Four of the five bodies taken to the morgue from the fire in the plant of the Glucose Sugar Refinery Company last night have been identified. They are Otto Trapp, Edward Steinke, Andrew Woselka and Joseph Barry.

It is almost certain that several more bodies are lying in the ruins, but the heat has prevented firemen from making any search today, and the exact number is not known.

Seventeen time checks were not returned to the superintendent during the day, but five of the men holding the missing checks were seen near the ruins. A switchman declares that he saw four men slide down a water pipe, and it is known that one man jumped into the river and made his escape.

This diminishes the list to 12, granting that all the holders of the missing checks were killed with the exception of the men who have been seen today.

The fact that there was but one fire escape on the building has determined several city officials in order an investigation to discover whether any blame lies with the city building inspectors.

GETS WARM WELCOME.

Striker Returning From Pittsburgh Is Mistaken for Non-Unionist and Given Beating.

HAZLETON, PA., Oct. 22.—Mistaken for a non-unionist Camlie Isabeck, a United Mine Worker, was badly beaten upon returning to his home at Cranberry today from Pittsburgh, where he had been employed since the strike began.

Two men were arrested by a detail of soldiers from the First regiment and brought to town, where they were placed under bail for court.

A woman who witnessed the assault tried to prevent the soldiers from arresting the men by pointing a revolver at them.

HOUSES WRECKED, INMATES ESCAPE

Striking Miners Have Not Lost Enmity for Non-Union Men.

GUARDSMAN IS SHOT

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Mahanoy City, Pa., Oct. 22.—Early this morning the homes of Asby Balliet and Malichi Hullihan, non-union men at Gilberton, were wrecked by dynamite. The occupants were severely shocked but none of them badly hurt.

Strikers at Port Carbon also wreaked their vengeance upon two deputies by blowing up their homes with dynamite this morning. No injury was done to any of the sleeping inmates.

During a disturbance in a Polish saloon at Lansford late last night Sergt. W. D. Riley of Company D, Sixth regiment, of Phoenixville, was seriously shot in the neck by Chief of Police Whilden of that place. Riley and a detail had entered the saloon searching for soldiers without passes, when the lights were extinguished and a fight started. Whilden entered at this juncture, and after being struck in the face, fired into the crowd. Riley is at the Miners hospital in a serious condition. A warrant has been issued for the policeman's arrest.

Deputies and non-union men employed to guard the mines for several months are quitting the region in droves. Under a heavy guard of coal and iron police 18 left this city today, while transportation has been provided for the rest to be smuggled out under cover of darkness.

Matters were quiet at the Fourteenth headquarters today. Private Salley of Company D, who has been confined to the hospital for several days, left for his home in Allegheny tonight under the care of a member of the hospital corps. Private Derby, who was also ill, has recovered and was discharged from the hospital today.

Striking miners to the number of 10,000 took part in a rousing demonstration this morning. Brass bands and drum corps furnished the music. The banners borne in the procession contained many original inscriptions. Among them were:

"Lost—Two animals, a Baer and an Olyphant."

"We trapped the Baer at last."

"Union forever; Mitchell is our true leader."

Capt. Crookston and his provost guard from the Fourteenth regiment found nothing beyond a bewildering racket disturbing the community. Soldiers were not permitted beyond their guard line until dusk, when Col. Corbett brought the command into town on dress parade.

LORENZ HAS MISHAP IN ONE CLINIC CASE

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—Prof. Adolf Lorenz had the first mishap in his American experience at today's clinic at Mercy hospital. The femur of Belle Mason, on whom he was operating, broke while the doctor was treating her. The fracture was accompanied with a sharp report that was heard distinctly all over the amphitheater. Prof. Lorenz stopped the operation at once and explained the accident was the tenth that has occurred in the course of his calling for more than 1,000 cases of dislocation of the hip.

RAILROAD PRESIDENT DIES IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—(Special.)—Col. A. H. Steele, for many years active in Republican politics in this state, died Tuesday. He was 57 years old and was born in Meadville, Pa. Mr. Steele worked himself up from a clerkship to the presidency of a bank at Tidioute, Pa., and later became president of the Pittsburgh, Shenango & Lake Erie railroad.

LOCAL CHAIN FACTORIES IN NEW COMBINE

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 22.—A combination of chainmakers of the middle west and Treaton, N. J., was formed here today. Among the firms represented were James McKay & Co., Pittsburgh; Pittsburgh Chain Company, Pittsburgh; Diamond-Evans Chain Company, Pittsburgh, and Union chain works, Allegheny.

PATTISON TOO HASTY WITH HIS CHARGES

Said That Assembly Printed Journal Was Held Back. Clerk Corrects Him.

By WALTER J. CHRISTY.
Staff Correspondent.

NORRISTOWN, PA., Oct. 22.—Another of Pattison's alleged state issue bubbles was burst. Yesterday he charged that the journals of the last legislature had been purposely held back by the Republican party so that the people could not have the opportunity of examining into the records of the members of that legislature.

"Do you know that to this day the journals of the house and senate of the last legislature have not been published for the information of the public, though it ought to have been printed and in the hands of the citizens on January 1?" he said. "They have it printed and bound, but for fear the public will get information of the padded rolls of the house, they have not courage to distribute them. There is not the shadow of a doubt about the journal being printed. They are refusing this information to the public in order that you will not have time to investigate the character of your representatives until after election, and they are purposely doing it."

This statement was made last night in a speech by ex-Gov. Pattison. He evidently had not investigated the charge.

Morristown is the home of Charles H. Johnson, president clerk of the house of representatives, whose business it is to distribute the public documents going to the members. The journals of the two houses are printed almost exclusively for the use of members. This is what he has to say:

"Gov. Pattison has been misinformed. The journals of both the senate and house have been in the hands of the members for at least three weeks. There was some delay in getting them from the printer, but as soon as we received the documents they were sent to the members."

Representative G. R. McGlathery lives here. Tonight he showed copies of the journal that he had received over three weeks ago.

EMPEROR STANDS FIRM.

BERLIN, Oct. 22.—Neither Chancellor Von Buelow nor any minister attended today's session of the reichstag. The debate on the grain schedule of the new tariff bill was continued, but the speakers faced a row of empty seats.

Politicians of all parties are in a state of excitement over what the minister will do, and all kinds of stories are in circulation. One that bears a semblance of authority is that Emperor William and Von Buelow considered the situation for two hours last night and that his majesty agreed the government was unable to recede from its position unless the Conservative and Socialist parties first show a disposition to compromise, and that it was inexpedient to dissolve the reichstag.

A variation of this account of the audience is that Emperor William expressed displeasure at the way the bill was managed and that Von Buelow adopted a firm attitude.

Schwab Goes to Italy.

VENICE, Oct. 22.—Charles M. Schwab, president of the United States Steel Corporation, who had been here for some days, took a special train today for Milan, Italy.

OFFICER HALTED BY CAMP SENTRY

Fails to Serve Papers in Wadsworth Case On Col. Rutledge.

HE WILL TRY AGAIN

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Shenandoah, Pa., Oct. 22.—Deputy Sheriff Brownmiller came up from Pottsville this afternoon and attempted to serve notice upon Col. Rutledge of the Eighteenth regiment to appear in the county court at Pottsville next Monday morning at 10 o'clock with Private Wadsworth, charged with shooting William Durham, or to show cause why he shall not produce him. The notice is signed by O. P. Bechtel, president of the court.

The sheriff was not permitted to pass through the lines and did not succeed in serving the paper. He will make another effort tomorrow.

The soldiers of the Eighteenth marched to headquarters this evening and gave hearty cheers for the colonel on the occasion of the eighteenth anniversary of his marriage. It is also the fourth anniversary of the regiment's discharge from the United States volunteer service after the Spanish-American war. The colonel and Lieut. Col. Kay made ringing speeches.

Nine thousand mine workers were in today's ratification parade here, bearing flags and banners with serious and humorous mottoes.

The streets are deserted tonight, and the men are getting ready to resume work tomorrow morning. Engineers and firemen learned today that their jobs will be kept by non-union men, but the union promises to take care of them until there positions are reopened or placed in other jobs.

The men who reported for work at the Hill Creek Coal Company's Vulcan colliery this morning were told that they would have to report at the company's store and sign a contract before being reinstated. A few of them signed the paper, but many refused to sign.

Supt. Jones says the company simply asks the men to sign an agreement that they will not interfere in any way with non-union men or with the men now at work.

HARRISBURG, PA., Oct. 22.—Gov. Stone today requested Attorney General Elkin to appear with the judge advocate generals of the division and the Second brigade, before Judge Maar at Pottsville next Monday and resist the application which has been made for a writ of habeas corpus upon Col. Rutledge of the Eighteenth regiment for the surrender for trial of Private Wadsworth, who is charged with shooting William Durham at Shenandoah while on sentry duty.

AN UNLUCKY DAY FOR FOXHALL KEENE

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—(Special.)—The World this morning says: "Foxhall Keene was under an unlucky star yesterday. While on his way from Westbury, L. I., to this city he was thrown from his automobile and landed upon his head. He was attended by a physician and then hurried on to this city, where he had an engagement to act as a judge at the dog show. Mr. Keene had been in the garden less than five minutes when he was bitten by a bull terrier. The wound was cauterized and Mr. Keene went on with his judging."

BEAT HIS WIFE WITH FAMILY CAT

TOLEDO, O., Oct. 22.—(Special.)—Mrs. Kriss, wife of Albert Kriss, a well-to-do farmer living near Fremont, brought suit in that town today for a divorce on the ground of extreme cruelty. Among other things she stated that a few days ago her husband came home and, grabbing up the family cat, beat her over the head with it until the cat was dead. This is the fifth time she has brought suit for divorce against her husband, and she states it will be the last.

Knox Preparing Anti-Trust Bill.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—(Special.)—The Press this morning says: "When congress meets in December an anti-trust bill prepared by Attorney General Knox will be introduced before the first day's adjournment. The attorney general has given close study and long research to the preparation of this bill."

REFERS PREMIER TO ROOSEVELT

Irishman Wants Balfour to Emulate American President.

CAUSES DISCUSSION

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

London, Oct. 22.—William O'Brien created a great deal of excitement among his fellow Nationalists in the house of commons today by questioning Premier Balfour regarding President Roosevelt's letter to the convention of the United Irish league at Boston, Mass. Mr. O'Brien asked the premier if he had observed that Mr. Roosevelt sent a letter and whether in view of future friendly relations between the United States and Great Britain he could make any announcement that this country was not indisposed to learn wisdom regarding Irish affairs from the head of a great and friendly nation.

The speaker promptly ruled the question out of order, to the evident chagrin of the Nationalists, whose excitement increased as Mr. O'Brien continued to press his point. He urged that this letter of the president was an international fact of the first importance to the future of Great Britain, and that it would not be a friendly thing to the head of a great nation that his letter should be treated as if the house of commons was disposed to "avenge an insult to the chief secretary for Ireland and his removables."

The speaker maintained his ruling and Mr. O'Brien tried to move an adjournment of the house to discuss the matter, but the speaker ruled that it was not a matter of definite importance.

Thus foiled, Mr. O'Brien said he hoped it would be noted in America that American as well as Irish opinion was gagged.

Impressed with the result of President Roosevelt's intervention in the coal strike in the United States, Mr. Field, president of the Irish Cattle Traders' and Stock Owners' association, in the house of commons today invited the president of the board of trade, Gerald Balfour, to adopt a similar course in the case of the old-standing Penrhin quarry dispute. Mr. Balfour, however, replied that the circumstances in the Penrhin dispute were quite dissimilar to those in the American strike and said there was no prospect that official intervention would tend to promote a settlement.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 22.—The success of President Roosevelt's efforts to end the coal strike in the United States made a powerful impression here. The Novoye Vremya observes:

"America cannot escape active participation in the world's affairs. She is fortunate in having President Roosevelt, who is equally courageous and self-restrained."

ROOSEVELT'S REGRETS TO IRISH LEAGUE.

BOSTON, Oct. 22.—Following is the text of the letter sent by President Roosevelt's secretary to the United Irish league, at its convention in this city:

"White House,
"Washington, October 16, 1902.
"Dear Sir—Your communication of recent date has been received, and in reply I would state that while the president very much appreciates the cordial invitation extended to him by your league, he regrets that his public duties will prevent him from being present on the occasion to which you refer. Owing to the pressure upon his time, incident to the preparation of his annual message to congress, he is at present unable to accept any invitations.

"Permit me, in the president's behalf, to thank you and through you the members of your organization, for this courtesy and believe me, very truly yours,

"GEORGE B. CORTELYOU,

FOUND THE INDIAN WHO KILLED CUSTER

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square,
NEW YORK, Oct. 23.

A special to the World from Philadelphia says:

"A former Sioux chief, now an Episcopalian rector, the Rev. Philip Daloris of Flora, S. D., who is attending the council of the Protestant Episcopal church here, said today:

"It was only a year ago that I learned the true story of the death of Gen. Custer. I had been the means of converting an old warrior named Appearing Elk. After he had been taken into the church I asked him to tell me of the battle of the Little Big Horn. Every Sioux wants to know who killed Custer, and that was my first question. I was surprised when the old man replied: 'I did,' and this is what he said:

"'We had surrounded the last cluster of soldiers when my pony was shot from under me. When I got on my feet again I discovered that I had been wounded. Suddenly a man in blue loomed up in front of me. I knew he was a big chief. He was swaying like a drunken man from exhaustion and loss of blood because of many bullets and arrow wounds. I felled him with my tomahawk and then sat upon his body to be sure that I should not be robbed of my spoils. I did not scalp the man, because his head was shaved.'

Appearing Elk died last spring.

SUPREMACY OF AMERICA

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

St. Andrews, Scotland, Oct. 22.—Andrew Carnegie was today formally reinstalled as rector of St. Andrew's university in the presence of a large and brilliant assemblage, over which Principal Donaldson presided. The honorary degree of doctor of laws was subsequently conferred by St. Andrews on Mr. Carnegie, Ambassadors Choate and White, Prof. Alexander Graham Bell of Washington and Henry White, secretary of the United States embassy in London.

Mr. Carnegie's rectorial address consisted of a lengthy study of the comparative growth of nations in the paths of industrial ascendancy, with a striking commentary on their future. In his speech, which was replete with notable statistics and important economic prophesies, perhaps the most remarkable feature was an appeal to Emperor William to use his influence toward the eventual creation of the United States of Europe, under the form of a political and industrial union.

In this way alone, Mr. Carnegie declared, can Europe conquer the foreign markets or repel the American invasion. France, Germany and Russia, who had already taken joint action against Japan, would suffice to ensure a satisfactory union in Europe.

Wilhelm as Deliverer of Europe.

"The czar," he continued, "having taken the first step toward the peace of the world in The Hague conference the other mighty emperor might some day be impressed with the thought that it lay in him or himself and to Germany to play the great part upon the wider stage of Europe, as her deliverer from the incubus which oppresses and weakens her, the appalling, paralyzing fear of war and, of ruin between members of her own body."

Mr. Carnegie, in the course of a glowing tribute to Emperor William, said he could not help believing that "one so thoroughly great could influence the few men who today control Europe to take the first step, not to federate, but by an alliance to ensure internal peace which is all that can be expected at present." Whatever the powers agreed to something of the kind, all they could look forward to was to "revolve like so many Lilliputians around this giant Gulliver, the American union, soon to embrace 200,000,000 of the English-speaking race, and capable of supplying most of the world's wants."

Offers Prize for Essay.

Dealing with the events which caused industrial supremacy "once yours but now passed to your lineal descendant, who now bears the industrial crown," Mr. Carnegie maintained that it was a physical impossibility for Great Britain to produce material things rivaling in amount those of countries the size of America, Germany and Russia, for "neither Canada nor Australia gave promise of much increase in population or industrialism. All thought of material ascendancy, even with the British empire united, must be, therefore, abandoned."

Mr. Carnegie spared his Scotch audience no details. "America," he said, "now makes more steel than all the rest of the world. In iron and coal her production is greatest and it is also so in textiles. She produces three-quarters of the world's cotton. The value of her manufactures is about triple that of your own. Her exports are greater and the clearing house exchanges at New York are almost double those of London.

May Oust Great Britain.

Germany, the speaker also said, now threatened to oust Great Britain even from second place. France was not likely to increase her trade much further. It was only thanks to the frugality and virtue of her people that she remained among the first-class nations.

He emphasized the assertion that the most powerful weapon in conquering foreign markets is a profitable home market. "Invasions of Europe, especially of Great Britain, by American manufacturers are not to be apprehended to any considerable extent, except at rare intervals," because the home market in America took 96 per cent of the manufactured articles, hence her prosperity. Foreign commerce is a braggart always in evidence at home. Commerce is the true king.

The work accomplished in American commerce by "the German element can scarcely be believed except by those who, like myself, know its experience." The sobriety and determination of the Germans formed an example for England, whose enormous drink bill and money spent on tobacco they cut in half, while the gambling of both masters and men was abolished. "The great secret of success in business and in millionaire-making is to make partners of valuable managers of departments."

Mr. Carnegie described as a dark cloud on England's horizon the fact that "in 20 to 25 years the supply of Cleveland iron-stone will be practically exhausted. The Cumberland supply is already nearly exhausted. This will bring dearer iron and steel.

Limited Iron Supply.

"However," Mr. Carnegie added, "even the United States has only a proved supply of first-class ore sufficient for 60 or 70 years. With the reserve of inferior grades it might last another 30 years, unless the rate of consumption greatly increased. But the United States with her enormous extent had good hopes of discovering deposits now unknown."

In proof of his contention that it was hopeless to fight "magnitude in commercialism," Mr. Carnegie cited the supremacy of Germany in the speed of Atlantic liners, and said they were not paid half the subsidies received by the British lines. "It is the magnitude of the 250-

DR. DUNCAN HAD HIS SUSPICIONS

Intercepted Letter Said to Be Cause of Attempted Murder of Head.

WARM DEFENSE OF WIFE

Mrs. Duncan's Brother Makes Statement—Duncan's Uncle Arrives—The Anthonys Interviewed.

The shooting of Bruce Head by Dr. E. A. Duncan of Louisville, Ky., on Tuesday night at a construction camp of the new Wabash line at Greentree, back of Crafton, remains unexplained so far as a motive is concerned.

Head lies at the camp so badly wounded that there is slight hope for his recovery. Dr. Duncan is in the Allegheny county jail. Both the victim and his assailant refuse to tell the cause of the quarrel that led to the shooting. When Dr. Duncan was taken to Central police station Tuesday night he is alleged to have told Officer Harry Merritt, who was acting as night sergeant, that he had intercepted a letter from Head to Mrs. Duncan. The doctor said that after a conference with his wife on the subject he felt justified in seeking revenge on Head.

"Any self-respecting man would have done the same thing," said the prisoner. Further than this he would not talk, but these few words serve to strengthen rumors which are in circulation as to the motive for the shooting.

Duncan's Uncle Arrives.

Col. W. H. McClure, an uncle of Dr. Duncan's, arrived in Pittsburgh late last night from Louisville. He says he positively knows nothing of the motive his nephew had for shooting Head. Col. McClure also said that Mrs. Duncan knew no reason for her husband's rash act. She is, he says, lying in a prostrated condition at her home.

Col. McClure went at once to the Central police station and from there telephoned to the jail and asked if he would be permitted to see his nephew. Night Clerk Anderson informed him that he could not see him until this morning. Col. McClure says he will retain counsel for his nephew and give him every aid that it is possible for him to do. He went to the Duquesne hotel for the night.

He is deeply grieved over the action of Dr. Duncan, and is at a loss to account for Duncan's motive for attempting the life of Head. He said his nephew was perfectly sane, and asked if he had made any statement with reference to the shooting. He was informed that he had not. He was also told that Head had said that he knew no reason for Dr. Duncan attempting his life.

Statement from Mrs. Duncan's Brother.

A special to The Gazette from Louisville, received late last night, contained the following statement made by Phil Barbour, brother of Mrs. Duncan, and which he said was all that he or his mother knew of the case and all that Mrs. Duncan knows of the cause of the shooting.

"Bruce Head has been a friend of the family for years. When my sister visited the Anthonys, near Pittsburgh, Head often called at the house, took dinner there on Sundays, and formed one of several parties. My sister returned home just a week ago today. A few days later Dr. Duncan received word through some source that Head had accompanied Mrs. Duncan as far as Wheeling. A day or so later he learned that this was untrue. Evidently having had his suspicions aroused, he must have intercepted a letter which came from Head for Mrs. Duncan on Monday.

"We did not know that there had been such a letter until we heard tonight that Ellis had said in Pittsburgh that he had done so. Head is a man of good moral habits, and I would not believe for a moment that he would wrong my sister or permit it to be done. He is frank and outspoken, and writes like he talks. In the letter, therefore, which Dr. Duncan intercepted, he must have used some statement which caused Dr. Duncan to believe that his conduct toward my sister had not been what it should.

Kissed His Wife in Parting.

"Ellis said not a word to sister or to anyone else. He had an appointment to go to Vincennes Monday afternoon, and had made all arrangements. Sister accompanied him to the station, leaving there 10 minutes before train time. He kissed her goodby and said he would return directly after the consultation. Nothing more was heard by any of us, nor did we know of Dr. Duncan's suspicions, until we learned last night of the shooting. Then we feared something must have been wrong, but we could not guess the cause.

"Sister never for a moment doubted that Ellis was in Vincennes. Today I asked her if there was anything wrong in her actions to tell me. She said: 'Brother, I did nothing in Pittsburgh that was unbecoming in a lady. My departure was as pleasant as my arrival.'

"When a telegram came tonight that Ellis had said in Pittsburgh that he had intercepted a letter, sister was astonished. She said she had not written to Head, and that she knew of no letter or cause for a letter. The only letter any of us wrote to Head was one sent by mother, thanking him for a bottle of champagne sent to us by sister. This news upset her completely and while it accounted for Dr. Duncan's strange actions, she declared again, to mother and I, that she had done no wrong. We believe she told us the truth, and that the shooting was caused by Head's letter, the only one he had ever written to sister, and the publication of which would doubtless clear the whole case."

Sensation in Louisville.

A further special from Louisville says: The news of the shooting of Bruce Head near Pittsburgh, by Dr. Ellis Duncan, superintendent of the Louisville City hospital, created a sensation in Louisville because of the absolute lack of motive. That Dr. Duncan left Louisville with the deliberate purpose of calling Head to account for some wrong, cannot be doubted. It seems he was in Pittsburgh scarcely 12 hours before he had located Head and met him face to face.

There is an undercurrent of belief that the good name of a woman was involved in the visit of Dr. Duncan and that he went to defend it. If the woman was some one else than Mrs. Duncan, then the mystery becomes deeper, for Ellis Duncan loved only his wife, and lived alone for her.

Mrs. Duncan was nearly prostrated today by the news of the shooting. Her mother, Mrs. P. C. S. Barbour, is with her. Mrs. Duncan was Anne T. Barbour and her father was superintendent of the hospital when Ellis Duncan as graduate of the University of Louisville, became an interne at the hospital. Thus it was they met and married.

After serving his year as an interne Dr. Duncan hung out his shingle. He enlisted for the Spanish-American war and was surgeon captain in the First Kentucky infantry in Porto Rico. Upon the death of Dr. Barbour he was appointed superintendent of the City hospital, which position he has filled with credit. Dr. Duncan is only 28 years of age and is one of the youngest successful hospital superintendents in the country.

Bruce Head was an acquaintance and not an intimate friend. His mother lives at 814 Fourth street. Phil Barbour, brother of Mrs. Duncan, was his almost constant companion.

Warm Defense by the Anthonys.

"If anyone attempts to attack the character of Mrs. Duncan there will be trouble. She is one of the purest women that ever set foot on this earth, and no one can deny that fact. Her reputation is simply unimpeachable and until she is brought into this affair, no one dare mention her name in connection with it."

The above is a statement made by George H. Anthony of Wilkinsburg, general agent of the Wisconsin Central railroad, who is a friend of both Dr. Ellis Duncan and Bruce Head. Mr. Anthony when seen at his home, No. 749 Franklin avenue, Wilkinsburg, last night, was at first averse to talking. But when the name of Mrs. Duncan was mentioned in connection with the shooting affair he consented to say something about her.

"It is true Mrs. Duncan visited at my home," continued Mr. Anthony.

"When?" was asked.

"That is no one's business but my own, and I refuse to answer such a question."

"Did Mr. Head ever visit at your home during Mrs. Duncan's stay?"

Purest Woman Ever Known.

"Mrs. Duncan is pure and chaste, and I may say this much, that while she visited at my home she was never out of the sight of some of the members of my own family."

"Mr. Anthony, will you visit Mr. Head?"

"Yes, it is my intention to do so. I may visit him tomorrow."

"Do you know anything of any engagement in which Mr. Head is or was interested?"

"That question I also refuse to answer. It is both impudent and insulting. I am not telling what I know."

Then Mrs. Anthony came to the door and listened to part of the conversation, and broke in with the following:

"Oh, don't talk about Mrs. Duncan, George. She is simply beyond reproach. She is one of the purest women I have ever known."

When Mrs. Anthony was asked what time Mrs. Duncan had visited her, she, too, refused to state, saying that she was not talking about the case at all.

"The first I knew of the case," continued Mr. Anthony, "was when I picked up a paper this morning and read of the shooting. Then I went to the police station and asked to see Dr. Duncan. Inspector Fred Will went to his cell with me and all the conversation that passed between us the Inspector heard."

Authony Has an Opinion.

"After greeting Dr. Duncan, I asked him if he wished any aid. He said no; that his uncle, Col. W. H. McClure had been wired, and that he would arrive in Pittsburgh tonight. He thanked me for offering assistance, but stated that his uncle could furnish all that was necessary.

"Then Dr. Duncan asked if he could see me personally! This request the police refused to grant. Had I had a private conference with him he might have told me the motive for the shooting, but he said that he would not say why he shot Head until the proper time came.

"I have known the members of both families for years, and want to say that they stand the highest in Louisville. If anyone were to go to Louisville and say aught against any member of either family, he would be roughly dealt with.

"Dr. Duncan did not visit at my home during his wife's stay, and I do not expect to entertain the uncle, W. H. McClure."

Mr. Anthony also said that he had his own opinion of what caused the shooting, and then, later, said he was guessing as to what the real motive was.

"If Dr. Duncan did wrong in shooting Mr. Head, then the law will take its course, and he will undoubtedly be punished. He violated the law and whatever trouble was between them should have been settled by the courts. Now the case will have to be settled that way."

Mrs. Duncan Was Entertained.

From an acquaintance of the Anthony family in Wilkinsburg last night it was learned that the wife of Dr. Duncan came to visit the Anthonys about a month ago. She remained as a guest of the family about three weeks, and left for her home in Louisville not over a week ago.

While in Wilkinsburg Mrs. Duncan appeared on the streets in company with Mrs. Anothiny's daughter. Mr. Head is known to have called at the Anthony home several times during Mrs. Duncan's visit.

Mrs. Duncan is described as being a handsome woman. She is a blonde of the most pronounced type. She is of medium height and rather inclined to be stout. She is said to be about 30 years old. During her stay in Wilkinsburg Mrs. Duncan, accompanied by Miss Anthony, attended a number of euchre and social parties.

Head's Condition Critical.

At 10 o'clock last night the condition of Bruce Head was regarded as critical. His condition since he was shot has never been such that encouragement could be offered as to his recovery. Dr. R. L. Walker of Carnegie, the principal physician in attendance upon the wounded man, made this statement last night. No effort has yet been made to probe for the ball for the reason that such a procedure would jeopardize the man's life.

Head is so weak from loss of blood that the proposition to remove him to the City hospital was refused. The ball has lodged in the victim's neck, and no attempt will be made to remove it until he has gained considerable strength. Dr. Walker said last night that it would be at least 72 hours before it could be ascertained whether or not the man would live, and that even then the danger period would not be past. Head is still conscious, and at times wants to talk, but even his physicians refuse to listen to what he has to say.

A reporter who visited the camp of the Wabash contractors where Head was employed as bookkeeper, near Greentree, last night, was confronted by a policeman who notified him that orders had been issued that no one be admitted to Head's quarters except his physicians or members of his family.

Head Gives No Information.

It was learned, however, that no reason had been given out for the shooting. That there is a woman in the case is not questioned by the men about the camp.

Head has lost a great deal of blood, but the efforts of the physicians last night succeeded in stopping the hemorrhage which threatened to cut his life short. Dr. R. L. Walker, Jr., who is an intimate friend of the wounded man, was with him last night. His quarters are elegantly furnished and he receives every attention that could be desired. Inquiry among Head's friends about the camp, and in Carnegie, elicited the fact that he is a man of very careful habits and pays little attention to women. These friends are inclined to think that some meddler has sent a letter to Dr. Duncan's wife, which was intercepted by the husband, but why he should have tried to take Head's life is considered a mystery.

That the shooting was premeditated and deliberate, there is no question. Dr. Duncan evidently followed out some deep laid and carefully considered plan when he lured his victim from the camp to a lonely spot in the road, and without a word of warning shot him down. Then he came to the city and gave himself up to Officer Edward Pantley. He merely told the officer that he had shot a man near Greentree. The officers at the Central police station telephoned to Greentree and learned that Dr. Duncan's story was true.

Duncan's Actions at the Camp.

Dr. Duncan came to this city Tuesday afternoon from Louisville. He went to the construction camp of Kenefec & Co., contractors, at Greentree, and asked to see Head and J. B. Carter a half-brother of Head. Dr. Duncan was received at the commissary quarters by D. L. Danford, a colored servant. M. H. Cowan was in the office at the time, and says he was suspicious of Dr. Duncan's actions. The physician sat in the corner of the office, with his right hand in his pocket and was apparently in deep thought. It is now believed that he intended to kill Head when the latter entered the office.

Head and Carter came in and Dr. Duncan's mood seemed to pass, and he talked freely to Head. The latter thought that he was merely making a visit here, and as Dr. Duncan and he were old friends, the doctor had hunted him up. Later in the evening Dr. Duncan said that he wanted to go back to the city. Head told him there was room in the camp for him and invited him to remain there for the night.

Dr. Duncan declined this invitation and asked Head to accompany him to a point where he could take the car to the city. Head agreed to do this, and the two left the camp. H. E. Tribon, W. N. Davis, N. N. Warren and D. L. Dinford saw the men leave the place. They said yesterday afternoon there was nothing about Dr. Duncan's appearance or actions to rouse suspicion.

How the Shooting Was Done.

According to the story told by Head when he returned to the camp, he and the physician were walking along the road talking about things in general at home. When they reached a secluded spot Duncan drew a revolver and pointed it at Head's heart. Head said that he was so surprised at his friend's action that he threw up his right arm and knocked the muzzle of the revolver upward. The bullet entered his left cheek, and, passing through his tongue, lodged in the left side of his neck.

The ball plowed through nerves and cords in the throat, leaving it in a terrible condition. The effect of the shot knocked Head down. Dr. Duncan ran toward the street car tracks. Head attempted to get up several times, but was unable to do so. Later he managed to get to his feet and stagger back to the camp.

Dr. Duncan came to the city and gave himself up to Officer Pantley at Fifth avenue and Wood street. A 38-caliber revolver and a cowboy's riding cuirt were found in his coat pockets. Yesterday morning George H. Anthony of Wilkinsburg called at the Central station to see Dr. Duncan. He told Supt. McAleese that he was well acquainted with the Duncan and Head families in Louisville. Mr. Anthony was permitted to talk to the prisoner, but could get no information from him.

Bruce Head is 29 years old and is a son son of a former minister, now dead. His mother and sister still live in Louisville. He left Louisville four years ago and went to work with a half-brother, J. B. Carter, a railroad contractor of Maine.

DENIES HE WILL RESIGN.

Millionaire Balfour Not Troubled by Charges Against Him.

PHILADELPHIA, PA., Oct. 22.—(Special.)—Alexander Balfour, the millionaire banker, against whom charges of mismanagement in connection with the Eastern penitentiary investigation were mainly directed, was asked by a reporter today whether he had resigned, as reported. Mr. Balfour declared positively that he had not.

"Why should I? I have done nothing, and there is no more reason why I should retire than that the other inspectors should go. No, sir."

"What about the charges?"

"I have nothing more to say," declared the man, who testified in the investigation that he bought prison-made shoes and gave them to charity.

BAD CROWD OF BOYS.

South Side Police Break Up a Gang of Youthful Prowlers Who Have Been Stealing.

Police Inspector William McShane and Capt. John Bettner yesterday broke up an organized gang of bad small boys. Several South Side stores have been entered by members of the gang, one in professional style, and considerable stock taken. Seven boys were arrested, and all confessed to having been implicated in the stealing. Those placed under arrest are Joseph Krebs, 14 years old, No. 1120 Larkins alley; Meal Eckert, 14 years old, No. 1918 Jane street; August Summing, 13 years old, No. 1713 Harcums alley; Otto Hundermark, 14 years old, No. 151 South Twentieth street; August Gerhold, 11 years old, No. 1916 Larkins alley; Herman Baker, 14 years old, No. 2000 Sarah street. All belong to respectable families.

On the night of September 18 they broke into the confectionery store of Mrs. Peter Tantlinger, No. 94 South Twelfth street, and took a considerable amount of candy and cigars and a small sum of money. They made another visit to the same place on the night of October 7 and obtained some articles.

For a month past merchants along Carson street have been complaining of small boys taking articles from their stores, but the lads have always escaped. The boys under arrest are also accused of these offenses.

FOUR SENATORS IN ONE MEETING

FIRST NAMED PRESIDES

He Pays a Graceful and Generous Tribute to His Colleague to Whom He Gives Credit for Most Effective Work.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 22.—Four United States senators were scheduled to speak at the Republican mass meeting in Music hall tonight. Foraker, Hanna, Fairbanks and Beveridge comprised as able and brilliant a quartet of statesmen as can be found in the middle west, and tremendous crowds turned out to see and hear them.

A big parade preceded the meeting, participated in by the Union Veteran league, G. A. R. posts, the Stamina league, the Fleischman club and the Blaine club. At Music hall it required 40 minutes for the marching clubs to pass through the great doors of the auditorium. Fully 100,000 people witnessed the parade, and half that number followed it to the hall, which was packed from stage to gallery.

At least 10,000 people were within hearing distance when Senator Foraker, who had been chosen chairman, rapped for order. Senator Forsker made a brief address before introducing the other speakers. It was one of his characteristic talks and made a decided hit.

"The Democratic party," said the senator, "was casting wildly about for an issue, and finally settled on the coal strike as something that would furnish material for a calamity howl. The Democrats thrive on calamity. But the strike was settled through the mediation of President Roosevelt, and the only chance of the Democrats having an issue vanished."

Senator Beveridge was first introduced. He spoke on the tariff and trust questions, showing the record of the Republican party in the past and outlining its plans for the future.

In introducing Senator Hanna, Chairman Nemker said he had done more than any other senator for the improvement of the Ohio river and for the digging of an isthmian canal.

"I will now present to you a man who knows his business," he added, as he lead Senator Hanna to the front of the stage.

Hanna devoted his speech mainly to the business prospects of the country, which, he said, had advanced with wonderful strides under the rule of the Republican party. The party, he said, would look after the tariff as it always has done, and keep it arranged on a protective basis that will serve the best interests of the American people.

He also devoted considerable time to the proposed improvement of the Ohio river so as to provide at all seasons of the year a nine-foot stage from Pittsburgh to Cairo.

Hanna was tendered an ovation by the immense crowd. The cheering was long when he first appeared, and women waving handkerchiefs were a feature of the demonstration.

Senator Fairbanks, in the closing speech of the evening, reviewed the work of the Republican party, saying it had brought a wonderful and lasting prosperity to the country, and that it would continue to preserve this at all times.

WOULD FORM A FERERATION OF EMPIRES

000,000 of people the German lines serve, which is equivalent to a great home demand. This justifies their ocean greyhounds, as the American home market justifies unequaled manufacturing establishments."

Mr. Carnegie added: "Since these lines were penned we have had strong proof of the law of surplus. To support a smaller market in an unequal struggle your government has found it necessary to give $2,000 a day from the national revenue for two Atlantic greyhounds under your flag. The German gets four of these without this aid, because of a greater home market, which supports such ships of itself. There is no escape from the influence of magnitude, which gathers as it rolls and must finally conquer."

LONDON, Oct. 23.—All the newspapers comment this morning on the importance of Mr. Carnegie's address. The Morning Post says:

"Mr. Carnegie has given the British people something to think about. He wields his facts with a vigor calculated to stun the ordinary British mind."

Maru Meets Typhoon.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 22.—The steamer America Maru, which arrived here today from the orient, passed through a terrible typhoon the day after she left Yokohama. The vessel steamed straight through the vortex, encountering fearful seas. One of the Japanese stewards who attempted to pass along the deck, was struck by the waters, dashed against a deckhouse and killed.

CO-EDUCATION IS GIVEN BLOW

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—The trustees of the University of Chicago, by a vote of 13 to 5, decided in favor of segregation of the sexes in the "junior colleges." This decision affects only the freshmen and sophomore classes and does not imply death to co-education at the institution, although it is said to be the first step toward such a course.

OHIO DEMOCRATS SING BLASPHEMOUS SONGS

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 22.—The Ohio legislature closed its extraordinary session today amid ribald laughter and blasphemous song. The objectionable features of the closing ceremonies were contributed by the Democratic leaders, led by Mr. Stage of Cleveland. Hisses were heard from the balconies, which were well filled.

The session closed at noon and immediately the Democrats sang the tune of the doxology, but with these words:

Praise Cox, to whom all blessings flow,
Praise him, you people of Ohio;
Praise Hanna, Nash and all the hosts,
But praise George B. Cox the most.

Again they sang, to drown out the storm of criticism, that good old hymn, "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name," but to words never before heard:

All hail the power of George B.'s name;
Let statesmen prostrate fall;
Bring forth the Cincinnati plan
And foist it on them all.
Bring forth the Cincinnati plan

The work of the session, the passage of a municipal code applicable to all cities of the state, was finished as well as the members could accomplish it.

The bill is not satisfactory to the majority. The merit system is abolished, except in the police and fire departments. The board plan of government is adopted in its entirety, entailing an enormous expense on all cities except Cincinnati and Cleveland. Chiefs of police and fire are given authority above that of the mayor or board of their respective departments. The code is based on that submitted by Gov. Nash, but so amended as to defeat most of the projects it was intended to accomplish.

LIFE SAVING GLOBE.

Daring Norwegian Inventor Personally Demonstrates the Merit of His Aluminum Ball.

LONDON, Oct. 22.—(Copyright Cable.)—A hazardous demonstration of the efficiency of a life-saving invention took place in the English channel this evening.

The tug Swift of Dover, when about four miles off Folkestone, sighted a strange-looking object in the water. On coming nearer it was found to be a large globe. From a manhole on the top a man's head projected. The Swift went alongside and two men emerged from the globe. They proved to be Capt. Doenvig, the inventor, and his assistant, both Norwegians.

According to their story, the globe, which is made of aluminum, was put overboard from a steamer off Havre yesterday, and since that time it had been knocking about the channel with its two occupants, who were in their confined quarters more than 24 hours before they were picked up off the Swift.

The inventor of the globe claims that it satisfies all requirements and expectations and demonstrated its serviceability for saving lives at sea. The globe is intended to be carried on deck. In case of disaster, it floats with the occupants when the ship sinks.

FIGHTING CIGAR STORE TRUST.

Retailers to Resist a Chain That Has Pittsburgh Links.

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—(Special.)—A circular has been distributed among many of the 10,000 proprietors of cigar stores in this city in the last few days, summoning them to attend a gathering in Bohemian hall, Friday night. At the meeting an effort will be made to devise a plan of resisting the encroachments of the United Cigar Stores Company.

This concern has established 50 stores in this city, and has a chain of others, the links resting in Philadelpiala, Pittsburgh, Buffalo, Chicago and other cities. Retailers declare it is part and parcel of the American Tobacco Company, one of the constituent companies of the Consolidated Tobacco Company.

HAPPENINGS OF THE DAY.

IS ARRESTED FOR MANY ROBBERIES

Charles M. Allen of East Liberty, Said to Have a Record, Is Held.

BOOTY IS FOUND ON HIM

In Allen's Arrest the Police Believe They Have Cleared the Mystery of Many Recent Point Breeze Depredations.

The mystery of half a dozen daring robberies in the Point Breeze district during the last two weeks is thought by the East End police to be cleared up.

Charles M. Allen of Hamilton avenue, who, according to the police, has served almost 10 years in prison and who is now a prisoner in the East End police station, with one of the robberies fixed upon him, is believed to be the man who has kept the police officials busy for the last month.

Allen was taken into custody late Tuesday night by Policemen Michael Griffin and Wesley Essex, at the home of a friend in Kelly street, where the officers had traced him. He was searched at the station and a pair of gold sleeve buttons, which were later identified as having been stolen from the residence of Mrs. George M. Vardy, No. 6714 McPherson street, were found. Mrs. Vardy's residence was entered by thieves on the evening of October 8, during the absence of the family. Several watches and a lot of other jewelry were stolen. The thieves, not satisfied with their haul, committed several acts of vandalism in the house before leaving.

No clue was left behind at the time, although a man answering Allen's description was seen about the house that night. During the two weeks following the looting of the Vardy residence no fewer than half a dozen robberies of a like character occurred, all in the same neighborhood. Two occurred in one night in Thomas street, near Mrs. Vardy's home, and in each instance a good haul was made by the thieves, who left no trace behind.

Allen, on account of his previous record, has been under suspicion for some time, but no direct evidence could be secured against him. He refuses to talk, although the police "sweated" him at different times during the day. Mrs. Vardy positively identified the cuff buttons. Allen claimed they were given him by his sister. Magistrate John H. Armstrong held Allen for court for the Vardy robbery and he will be held at the East End station in the hope of learning who committed the other robberies. Allen according to the police has served almost 10 years in prison including a long term at Huntingdon. He is 27 years old and a rather neat dresser.

HILL AT TAMMANY.

Re-enters Wigwam After Ten Years of Factional War—Cleveland Writes Letter.

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—For the first time in 10 years, David Hill spoke tonight in Tammany hall. The occasion was the ratification of the Democratic state ticket. Former President Grover Cleveland sent a letter of regret.

Prior to the meeting there was a parade reviewed at the Manhattan club by Bird S. Coler and other candidates on the Democratic state ticket. Mr. Coler had been tendered a reception at the club, where he made a speech after dining with Mr. Hill and other members.

Mr. Hill was received with great enthusiasm. "I make no apology for my appearance here tonight," said Mr. Hill, "because none is needed. You will recall what I said at the opening of the Tilden club in this city, when I declared that in this campaign I should not be friends or enemies, except the friends and enemies of the Democratic party. Regardless of past differences which never related to party policy, I extend the right hand of fellowship to every Democrat in this old organization loyally supporting Democratic candidates and principles."

Would Exclude Italians.

LONDON, Oct. 22.—In a dispatch from Rome the correspondent of the Daily Chronicle says the Italian government has been informed that the American senate is disposed to pass a bill excluding illiterate immigration from the United States. This news has created much feeling here, says the correspondent, as such a bill would exclude three-fourths of the Italian emigrants to America.

Pittsburgh is a Chickering Town.

Pittsburgh the world over is noted for its devotion to the extremes—the eminently practical and the artistic.

It exceeds every other city in the world in the actual possession and production of material wealth, and no city in the world can show greater interest in the arts.

Next to cultured Boston, Pittsburgh is most madly devoted to the Chickering Piano, beyond doubt the most artistic piano in the world. The Chickering is the oldest piano in America. It has been for nearly a century and today is the conceded leader of all pianos. Its distinguishing feature is the perfect tone of a sweet, mellow, appealing quality that is not found in any other. Indeed, no piano even approaches the Chickering's remarkable merits for instrumental or accompaniment to vocal music.

This—the Chickering—is the piano which is the unquestioned favorite in all music-loving Greater Pittsburgh, with its population of nearly a million. It is in the home of the millionaire, who can afford the best regardless of price, and in the homes of the middle classes, who cannot afford to put their money into any but the best.

W. F. Frederick, 633 Smithfield street, near Seventh avenue, is the sole agent for the genuine Chickering Pianos—also famous Hardman, Kroeger, McPhail, Behr Bros., Haines & Co. and other pianos; Mason & Hamlin and Estey organs, and the best of all, the Chase & Baker Piano Player. # MASCAGNI LEADS HIS OWN OPERA

The Composer of "Cavalleria" Reveals New Beauties In That Famous Score.

"ZANETTO" A MUSIC GEM

Enthusiastic Audience Greeted the Italian Maestro and a Double Bill at Duquesne Garden.

When the last quivering notes of the beautiful intermezzo from "Cavalleria Rusticana" died tremblingly on the air at the Duquesne garden last evening, and while the young composer of that famous opera was bowing in dignified silence his responses three young men stepped forward and pinned a gold badge upon his breast. It was Italy's greeting to the distinguished young founder and leader in what is coming to be recognized as a new school in music—the school of young Italy, which is founded upon the splendid traditions of Verdi, but which is destined to be broader and more worldwide than was the old school. Mascagni's greeting last night was a thoroughly cordial one. There was not an overflow attendance, so far as the body of the auditorium was concerned, but the rear seats were all filled and a double row of listeners stood around the amphitheater, through both operas. Society was not so conspicuous possibly as on a Grau opera night, but there was

Interest was, of course, chiefly centered in Mascagni himself—and in the anticipation of hearing the beloved "Cavalleria" at first hand, as it were. The young composer more than met every expectation. In person he is modest and dignified. He enters upon his task as director of the orchestra with quiet earnestness that leaves no room for posing or for merely spectacular display. There is absolutely nothing of the sensationalist about Mascagni. He has been lauded as possibly no other musician of his own or of any other age. He is idolized by his own people and regarded among music critics and lovers alike as a genius, and yet in his appearance and his leadership, he is as simple and modest as a boy. This was the impression that Mascagni, the man, made upon his first Pittsburgh audience.

But these things are secondary in their relation to the further revelation that the young maestro made as to his music gifts. Mascagni is not a merely advertised sensation, a wonder to be accepted for a moment and dismissed. He is an artist, first, last and all the time. He played the famous intermbezzo with frank, straightforward earnestness, intended to develop the true theme of that marvelous composition. In tempi he takes the intermezzo appreciably slower than one is accustomed to hear it, and the splendid beauties of this master work are heightened measurably. Throughout the opera itself the contrary disposition is shown, for the orchestration is greatly quickened, and added to this are a number of dramatic touches and nuances that lift the score into new power and beauty. A striking instance of this was seen in the Easter prayer music before the church, which was given a movement and radiance that it has never possessed before. The success of Mascagni in controlling and directing his orchestra is marvelous. He does not exert himself vigorously. With thumb and little finger extended and the intermediate fingers drooping the maestro conducts his musicians through the mazes of the score with a power and skill that is unequaled. He moves his hands and arms but never gesticulates excitedly. The result is amazing when we consider that his group of players has been more or less disorganized since the arrival of the company in America.

The charm of "Cavalleria Rusticana" was greatly heightened last night by a cast that, while not brilliantly sensational, was really great. Mme. Elena Bianchini-Cappelli portrayed the role of the betrayed Sicilian maid, Santuzza, with fine emotional effect. As a lyric artist Mme. Cappelli is not so great as we are accustomed to hearing on this side in grand opera, but her dramatic intensity and emotional power were well worthy to rank alongside of the famous enactment of the role by Calve. Mme. Cappelli's upper notes are far from perfect, but once or twice last evening she reached her high notes with a splendid melody that fairly electrified her audience. With fine tonal quality and magnificent dramatic powers she makes in many respects an ideal Santuzza. The tenor Antonio Paioli sang the role of Turridu with fine intelligence, his voice being of splendid range and quality, though he has a bad habit, so common among Italian tenors, of throwing his voice. The Alfio was not nearly so good as the other parts in the cast. It lacked force and music distinction. Mme. Mantelli, who sang Lolo, is well known here and her artistic phrasing and splendid enunciation atone for the disagreeable qualities of a voice that is not of the most pleasing character, so far as melody goes. The chorus of Cavalleria was handled a little clumsily, but in volume and harmony it was at times exceedingly impressive and satisfying.

Zanetto, the novelty of last evening's program, is a curious little operatic gem inspired, it is said, by Francis Coppee's poetic little "En Passant." It is a bewildering allegory upon the philosophy of love. Sylvia is a rich hostess of a Florentine inn, who mocks love until Cupid, in the guise of a wandering minstrel, Zanetto, crosses her path. She falls in love with the sleeping boy by moonlight and would fain win his heart. But Cupid for Zanetto, in revenge for her previous slights, disdains her eager passion. Zanetto is a bird who will not be caged. He charms the unrecognized Sylvia, but wishes her only as a sister and not as a bride. Her bosom pants for him, but she realizes the full scorn of destiny and bids him depart—toward the dawn.

The text is too obscure and the story is so remote and unsatisfactory that the libretto is far from appealing. But Mascagni's music is exquisite, full of idyllic sweetness and passionate charm. The libretto is the light air to furnish a poor background, but the masterful genius of the composer overcomes even these and gives you a score that fairly thrills with beauty and music charm. There are reminders in its strains of Cavalleria. One can see and hear in Zanetto the voice of Lola again and again.

But altogether Mascagni has deepened the admiration and respect that all true music lovers have entertained for him because of his masterpiece. He has shown us that he is an artist with the wells of splendid harmony sunk deep in his heart and brain. The world may well hope to hear more of this lusty young son of Italy. His star is not yet at its zenith.

There has been a change of bill necessitated by the exigencies of stage arrangements at the garden. "Cavalleria Rusticana" and "Zanetto" will be repeated at the matinee today and "Iris" will be given tonight.

MASCAGNI
The Great Composer Praises the ANGELUS
Piano Player.

Mascagni achieved another triumph last night when he produced his celebrated operas, "Zanette" and "Cavalleria Rusticana," at Duquesne garden. The impression he made upon the large audience confirmed the reports that had preceded him to Pittsburgh as to his ability as a director. It is indeed a rare treat to hear the sweet strains of the "Cavalleria" as they were developed under the sway of his magic baton.

Mascagni is not only a great musician and a composer of world-wide fame. His four most famous compositions are "Cavalleria Rusticana," "Zanette," "Iris" and "Ratcliff." And it is a noteworthy fact that he is a man of such breadth of mind that he welcomes any device that will aid him in his work or stimulate his appreciation of music. We shall not attempt to describe what he thinks of the Angelus Piano Player, but shall let the great composer tell it in his own words.

Here is his letter:

"Thanks to the marvelous means of expression, the Angelus Piano Player can give the complicated pieces more LIFE AND SOUL than any other instrument of its kind is able to give.

"Bravo to the inventors.

(Signed) "PIETRO MASCAGNI."

Mascagni's testimonial is characteristic of the words of praise which musicians everywhere bestow on the Angelus. It is the only real piano player—the only one possessing an orchestral attachment. It does all that any other piano player does, and more. The price of the Angelus is a little higher than that of any other piano player on the market. But those who can afford the best will not consider any other.

The reputation of Hamilton's for having the best of all things musical explains why the Angelus is sold there and nowhere else in this territory.

If you wish to hear your favorite composition reproduced with every degree of tonal variation faithfully expressed you should call and hear the Angelus. You are cordially invited to do so at any time. After you have once heard the Angelus you will understand why Mascagni and the other great musicians and composers use this marvelous piano player in their homes.

ITALIANS HONOR THEIR COMPOSER

Complimentary Banquet Tendered Pietro Mascagni at Hotel Schenley.

PRAISES FOR MAESTRO

The Famous Artist Given Evidence of the Esteem In Which He Is Held Representative Pittsburghers Present.

Prominent Italian citizens of Pittsburgh last night demonstrated their love of mother country and native traditions in a manner which leaves no doubt as to their real spirit. The coming of Maestro Pietro Mascagni furnished the opportunity that was only too eagerly accepted.

The banquet given in honor of the famous composer at the Hotel Schenley last night was one of the most elaborate affairs of its kind ever witnessed in Pittsburgh, and certainly eclipsed any similar event ever given here for any musician of whatever note. The advent of Mascagni, aside from the interest it aroused in the general public, was an event of signal importance to the Italian-American of Pittsburgh.

The affair at the Schenley was distinctly an Italian event, although there were among the invited guests a number of representative Pittsburghers. Mascagni himself came fresh from his success at the Duquesne garden, and appeared to enter into the spirit of the occasion at once. To an observer Mascagni is a modest, genial man who lacks that impression of his own importance that is so often evident in those who have gained fame in the musical world.

Maestro M. S. Rocereto, a well-known musician of Pittsburgh, made the address of welcome. Mascagni was called upon and made a short speech in which he thanked those who had arranged the event in his honor and expressed his pleasure at the reception he had been given in Pittsburgh. Guiseppe Ferrata, professor of music at Beaver college, and a musician who has four medals from the Italian royal family, acted as toastmaster. Prof. Ferrata spoke on "Our Guest," in which he told of the early failures and struggles of Mascagni, and his subsequent triumphs.

Attorney John Marron spoke on "Italian Music." Guiseppe Bellante delivered the "Saluto a Mascagni." A telegram from Victor Herbert, who was to have spoken on "Italian Music in the United States," was read. Mr. Herbert, who is in New York, expressed his regret at being unable to attend, saying that illness prevented his traveling.

Among those who were present at the affair were:

Michele Mecchi, Maestro M. S. Rocereto, Cavaliere Guiseppe Ferrata, Mariano Cancelliere, John Marron, Allessandro L. Caprini, Frank Bonini, Ugo Capocelsi, Francesco Belladni, Joseph C. Cancelliere, Francis S. Massimino, Nelson Nozzafillo, Ferdinando Colella, Carmelo Bisi, Dr. W. S. Flower, J. L. McCutcheon, James J. Burke, Giuseppe Calabrese, Antonio de Simone, James Gatti, Prof. C. M. Couch, G. M. Rapnano, Robert T. McElroy, F. McGirr, Judge Joshiah Cohen, John Flannery, Samuel H. Ammon, Giuseppe Rosso, J. J. Miller, Giuseppa Battaglia, W. B. Clayton, Charles Bonini, Achille Ciamarini, S. S. Minttenthal and A. Mittenthal, managers of Mascagni.

MARKLE'S CONDITIONS TO RETURNING MINERS

Will Require Each Applicant for Work to Promise to Abide by Decision of the Arbitrators.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

HAZLETON, PA., Oct. 22.—John Markle of Jeddo, who represented the independent operators at the New York conferences that preceded the strike settlement, today declared that no matter what the findings of the arbitration commission shall be he would stand by its decision. He made this announcement after posting a notice at Jeddo informing the employes of G. B. Markle & Co. that those desiring to return to work must apply through the Jeddo office.

Asked for an explanation of this notice he said:

"The reason why each man is requested to apply at the office is to get the affirmative statement of every employe that he will also abide by the decision of the arbitration commission. We have agreed to do so under the conditions set forth by the coal-road presidents and it is no more than justice for us to require the same promise from our employes."

The Markle firm also posted a notice today announcing that hereafter the employes would get credit at the company store, which had been conducted on a cash basis since July, 1900. At almost every colliery where men applied today for their old places some were told that the companies had no room for them at present.

At the Lattimer colliery of C. Pardee Sons, Superintendent Drake notified a committee that when the mine is in shape for resumption he would send for the men.

Mine Inspector Roderick has issued circulars to all the mine workers' locals to take more than usual precaution to avoid accidents tomorrow. A majority of the collieries hereabouts are in condition for resumption of work in the morning.

KNOXVILLE PAINTER KILLED.

Louis Franz Dies of a Fractured Skull Received in a Fall.

Louis Franz, aged 26 years and single, of Knoxville, died at 7:15 last night at the Allegheny General hospital of a fractured skull, sustained at Glenfield during the afternoon.

He was a painter and while at work on a house fell 30 feet from a ladder, slighting on his head. The body was removed to the morgue.

Passenger train No. 9 on the Pennsylvania railroad, while speeding west yesterday morning crashed into a freight wreck near New Florence. H. D. Corl, fireman of the passenger train, was killed. Shortly after 5 o'clock two eastbound freight trains collided and before the flagman could go back to warn approaching trains No. 9 suddenly broke through the fog and plowed through the wreck. The road was blocked for several hours. Corl's home was at Portage, Pa.

HAD NO REVOLVER.

Man Found at French Palace Was of Unsound Mind.

PARIS, Oct. 22.—The police commissary attached to the Elysee Palace says the report published in the Figaro this morning of the alleged attempt of a dangerous anarchist to seek an opportunity to assassinate President Loubet is much exaggerated.

The facts are that a man of unbalanced mind tried to climb the railing in front of one of the gates of the Elysee. The sentry ordered him away. The man talked incoherently and finally had to be removed. No revolver was found on him.

Synod Elects Officers.

LATROBE, PA., Oct. 22.—(Special.)—The synod of Pittsburgh was opened with prayer by W. K. Fulton. The newly-elected moderator, the Rev. J. A. Douthett, presided. The Rev. W. J. # BEAUTIFUL HOME OF THE SHRINERS

Syria Temple Thronged With 2,500 Admiring Guests Last Night.

HOUSEWARMING EVENT

Handsomest Structure of the Ancient Arabic Order In the Country Was Auspiciously Opened.

The new temple of the Ancient Arabic Order of the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, Oasis of Pittsburgh, was formally opened last night. The affair was a reception to which invitations were issued to all Shriners and their ladies. The crowd numbered close to 2,500. The event was really a housewarming, as it was the first affair given in the building, which has only recently been completed.

Dancing was indulged in by the younger guests, while a musical program was arranged for those not caring for this amusement. The Shriners' orchestra and quartet furnished the music in the music room and the ball room. Refreshments were served in the big dining room on the second floor all evening. The reception was the first of a series that will be given this winter.

Description of the Temple.

The building fronts 70 feet in Webster avenue and runs back along Washington street 100 feet. It is four stories high. The outer walls are built of buff brick with stone trimmings. The main doorway in Webster avenue is of semi-gothic design, and is a striking feature of the temple. All the windows are glazed with obscured glass, with small diamond-shaped panels in the upper sash, giving a very pleasing effect.

The main entrance opens on a tiled lobby. To the right is the smoking room, an apartment 30x40 feet. It is finished in a Moorish design. The walls are panelled along the lower part, and the ceiling is carried by heavy, carved beams. The doors and window frames are carved and painted in fantastic manner. Green forms the basis of the color scheme and a liberal use has been made of red and blue in many shades. The furniture is a black wood with maroon leather coverings, and is very massive.

Straight to the rear on this floor is the dining hall, 56x73 feet, which will seat 600 persons. The wall decorations are in a warm orange tint, with a very rich frieze and cornice. A music gallery is placed on the north wall. A cloak room to accommodate 1,000 persons is near the entrance.

Handsome Theater for Ceremonials.

A seven-foot stairway, finished in black oak, leads from the main lobby to the top of the building. The second and third floors are practically one, forming the ceremonial apartments. The second floor has a clear space in the center 58x73 feet, which is surrounded by folding opera seats for 350 persons. The north end is taken up by the stage. The proscenium arch is 28 feet in the clear, and the stage is 17x28 feet. The decorations here are the finest in the building. The general scheme is oriental. The closely carved pillars are surmounted with capitals bearing on each side the faces of the daughters of Isis. Nearly 500 electric lights are used in this room alone. A gallery takes the place of what would be the third floor, with seats for 460 people. On the lobby of the second floor is a room set aside for the office of the temple. It is finished in olive green and furnished in oak.

The third floor lobby leads to the ladies' parlor, a room 16x26 feet, a most dainty apartment. The walls are finished in a delicate blue tint, with painted roses as a decoration. The draperies are rich and the colors harmonize perfectly. The furniture is mahogany.

Hall for Drills and Dancing.

The fourth floor is given up to one big room, 73x97 feet, with a ceiling 32 feet above the floor. It will be used for dancing and drills, and is provided with a row of folding opera chairs for spectators.

In the basement there is a room for the Arab patrol 30 feet square; a buffet 21x36 feet; a kitchen 30x38 feet, the boiler rooms, electric light plant and a cloak room with 750 boxes. The kitchen has two steel ranges and a steam table. A dumb waiter runs from the kitchen to the top floor, so that refreshments can be served on any floor desired. The ventilating plant has a 52-inch fan, and with the steam heating plant is so constructed that any one of the floors can be either ventilated or heated separately.

The lighting is one of the attractive features. The scheme was worked out by Eugene Tuscid, who has been successful in combining the decorative and the practical sides of his problem. The fixtures are in many cases emblematical, and all of them are novel. Everything in the building, materials, draperies, etc., are of Pittsburgh workmanship. In only one thing—the decorating of the walls and ceilings—were the building committee forced to go away from home to attain the desired results. They wanted and they have secured a home for a Pittsburgh organization, built by Pittsburgh men, that far exceeds anything possessed by any other temple of the order in the world.

Getting Ready for the Indians.

CAMBRIDGE, MASS., Oct. 22.—(Special.)—E. T. Putnam, a second year graduate, was tried out today as halfback. He did good work, and as he has a good record, he may reach 'varsity. Secret practice will begin Monday. The team played fast ball today, the 'varsity making four touchdowns against a strong second eleven team. A feature was the sending of the Carlisle wing shift play. The second played it strongly, but the 'varsity threw it four times. Considerable speculation is indulged in as to the use of straps, by which Dartmouth beat Williams. This is a belt handle by which players in chancery are rescued by fellows. Harvard will protest if Yale uses them.

Musical Goods for Christmas

Articles Already Being Selected as Gifts at Hamilton's Old Reliable Music House

Already we are beginning to put aside for customers goods intended for Christmas presents. And the selections include not only pianos, but also music boxes, cornets, stringed instruments, etc. The Stella music box is a great favorite as a Christmas gift, owing to the fact that it is acknowledged to be the best music box made. The prices of the Stella range from $20 to $300. Such a gift would not only be appreciated by anybody fortunate enough to receive it, but would be an unfailing source of delight for many years to come.

Never before in the history of this store has the stock been so interesting as now. And it is really surprising how large a number of customers have already called to select instruments for Christmas delivery. This is not only an advantage to the customer, but is a benefit to the recipients of the gifts, by reason of the larger range of choice and the better opportunities prevailing now than will be possible later.

More and more every year the fact has become generally recognized that it is both safer and more profitable in buying musical instruments to deal with an old reliable music house such as Hamilton's. The reason is very plain. Hamilton's recognized position as the largest music house in the state naturally gives this store control of the best instruments in the market. This conclusion is borne out by the fact that here only will you find the matchless A. B. Chase piano—an art piano for artists—conceded by the world's best judges to be incomparable; the best piano made. Here, too, is the famous J. & C. Fischer piano, of which there are over 118,000 in use today. And here are also a number of others at prices ranging from $200 up. Whichever instrument you select, you will be certain of obtaining the greatest possible piano value for the money, and it will be impossible to select from our stock any but a worthy instrument.

KING OSCAR'S DECISION NOT TO BE PRECEDENT

Uncle Sam Will Pay the Samoan Award, but Will Contest Future Cases.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
503 Fifteenth St., N. W.,
WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 22.

While there will be nothing but prompt compliance by the United States with the decision of King Oscar of Sweden, who has already come to the conclusion that the United States is liable for damages inflicted by the expedition against the Samoan native uprising in 1899, when Admiral Kautz and a British warship commander forcibly restored order, the state department will never consent to accept the decision as a precedent.

Under the treaty which referred the case to King Oscar, he was first to decide whether the various claimants, of which Germany was the principal and most active, were entitled to recompense for the destruction of their property; secondly, if he had decided they were, he was to determine the extent of the damage in each instance.

The German claims are far larger than the others, amounting to $166,918, while the American claims are $77,605 and the British only $6,285. There are claims of nations not party to the arbitration that may be included in the final judgment, but these are not of much consequence. Altogether, the total of the claims is not imposing, and it is certain from the nature of the proof adduced in support of many of them, that even that total will be heavily scaled down by the arbitrator.

TWENTY PAGES.

We lay before our readers today the substance of the report of the Voters' Civic league upon the character and records of the candidates for county offices. In the case of Judge Stowe the leading criticism seems to be upon his manners. If this constitutes a grievance among the lawyers practising in his court, we fancy it is one which will not command much sympathy among the mass of the voters. They will hardly turn against a judge of conceded ability and learning because his way of treating lawyers may ruffle their delicate susceptibilities. As to the transactions in the license court referred to in the report, much stronger evidence would be required to shake public confidence in Judge Stowe's integrity. On the face they suggest an indulgence towards particular counsel which may have been advantageous to them in getting license court business, but so far as the action of the court is concerned in granting licenses previously refused, there is no proof of improper motive, although the circumstances described are regrettable. The Brooks law imposes an ungracious task upon judges, but there is only one way of discharging it with judicial dignity, and that is upon evidence adduced in court at public hearing of the case.

In taking the position that it should be the rule to re-elect judges we do not mean to reflect upon the merits of the candidates nominated against Judge Stowe and Judge Cohen. Both Mr. Macfarlane and Mr. Miller are thoroughly qualified for judicial honors and if elected they will in every way uphold the dignity of the bench. We admit also that the very idea of an elective judiciary implies the propriety of choice as to candidates, but we think it desirable that the political tradition in favor of the re-election of judges who have done good service should influence voters. When a lawyer takes his seat upon the bench that generally closes his career as an attorney, and he ought to feel that in becoming a judge he can retain the position as long as he preserves his competency for its duties.

The ordinances proposed by the Pennsylvania railroad have evoked a spirited protest from the Twentieth Century club. Some strong points are scored in the resolutions adopted and they are useful in helping the railroad officials to rid themselves of the mistaken idea that they can lay any part of the cost of the improvement or of the consequential damages upon the city. The view taken that the general effect of the improvements will be detrimental to the city will not be concurred in by the business community, nor will the idea that the consolidation of Pittsburgh and Allegheny be hindered. The greater probability is just the other way. The improvements will effect a business consolidation that will promote political consolidation. In one respect the improvements will do an irreparable injury and that is probably the foundation of the Twentieth Century club's protest. They will wipe out the relic of Fort Pitt. A glance at the plan of the proposed improvements is enough to show this. The historic site is in the very center of the warehouses and freight sheds enclosed by the loop of the proposed tracks, and will be practically inaccessible. The conversion of the Point into a railroad warehouse district is the doom of the old blockhouse.

Ex-Gov. Pattison has stumbled again. He made the charge in his speech of Tuesday evening that the journals of house and senate for last session had not been distributed and asserted it was because the Republican party was afraid of its record. Investigation discloses the fact that the printed journals were distributed to members of the legislature more than three weeks ago. There was delay in getting them out, but no suppression or attempt at suppression of the record. This is merely an example of the reckless statements of the Democratic campaigners who have been going up and down making and indorsing unfounded charges detrimental to the fair name of the state.

A few days ago Senator Brown corrected Candidate Guthrie, who had been charging the Republicans with the failure to pass legislative and senatorial apportionment bills. He pointed out the former was defeated by Democrats and Insurgents, as the record—and printed journals—will show, and challenged Mr. Guthrie to frame a constitutional senatorial apportionment. Mr. Guthrie has not been heard from on either branch of the subject, but the Post undertakes to say it is absurd to expect him to stop his campaign work to frame a bill, though it says the task is easy. If it is so easy it ought not to tax Mr. Guthrie's energies too much, but admitting that his time is fully occupied in making fresh charges on the same reckless basis, his champion, the Post, might undertake to prepare the bill for him.

This subject of apportionment is one of the most vexatious in the realm of legislation. The mandate of the constitution is plain enough but the geographic and mathematical problems involved are not so easy. It is often an extremely difficult matter to inclose the necessary populations with contiguous county lines. The legislative districts are easiest. But when the requirements of the constitution have been met there is more trouble to please ambitious statesmen. Democratic opposition is certain to every measure introduced. It was with difficulty the present congressional apportionment was passed over Democratic protests, and the legislative bill fell because the Democrats induced the insurgents and a few dissatisfied Republicans to vote with them against it. It is easy to find fault but hard to construct, and the Democratic party, following the line of least resistance, is full of complaints, but has not offered one suggestion of what it would put in the place of the structure it seeks to tear down.

While in this country we have been talking about opening a new commercial route to the east by constructing an isthmian canal, Russia has accomplished the feat as regards railroad connection. It is officially announced that the line through Siberia will be open to travel the coming spring, and in sixteen days one may go from the Atlantic to the Pacific, across all Europe and Asia. People in this country do not appreciate the tremendous importance to American interests from railway development in the continent of Asia. Siberia is a good deal like our middle west in its agricultural opportunities, and its crops will compete with ours in the markets of the world. Already the supply of butter coming to England from Siberia is large enough to affect prices. The extensive and rapidly growing cotton industry of Russia, which now depends upon American supply for the raw material, is looking forward to the time when Turkestan will constitute a cheaper source of supply. This, of course, would mean that American cotton mills would have to sustain in the markets of the east a Russian competition not dependent upon the American cotton crop. We have had things our own way so long as the chief producer of food and textile material for the world that we do not appreciate how rapidly conditions are changing and how great the industrial consequences will be. The irrigation of the arid west and the construction of the isthmian canal were both taken up in the nick of time. Both measures are essential to the maintenance of our industrial supremacy.

THE SCHOOL QUESTION ABROAD.

The politics of both England and France are now in a turmoil over questions of public education. In England elementary education is carried on by voluntary schools, which are under denominational control, mainly that of the established church, and by board schools, which, like our public schools, are supported wholly by the taxpayers. The ministry has introduced an education bill which gives public aid to both classes of schools, but secures the character of the denominational schools by providing that two-thirds of the school commissioners shall be chosen by the denomination founding the school. A furious opposition has been raised against the bill on the ground that under it people may be taxed to support schools inculcating religious tenets contrary to their own beliefs. There have even been threats of a concerted movement to refuse the payment of school taxes. The ministry, however, stands firm and announces that it will sustain defeat and resign the government rather than give way. It is argued that the measure is equitable because any denomination can take advantage of it, and that the gain to the state from the establishment of voluntary schools under religious auspices but conformed to the official standard, warrants state assistance.

It will be seen that the scheme involves what has been agitated in this country as the division of the school fund. In this country the public school system has been built upon a secular basis, and public sentiment is strongly averse to any change. Religious bodies may establish schools if they desire, but must maintain them from their own resources. This is the attitude of the nonconformist churches of England, but the established church of England and the Roman Catholic church are agreed in support of the pending bill. Cardinal Vaughn has addressed to the Irish party in the house of commons a letter urging them to support the bill and asserting that the battle to be fought out in parliament is not merely for Christian liberty but for Christianity itself.

The uproar in France is not whether or not public aid shall be extended to schools under religious control, but whether such schools shall be allowed to exist at all. The government is suppressing schools maintained by religious orders at their own expense. Schools carried on by nuns have been emptied by force in spite of popular resistance. In this country people who want to send their children to convent schools are perfectly free to do so, but must not expect support for such schools from the public treasury; in England the government will give church schools public support if they comply with public regulation as to educational standards, but in France monastery and convent schools are not allowed to exist at all. The French premier, M. Combes, in a fiery speech, recently declared that the ministry would not falter and that the monks and nuns should not continue "their work of moral enslavement." The contest has stirred up a frenzy of excitement and on this issue the clerical party have a just claim to represent the principle of liberty. According to American ideas parents have an undoubted right to control the education of their children, and the forcible closing of religious schools voluntarily maintained would be regarded as a despotic exercise of authority. The American principle of the separation of church and state gives our politics a happy immunity from such issues as are now disturbing England and France.

THE DANISH WEST INDIES.

The real estate deal between Denmark and the United States has fallen through, for the time being, at least, by reason of a tie vote in the landsthing, the upper house of the Danish parliament. The advices recently received at Washington pointed to such a result, but whatever may be the feeling in official circles at the national capital, there will be only a mild popular interest in the whole matter here, though it has real importance. The islands are of considerable strategical value, and because of this the United States was willing to pay more than a fair price for them. Owned by a great European power they might some day be a menace to American commerce, but the effect of a continuance of Danish ownership is to maintain their practical neutrality. This status is acceptable next after ownership by the United States. However, should one of these great powers of Europe seek possession of these dots in the Carribbean sea, a question of real gravity would arise for this country, and it is because of this, rather than for any other reason, that the United States government has been anxious to purchase them. They have a geographical relation to the proposed isthmian canal that makes it desirable, if they pass out from under Danish sovereignty, that they pass into the possession of the United States.

What the future of the islands may be no one is now able to say, but the United States must be strong enough to insure that neither these nor any other islands in the West Indies be transferred to a foreign power. There is no disposition on the part of Denmark to make a transfer against the wishes of the United States, but at any time a contingency might arise that would make it to the interest of that country to turn them over to a powerful neighbor. The duty of the United States to itself in such a contingency is clear. It would be better, therefore, were we able to obtain title now by purchase.

The tie vote in the landsthing probably does not represent the real attitude of that body toward the sale to the United States. The intended sale was a government program, and doubtless the government was able to obtain votes for it against the real sentiment of those who voted. Nevertheless, there is apparently a strong minority sentiment in favor of the sale that it might be possible to transform into a majority. If on a reconsideration, if that be possible, the Danish ministry could hold its lines intact and gain the support of the one member of the landsthing who did not vote, the thing would be done. But it would be better done with a larger majority. That a sale to the United States has popular support is indicated in the circumstance that the result of the voting was greeted with disapproval as well as with cheers.

However, as was remarked on Monday morning, the United States has worried along without the Danish islands until this time, and can continue to do so. Their ownership is important, but not vital.

SOUTHERN CHILD LABOR.

The organization of the Southern Textile Company, which seeks to combine a large number of cotton mills under one management, will confer a blessing upon humanity if it should incidentally smooth the way for legislation restricting the employment of child labor. The merger contemplated by the formation of the Southern Textile Company at present includes seventy cotton mills, and it is stated that many other mills will come into the combination. The evils attending child labor in the southern cotton mills are so manifest as to be indefensible. Mill owners have readily admitted that it is a bad thing that little children should have to be working long hours when they ought to be at school or play, but each manager has to do it because others do it, and practically all unite in fighting legislation to prohibit the employment of children under twelve. The organization of the cotton mill combination knocks out this argument. Whatever restrictions legislation may impose will be uniform in its effect and will put the various mills on the same labor plane.

An argument which will remain is that if the southern mills are hampered by labor legislation they cannot compete successfully with those of New England. The plain answer is that if they cannot survive under competition without sacrificing child life they ought to die. A state would neglect a primary duty of its existence if it should allow its citizenship to degenerate by the breeding of little white slaves for mill owners. Cases are reported to be not infrequent of parents living upon the earnings of their little children. The children cannot help themselves; the law subjects them to parental control and the law should protect them.

It shows what queer ideas get currency abroad about affairs in this country when even so well-informed a paper as the London Spectator devotes a long article to consideration of the belief ascribed to President Roosevelt that "a strike which gravely threatens the community may rightfully be put down." President Roosevelt's position was simply that the parties to the contest ought to get together and settle it, and he called a conference to start the process. The Spectator also declares that "the situation is so serious that there is a call on its millionaires to end it by buying a controlling interest in the mines and ordering a compromise with the men." The controlling interest was acquired long ago, but the difficulty was to get it to agree to arbitration, but that President Roosevelt has accomplished. When events are so travestied by serious and painstaking journals it may be inferred how wildly grotesque is popular misinformation about American affairs. Reports of train robberies, race wars and lynchings are accepted as samples of the ordinary conditions of life in the United States.

The big ransom obtained for Miss Stone has naturally given a great boom to missionary capture and blackmail. The abduction of Miss Stone is regarded by best informed opinion as a financial enterprise of the Macedonian revolutionists. Now reports come from Bulgaria that missionaries there have been threatened with death by dynamite. The Turks are not to be blamed with these transactions, which originate in the Christian populations, among whom the missionaries labor. Bulgaria is independent of the Turkish government, and even if the actual kidnaping of Miss Stone took place on Turkish territory, it is rather hard that Turkey should be held responsible for a raid across her borders, particularly when Europe would not allow her to make reprisals. To complaints addressed to the Turkish government in regard to risks run by the missionaries a fair and natural reply would be that the American government had better keep such precious goods at home.

It is gratifying to know that Gov. Taft has promptly taken up the grievances of the American teachers in the Philippines and promises that they shall be righted as far as it is possible. The men and women who went out to the Philippines as teachers took upon themselves a heroic task. The value, present and prospective, of their labors in the work of civilization going on in the Philippines is inestimable and it should be the aim of the government to make their lot as easy and free from difficulties as possible. The complaints made relate to certain inequalities in salaries and the poor accommodations provided by the government for the prosecution of their labors. These Gov. Taft declares shall be promptly remedied.

Recorder Brown and Controller Larkin have finally reached common ground on the municipal hospital question and that much-needed institution will be pushed to completion. This is as it should be. Essential public business should not be blockaded, nor should necessity be made the cloak for bleeding the taxpayers. There is a golden mean. Now that work is to be pushed on the hospital building there should be no delay about employing a resident physician. One doctor cannot properly attend the patients there and visit quarantined premises at the same time.

An exhibit of the real character of the politicians who tried to put the Union party into the Pattison column is made by their recommendation to vote the Ballot Reform party ticket. This is the "Muddy Water" annex to the Pittsburgh machine, against which all good citizens in Allegheny county are up in arms. If there were not ample reasons aside why Pattison should not be elected this one fact that he is supported, as he was before, by the worst element of the Pittsburgh ring is, in itself, sufficient to condemn him.

While the machine yells loudest about bogus tax receipts it is easy to tell what is on its mind. But measures will be taken to prevent it from voting men on bogus receipts or from frightening holders of genuine receipts away from the polls. The machine must go, and with it the abuse of power in the county offices and the opportunity for forgery.

Anarchy of the murderous kind is not dead, only sleeping. If the alleged plot to kill President Loubet shall be traced to anarchistic sources it should serve as an excellent reminder to the United States congress that it has a duty to perform in this direction.

Arbitration has scored another triumph, this time at the expense of the United States and Great Britain. The Samoan controversy has just been decided in favor of Germany and the other two governments will have to pay the piper.

It now turns out that President Castro hasn't been any nearer the revolutionary forces than he has been to the truth in recounting his exploits.

For a man who for several weeks has had the use of only one leg, President Roosevelt has covered considerable ground.

If the W. C. T. U. can have its way Bishop Potter will not have a tranquil honeymoon.

TAMMANY ENJOYS ITS BIG PARADE

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
The Herald Building, Herald Square,
NEW YORK, Oct. 22.

Tammany is lavishly proclaiming its importance tonight. There were rivulets of marching braves from all the districts early in the evening, converging toward the common center of the Wigwam in East Fourteenth street and forming one monster procession as it got near the hall. Tammany dearly loves a parade. It is when the hosts of heelers, petty personages of "influence" and district leaders gather themselves into a mass of moving, cigar-smoking, banner-carrying humanity, illumined with the red light so dear to the Tammany heart, stopping trolley cars and making every policeman stand meekly aside, that the unterrified Tammanyite feels that he is really living. What does he care for votes at such a time? The main object is to parade, and to parade with all the pomp and ceremony which can be brought to bear on the occasion. Even the spellbinding in Tammany hall afterward is not so important to him as the march through the streets, because in the parade he is brought into prominence by the glare of red fire, while in the hall only the speaker on the platform revels in the glory of the calcium "spot light." Still, the attendance at Tammany hall is large. The ostensible destination of the procession was the Wigwam, and when there was no more marching to be done, naturally all the marchers that could get inside found themselves traveling up the big flight of stairs leading to the headquarters of Tammany. Of the meeting there is little to be said. All kinds of "hot air" was set free, and as the audience was composed of sympathizers with the orators, there was no issue taken with any of the views expressed. Besides the crowd inside the hall, there was another of equal proportions outside, listening to extemporaneous addresses and dribbling off in groups, large and small, to the boozariums in the neighborhood. An extra force of bartenders was set to work in most of the resorts, and the supply of beer and spirituous liquors was large enough to cover any demands upon it, extraordinary as it always is on a Tammany celebration night. The campaign is on.

Coler Shows His Independence.

Bird S. Coler, Democratic candidate for governor, may sympathize with the purpose of the Tammany ratification meeting this evening, but he was not there in person. He had other things to do. He was showing David B. Hill that "Birdie" has ideas of his own about the conduct of his campaign, and is not averse to giving voice to them when he can do so under proper auspices. So he made the first speech of his campaign at the Manhattan club tonight, and it was clear enough to show Hill and the rest of them just where the speaker stands. Wherever he may stand, it is the overwhelming opinion that he will not sit in the chair of the chief executive at Albany—this time, at least.

Heart Thrusts Not Necessarily Mortal.

That woman who was stabbed to the heart the other night, and who was patched up with several stitches drawing the wound together, is likely to recover. She is in Bellevue hospital, and the physicians think she has an excellent chance to get well. If she dies, there will not be so much deadly meaning in the threat. "I will drive a dagger into your heart," as there used to be.

Society Theater Experiment.

Society has its own theater now, but does not seem to care much about it. Mrs. Osborn's new playhouse, which used to be the poky little Berkeley Lyceum, was crowded last night with members of that particular class known as the "smart set," and the occasion was more a reception than a theatrical offering. Society went on the first night, because it was understood to be the function of the evening. There was a drop in the attendance tonight, although not enough to dishearten the management. Whether the patronage will be large enough in future to be worth while is doubted by veteran theatrical men. Still, veterans in any walk of life are not infallible, and Mrs. Osborn may yet prove that "class" likes to go to a sort of hall bedroom of a theater instead of a capacious playhouse, merely because the hall bedroom is its "very own." Look at Mrs. Osborn tonight, gorgeous in one of her own "creations," which it would be blasphemy to speak of as a mere "frock," and you could not say that she has the slightest misgiving.

Coal Shortage Nearly Delays Oceanic.

The gigantic White Star liner Oceanic sailed away today. This is a regular incident in the business career of the steamer, but it might not have been so regular this time if workmen abroad had not been especially active. The scarcity of coal has affected most of the Atlantic passenger vessels and the Oceanic suffered with the others. There was no coal to be procured for her until yesterday, and men were working all last night filling her bunkers. They accomplished their task just in time for the ship to sail at its regular hour, with not 10 minutes to spare.

The Coal Famine Over.

The amusing part of the coal famine is seen now in the frantic efforts of local coal dealers to keep up prices. They want to charge the long-suffering consumers $15 a ton for coal now and to make a schedule of $10 a ton for two weeks thereafter; but other dealers who are not in the "combine" say there is no reason why coal should not be down to $6 a ton next week, while some of them insist it will get to that figure before the coming Saturday. If that should come to pass, the bottom will have dropped out of prices quicker than they were built up. Oh! the famine is over in New York, no doubt about that.

Loafer Haunting Some Millionaire.

Just to prevent rich New Yorkers falling into an unwholesome condition of over-security, the police have discovered a roughly-dressed man loafing about Madison avenue in the neighborhood of Thirty-sixth street, and they believe he has sinister designs of some kind. Incidentally, although the detectives have "discovered" the man, they have not caught him. J. Pierpont Morgan lives at that part of Madison avenue, and there is strong curiosity to know whether that gentleman is the object of the stranger's attention. The police do not think it is, but as there are half a dozen other millionaires close by, the roughly-dressed man will be arrested—when the police catch him.

New English Actor a Giant.

Two conspicuous figures walking down Broadway above Herald square this afternoon were John Drew and Oscar Asche. The latter is the English actor who has created such a sensation as Maldonado in "Iris," playing at the Criterion with Virginia Harned in the title role. The noticeable thing about the two men as they marched along Broadway was that the forehead of Mr. Drew was not much higher than Mr. Asche's shoulder. John Drew is an imposing figure on the stage, but, by the side of the tall and stalwart Maldonado, he looked almost a little boy.

Manager Brady in the Jury Box.

One of the toughest bits of luck that ever struck the usually irrepressible William A. Brady gave him a jolt in the Fifty-seventh street municipal court this morning. He had been sued by Edward J. Ratcliff, an actor, for $189.50, which the plaintiff claims for his case to come on when the judge looked him over and coveted him as a juror. The court's word is law in such circumstances, and before the busy manager realized what had happened he found himself sworn in as a juror, and was gravely listening to the testimony in a "clothesline quarrel" with all the acumen that has stood him in such good stead in his business these 26 years. Brady did not like it, but he said nothing till he got safely outside. What he remarked then might have caused his committal for contempt of court if the judge had overheard him.

Peril in Old Buildings.

What chances builders take when they are tearing down old houses was shown today in a sensational way. It was in a big building in Prince street, just off Broadway, in the midst of the wholesale district. Several pillars collapsed suddenly and 15 men went down in a cloud of dust and a ton or two of rubbish. Seven men had to go to the hospital, but the rest appeared not to mind a little thing like the tumbling in of several floors, with walls dropping over to add to the fun. The edifice was five stories high and is being pulled down to make room for a modern skyscraper. Accidents will happen anywhere, but what is not understood is how the old building could get into such rickety shape without anyone suspecting it until it tumbled in. The lesson of the Buddensiek smashup, nearly 20 years ago, seems to be forgotten.

Immigrants in a Panic.

There was an accident today that suggests the need of better arrangements for taking immigrants to and from Ellis island and the barge office. For the second time in a week the tiller ropes of the Ellis island ferryboat John G. Carlisle parted and threw 400 immigrants into a panic utterly beyond control of the pilot. The barge was run upon the rocks between Battery pier and the public baths and was there secured. The immigrants had to get off the boat by planks, and it took all day to quiet the excitement. It is not strange that the immigrants were excited. A voyage of 3,000 miles in heavy weather in the confined space of a steamer's steerage is not conducive to steadiness of nerves, and the wonder is that people coming from Europe in this way are as calm as they are. However this may be, the immigration authorities should see that the ferryboat is supplied with new rusty chains before carrying any more immigrants on the craft. Even immigrants have some rights in New York, notwithstanding an apparent impression that they have not.

Police Threatened With "Shoo-Flies."

It is possible that the efficiency of the police force may be tested this winter by the re-establishing of the old "shoo-fly squad." Capt. Piper, the new deputy police commissioner, who is responsible for most of the activity in the conduct of the department just now, says there will not be any "shoo-fly," but policemen think he may change his mind. The "shoo-fly squad" was a body of roundsmen in different clothes who kept on the trail of patrolmen to see that they patrolled their beats properly. Their work was found to be very effective, but this squad was disbanded by Col. McCullagh a few years ago and has never been in operation since. Capt. Piper is so determined to improve the department that it is thought he may resurrect the "shoo-fly," even though it will assuredly make him unpopular with the men.

No Election Bulletins This Year.

One of the sad consequences of the subway operations in Printing House square, will be that there will be no election bulletins displayed by newspapers there. This will be a sad blow to Park row loafers, to say nothing of the loss it will mean to "panhandlers" and "dips." The show of stereopticon bulletins, with comic pictures interspersed, has been a feature of election nights in Park row for many years, and the occasions have always been marked by much boisterous fun. Incidentally, pickpockets have reaped a harvest, while the impecunious gentry that are always trying to borrow 10 cents found it a profitable time for them, on account of the generosity which is always in evidence in men who see the returns coming their way. All this will be absent this year. The subway is wide open and the wooden fences are not strong enough to resist the pressure of a crowd of people. Rather than have a score or so of sightseers floundering at the bottom of the subway, Capt. O'Reilly of the Oak street police station has ordered that there shall be no bulletins.

CURRENCY REFORM.

Col. Church Suggests the "Baltimore Plan" as the Basis of Legislation.

To the Editor of The Gazette:

Sir:—The recent editorial in The Gazette on "Our Curious Currency System" is a very timely and stimulating article. Above every other detail of national concern the reform of the currency should be made the paramount question. It is a shameful paradox that under our present currency system our greatest period of commercial prosperity should be the inevitable cause of a corresponding shrinkage of business credit in inverse proportion. Banks ought to be the sources of a natural supply of money, yet, by another ingenious paradox, banks are the only institutions in our country which are prohibited by law from issuing their notes. At this very moment public and industrial improvements requiring the immediate expenditure of hundreds of millions of dollars are in a state of paralysis because the money which should be flowing freely into these channels is locked up in the United States treasury and its branches. In the meantime industry and traffic are restrained of their natural growth, manufacturing is cheated of its just fruits, and labor is deprived of its wage. It is not so in any other civilized country in the world. In England and continental Europe the banks issue their notes on safe credits, expanding where the demand expands, and receding when the demand declines.

A stringency of currency like that which now so pitifully embarrasses our gigantic activities is unknown in Europe. Our legislators and public men are agitating the popular mind by partisan and academic discussions of the tariff, the trusts and the Philippines, while they are dumb, and it would seem, ignorant, on the most imperative necessity of our national life. Truly, Nero fiddles while Rome burns.

The remedy is an easy one and is so well known to students of finance that there is no need for me to repeat it to you. The financiers of this country have incorporated its essential principles in what is known as the "Baltimore plan," although practical arrangement of its details for operation would require a modification of that plan. The government receipts, beyond a working balance in the treasury, should be deposited in the national banks. The legal tender notes should be retired for national bank notes. Every national bank should have the right to issue notes up to the amount of 25 per cent of its paid-in capital, protecting the public faith by a guarantee fund subscribed by all the banks. Then, when money is required for the movement of crops and for increased facilities for manufacturing and transportation, it could be obtained on every solvent demand at the banks. When money is not so needed there would be no glut of it in public depositories. Is there not some able and clear-brained man in public life who can lead and control these political energies which should provide for an American currency system that will be adequate to the necessity and worthy of the genius of the nation?

Sincerely yours,
S. H. CHURCH.

PERSONALS.

"The cotton crop conditions in the south," said R. W. Thomason, a real estate dealer and cotton broker of New Orleans, last night at Union station, "is not as favorable as years ago. In some sections of the cotton belt the rainfall has been generous, while in other sections there has been no rain since last April. The southern cotton growers have experienced much trouble with the pickers this season and the crop has not been closely picked. The negroes are becoming careless and will not work in the fields as formerly. Give the southern negro a side of bacon and a bag of corn, with a little fodder for his mule, and he will not work in the corn or cotton fields until hunger drives him to it. The problem is one of the greatest the south has now to contend with. Our cotton must be gathered at its harvest, and if the negro will not do it, foreign labor will have to be imported and the negro driven out. Shortly before I left home I visited several large cotton plantations in Louisiana and Texas. Many of the fields were still white with the cotton bolls, and I know that on two of the dozen plantations which I visited close picking would have enriched the planter several hundred bales that are now rotting on the plants."

"The strike of the miners in the anthracite coal country has benefited manufacturers of gas making machines all over the country," said A. B. Slater, Jr., consulting engineer of the Kerr Murray Manufacturing Company, last night while the limited was changing engines. "Our firm has placed hundreds of gas making machines in the business houses of the New England states, and I think they have been put in to stay and that hard coal will never again replace them."

"The fish war has about been settled," remarked J. H. Wynne of Toledo at the Baldmore & Ohio depot last night. "The attempt to organize a fish trust has not been successful and the small dealers all over Ohio are jubilant. I think one of the leading Pittsburgh fish dealers had much to do with stifling the attempt to form this trust."

Ex-Senator W. H. Andrews was a passenger to Chicago on the Pennsylvania Chicago limited last night. Senator Andrews said that he would return to New Mexico after the election. "Yes, I think," he remarked, "that the next congress will pass a bill making New Mexico a state of the union."

J. B. Finley, president of the Monongahela River Consolidated Coal and Coke Company, went east last night. "I don't think there will be any reduction in the price of bituminous coal this winter," he remarked. "The settlement of the coal strike will not effect us very much."

THE DEATH ROLL.

Librarian Crane Buried.

The funeral of Walter Crane, librarian of the Braddock Carnegie library, took place yesterday afternoon from his home at Hawkins Station. The funeral services were in charge of the Rev. George Rogers, rector of the Protestant Episcopal church at Indiana, Pa., who officiated at the funeral of Mrs. Crane, while rector of St. Mary's Protestant Episcopal church, Braddock, of which Mr. Crane was a member. The Episcopal service for the dead was used at the home and at the grave in Monongahela cemetery. The funeral was an unusually large one, many people being present from Pittsburgh, Allegheny, Monongahela, Irwin, Greensburg and distant places. Among the latter were W. R. Sterling, first vice president of the Illinois Steel Company, an official of the United States Steel Corporation, and William Garrett, president of the Garrett-Cromwell Manufacturing Company, of Cleveland, O., a stockholder in the United States Steel Corporation. Both men were connected with the Illinois Steel Company's plant at Joliet, Ill., during the nine years Mr. Crane had charge of the library and clubhouse there. They will return home this morning in a special train. All the members of the Carnegie Free library working force from Braddock and the branch libraries at Turtle Creek, Wilkinsburg and Monongahela City, which were in Mr. Crane's charge, attended the funeral in a body. Beautiful floral tributes were sent by the clerks of the Braddock Free library, the Carnegie clubhouse employes and clerks, by Electric Union Council No. 185, National Union, of this city, by the Masonic fraternity and by Braddock Council No. 1012, National Union, of Braddock. The active pallbearers were: Attorney Edward J. Small, Justice L. F. Holtzman, president, and G. E. Frank Gray, chief clerk of the Edgar Thomson steel works and secretary of the board of trustees of the Carnegie Free library and clubhouse; ex-Burgess Henry C. Shallenberger of Braddock, Walter Hunter of this city, and Edwin H. Anderson, librarian of the Pittsburgh Carnegie library, whom Mr. Crane succeeded at Braddock.

Prof. Sidney Howe Short.

Stricken with appendicitis as he was preparing to sail for this country to meet his children, whom he had not seen in many months, Prof. Sidney Howe Short, for many of the first electric engineers of the United States, and consulting engineer of the Kerr Electrical Company of London, died Tuesday at his home in that city after an operation. He was 43 years old and had been engaged in electrical work for 24 years. Born in Ohio, he was graduated from the Ohio State university in 1878. He established the Short electric railway of Columbus, and at one time was connected with the Walker Electric Company of Cleveland. He was a professor in Denver university for several years, and during that time his invented his car. It was tried on the university grounds. First to believe the construction of the larger dynamos and motors, Prof. Short, it is said, had patented nearly as many electrial appliances as Mr. Edison.

John Cochran.

John Cochran, 45 years old, a contractor of Monaca, died yesterday at his home in Woodlawn. He was a member of the school board and a trustee of the Woodlawn Presbyterian church. His wife, eight children and an uncle, George A. Cochran, an Allegheny contractor, survive.

Obituary Notes.

Alexander Gardner, a civil war veteran, died yesterday at his residence in Union township, Lawrence county, three miles from this city. He was born in Mercer in 1842.

Conductor J. C. Magee, one of the oldest men in point of service on the Pennsylvania railroad, died in Erie, Pa., yesterday, of heart disease. He was 52 years of age and leaves his widow and grown family.

William C. McDonald, aged 24, died at the home of his father, A. L. McDonald, at Beaver Falls, Pa., yesterday, of consumption. He was a disciple of Dr. Cyrus Teed, and had worked in the Teed establishment in Chicago as a printer for a number of years. Dr. Teed is to officiate in Beaver Falls today and will preach the funeral sermon.

THEY LOOK ALIKE TO THE VOTERS

Troubles of Twin Brothers, One of Them a Republican Candidate.

Maltus J. Newman, Republican candidate for the assembly in the Thirty-first district, is having an unpleasant experience hustling for votes, says the New York Herald. Mr. Newman lays all his troubles to the fact that he has a twin brother, Jacob M. Newman, who resembles him so closely that not even their intimate friends can tell them apart. This has led to so much confusion that Maltus has given an order for several thousand cards to be carried by his double, and to contain the following:

I am not the nominee.
He is IT.

On his rounds about the district in his brother's behalf Jacob is frequently saluted as the candidate, given the glad hand, led aside, and often "touched" for a five or a ten spot.

"What am I going to do?" asks Jacob. "If I tell them that I am not Malt, they will think I am stuck up and trying to dodge them. I am taken as a general good thing. The drinks are always on me. I wonder if Malt will pay me for all the coin I throw away to keep up the deception."

The striking likeness of the brothers caused a fresh barber to hastily leave his job in Lenox avenue last week. Jacob went to the shop for a shave and hair cut and was assigned to the new barber. An hour after Jacob left Maltus entered with a four days' growth of beard and sat down in the same chair. The barber looked at him in undisguised amazement.

"How did you do it?" he gasped.

"Do what?" queried Maltus.

"Why, I shaved you an hour ago and cut your hair. I can show you the hair I took off."

Maltus laughed and said calmly: "Oh, I get shaved three times a day. I have wonderful hair."

The boss laughed and all joined in. For three days the new hand was perplexed. On Saturday the two brothers walked in together. The new barber looked at them, saw the joke was on him, packed up his aprons and left the place. He has not been seen since.

LOST THEIR VOTES.

Wearing a frayed ulster buttoned up to his chin, thereby concealing the absence of linen, while duck trousers that reached nearly to his shoe tops, and carrying a straw hat, Thomas Doyle stepped jauntily to the bar when his name was called in the Center Street police court, says the New York Times. Accompanying him, also as a prisoner, was William Hanohan, less self-possessed, who eyed the crownless derby which he held as though it was a curious treasure, the unexpected possession of which puzzled

ROSARY DECADE FOR COMMISSION

AN ARCHBISHOP'S ORDER

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Cincinnati, Oct. 22.—Archbishop Elder, in view of the ending of the anthracite coal strike, today issued this proclamation to the clergy and members of the Catholic church of this archdiocese:

"The ending of the strike in the anthracite coal regions should be an occasion of rejoicing, and also of supplication to Him who has so signally shown that He holds, indeed, the hearts of men in His hand.

"We rejoice that He has seen fit to turn from His own chosen ones—the poor and the lowly—the impending disaster of a long winter's misery. We rejoice that at the very time passion and self-interest threatened to prevail, calmer counsels, and, we may add, reciprocal charity, have asserted their sway. We rejoice that our chief ruler has found, in his manly sense of right, the means of relieving a situation fraught with so many dangers. We rejoice that the acquiescence in the president's wishes by the parties mainly concerned may be, perhaps, the dawn of an era when arbitration will render impossible troubles such as we have faced for the last six months.

"And yet, whilst rejoicing, we should also pray that the Holy Ghost, whom the church calls 'Lumen Cordium'—the light of hearts—may illumine by His grace both the heart and mind of every member of the commission intrusted with such weighty interests and grave responsibilities. Only through His guidance will their conclusions contribute to peace among men and glory to God. For this end, we desire that for one month a decade of the rosary be recited after each mass, including the high mass of Sunday.

"To all and each we give our affectionate blessing.

"WILLIAM HENRY ELDER,
"Archbishop of Cincinnati."

Preparations to fight a monster strike of machinists next spring for the nine-hour day in Indianapolis and several Connecticut cities, were made at a meeting of the administrative council of the National Metal Trades' association in this city, which ended today. To this end a large addition was made to the defense fund of the association, which is reputed to have been nearly $1,000,000.

"The association is for the purpose of defense in time of labor troubles," said Secretary Robert Wuest. "It is not opposed to organized labor, and is, in fact, a union of employers to act as a balance wheel to the labor unions. From reports submitted, we believe that in the coming spring there will be more strikes than ever were known in the manufacturing business.

"Business is very prosperous among the metal trades. Manufacturers have orders booked which will run the shops from three to nine months, 20 per cent being for export."

RECOVERING FROM WAR.

Gov. Lus Tells How Batangas Province Accepts American Sovereignty—Schools Flourishing.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 22.—The bureau of insular affairs of the war department has made public a report by Simeon Luz, governor of Batangas province, Philippine islands, which says:

"I have just returned from a 30 days' trip through every municipality. There is absolute peace in the province, and almost all the inhabitants heartily accept American sovereignty and gladly welcome the inauguration of civil government. On every hand I found the inhabitants engaged in peaceful pursuits and making every effort to re-establish their former prosperous condition.

"Batangas having been one of the last of the provinces to continue the insurrection, naturally suffered most from the ravages of war. Prior to the insurrection against the Spanish, it was one of the wealthiest provinces in the archipelago, but now its condition is deplorable.

"Schools have been established in most of the municipalities and American teachers are at work. These schools are well attended and rapid progress has been made. Large numbers of boys and girls are beginning to speak and write the English language quite fluently."

LAW ALLOWS BATTLESHIPS.

Board of Construction Within Its Power in Decision Against Cruisers.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 22.—(Special.)—Secretary Moody may decide the question about the building of armored cruisers, which has been raised by a division in the board of construction of the navy department, but it is expected that he will first refer the matter to the general board, of which Admiral Dewey is president, for advice. Some interesting facts in connection with the provision of the last naval appropriation bill has developed since the decision of the board in favor of heavy armor and armament for the cruisers in preference to high steam power and speed. It is claimed that the provision was so cleverly worded that it allowed the navy department to build four battleships instead of two battleships and two cruisers, as the provision seems to read. The two battleships are to have 16,000 tons displacement and are to cost $4,212,000. The cruisers are to have 14,500 tons displacement and to cost $4,659,000, or $447,000 more each than the battleships. The reason given for the greater cost of the cruisers is that they were to have a higher speed, with larger engines and equipment for supplying power. By reducing the steam power and increasing the armament the intention of those who wanted four battleships is practically accomplished.

DIED WITH HER SECRET.

Mrs. Dennis Never Able to Tell the Story of Attack Upon Her.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 22.—After hovering between life and death since last December, Mrs. Ada Gilbert Dennis, victim of one of the most mysterious assaults in the history of the District of Columbia, died at Garfield hospital today. With her death the last hope of a solution of the mystery has disappeared.

Mrs. Dennis came here from Gettysburg, Pa., and married Walter Dennis, a Washington actor. She was found December 10 insensible in her bedroom, her skull was crushed. She never recovered sufficiently to talk rationally.

Markle Abides by Decision.

HAZLETON, PA., Oct. 22.—John Markle of Jeddo, the independent coal operator, today made the following statement: "There seems to have been some question as to our position regarding the arbitration commission. We will abide by the decision of that commission under the conditions set forth by the presidents of the large coal corporations."

DOG FOR A CO-BEDFELLOW VALID CAUSE FOR DIVORCE

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 22.—Judge Spiegel today gave Albert P. Jonte, formerly a queensware merchant, a decree of divorce from Polly P. Jonte on the ground of gross neglect. The testimony showed a condition of incompatibility developed after years of married life. They have grown children.

Among other grievances Mr. Jonte mentioned the fact that a pet dog was for two years made a co-bedfellow, much to his discomfort; that his wife told him when he complained that the dog had the preference. After that he had slept at his store. Mrs. Jonte confessed to the court as to the canine companionship, but said:

"Why, judge, it was all right about the dog. Judge, he was just a little dog; a nice little pet dog. He was not in anybody's way. The dog was all right, judge."

"I don't think so," said his honor. "The dog settles it. Let the plaintiff take a decree on ground of gross neglect."

LABOR UNIONS MAY HAVE TO INCORPORATE

The Massachusetts Employers Wish to Force Them to Fulfill Contracts.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

BOSTON, Oct. 22.—A movement is afoot in this state to bring about compulsory incorporation of labor unions, and it is likely that a bill to that effect will be introduced in the legislature at the coming session.

The commission which is now revising the corporation laws probably will enlarge the scope of the already rather stringent Massachusetts legislation on this subject and make trade unions equally amenable with corporations formed for profit.

Massachusetts employers assert that they are held very rigidly to their agreements and contracts with the labor organizations, while the unions, being irresponsible, may break theirs at will. This was exemplified during the teamsters' strike last spring, when the coal teamsters' unions deliberately broke their agreement and went out on a sympathetic strike. It is to avert a repetition of this that legislation is proposed.

Labor leaders oppose the idea bitterly. They say they have nothing to do with corporations, and therefore, should not practice their methods.

UNION PARTY COMES OUT FOR PATTISON

State Officers Advise Voters to Line Up for the Democratic State Ticket.

The Union party has come out for the Democratic state ticket. A statement signed by Thomas L. Hicks, state chairman, and George E. Mapes, secretary, says that "being without state candidates upon our party column, the practical question for the Union party to consider is how we can best show that the Union party of Pennsylvania not only has an organization but many thousands of adherents who believe in its principles? To answer this question effectively, we recommend: First, that the members of the Union party vote the Ballot Reform state ticket—Pattison, Guthrie and Nolan—in the Ballot Reform column."

Further along citizens are advised to "vote for Republicans for congress. Where there is more than one Republican candidate for congress, vote for the one whose election will give the most creditable representation in the district and most emphatically repudiate Quayism and prove most advantageous to the cause of reform.

A long list of crimes, comprising almost every offense in the criminal calendar, is charged against the state Republican organization.

GLASS STRIKE SETTLED.

Macbeth-Evans Chimney Blowers Will at Once Resume Work.

The strike of the chimney blowers in the plants of the Macbeth-Evans Glass Company, which has been on for three weeks, has been settled and the men will return to work tomorrow. The strike was settled by concessions by both workers and manufacturers. Yesterday the vote on an arbitration proposition was counted at the headquarters, in Moorhead hall, and the Macbeth-Evans company notified of the result. The firm accepted the terms and orders were issued to prepare the plants for resumption.

The company has plants at Marion and Ellwood, Ind.; Toledo, O.; Charleroi, Pa., and the Southside. The company employs 900 skilled workmen and about 2,000 unskilled. The factories at Marion, Ind., and Charleroi will be the first to resume operations, which will probably be this morning.

ONE BURNED TO DEATH.

Hotel Destroyed by Fire and Many Guests Are Believed to Be Fatally Hurt.

LAUVIEN, B. C., Oct. 22.—The Tepee hotel was destroyed by fire early today. One body has been taken from the ruins and seven other persons are said to be fatally injured. The fire started near the furnace room and the flames shooting up the stairway quickly cut off escape except through the windows.

The guests on the first floor escaped easily, but many of those above were badly hurt, either by the flames or by leaping to the ground. Mrs. Mathis leaped from a second story window with her baby in her arms. The baby is safe, but the woman will die. Mathis and James Allen were probably fatally hurt. Four others, names unknown, are reported to be fatally injured.

LOCAL CAPITAL NOTES.

JURY TAMPERING IN MURDER CASE

Philadelphia Salesman Accuses a Councilman of Approaching Him.

CITY FATHER DENIES IT

Prosecuting Attorney Asks for Warrant of Arrest, and Judge Ralston Takes the Matteer Under Advisement.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Public Ledger Building,
PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 22.

J. Lancaster Dailey, member of common council from the Thirty-fourth ward, was today accused in open court by a talesman summoned to serve as a juror in the Sutton murder trial, of having approached the talesman in Sutton's interest. The charge was made in answer to a question by District Attorney Weaver, when William A. Burns was being examined upon his qualifications to serve as a juror.

George W. Sutton was on trial for the murder of his sweetheart, Gertrude Gothie. Burns is a storekeeper. Judge Ralston was urged by the district attorney to issue a warrant for Dailey, but the court held the matter under advisement.

"Have you discussed the case with any one?" asked Mr. Weaver of Burns.

"Yes, a man called at my house in relation to the matter," replied the talesman.

"Do you know who he was?"

A Relative of the Prisoner.

"The gentleman had mentioned the name of Sutton," said the talesman, "and said that he was a relative of his. He said I was a juryman and would be called in the case. That was Sunday a week ago, and I was in bed at the time, but I got up and saw him. He told me to give the prisoner the benefit of any doubt."

Burns added that he did not make any promises to the supposed councilman, and, in fact, didn't say a word to him.

"Don't your honor think," said the district attorney, addressing Judge Ralston, "that there is sufficient before you to cause the sending of a warrant for Mr. Dailey?"

"I hardly think so, although it is a very close line," answered the judge.

"I think so," answered Mr. Weaver. "It is a most outrageous proceeding that a juror should be approached in any case."

Judge Ralston nodded assent, but added:

"We won't decide the matter just now. You can go on with the examination of the jurors, but we will bear the matter in mind."

After court adjourned Mr. Weaver was seen by a reporter.

"In event of Councilman Dailey being arrested, what specific charge would be made against him?" he was asked.

"Attempted embracery, I suppose; but it would simply be oath against oath. Without reference to this particular case there has been too many attempts lately to influence jurors, and I am determined to stop it."

Accused Councilman Surprised.

Mr. Dailey seemed greatly surprised by the charge made against him. He said: "I deny emphatically that I ever approached Mr. Burns, or any juror, at any time about anything. I am not a relative of Sutton's, nor do I know him. I do know Burns, the juror. I often stop at his store to buy cigars on my way to or from the park where I frequently drive. The last time I saw him he told me he had been drawn as a juror. Nothing was said about any case, and how could it be, as I understand by the papers, that Burns' name was only drawn today for the Sutton case? That's all I know about it. I don't know how he got my card."

OPERATORS SATISFIED WITH THE COMMISSION

So Says Baer, Who Also Says Coal Will Be Rushed to Market Very Quickly.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
PHILADELPHIA, PA., Oct. 22.

"How long will it be before coal will be in the market?" was a query put to George F. Baer, president of the Reading company today.

"Why, is coal wanted?" came the enigmatic reply.

"Very much."

"If the miners go to work tomorrow coal will be here very quickly. We will do everything in our power to get it here as quickly as possible."

"Is it true that the appointment of Bishop Spalding as a sixth member of the commission does not meet the approval of the operators?"

"I see no reason now why I should not answer that," he replied. "President Roosevelt called me up by telephone and said he wished to appoint Bishop Spalding, and asked me whether or not I would consent. Without consulting any of the other gentleman, I gave my consent to the appointment. Next day, when I saw the other gentlemen, I told them what I had done, and they cheerfully ratified my action."

"Is there any dissatisfaction with the commission?" he was asked.

"The commission as composed has been accepted by the operators."

DISSATISFIED WITH AWARD.

Pious Fund Beneficiaries Ask in Vain for New Hearing at The Hague.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 22.—Some of the parties in interest in the Pious arbitration are not satisfied with the amount of the award against Mexico in their favor and have appealed to the state department to endeavor to induce The Hague tribunal to reopen the case and amend the decision so as to make the judgment payable in gold.

The original finding was in favor of the claimants for a lump sum of $1,420,682 and an annual payment of $43,050, "payable in Mexican currency." This currency just now is quoted at about 49 cents on the dollar, as compared to American gold.

Secretary Hay has found that it was expressly stipulated that the tribunal should fix not only the amount but the kind of currency in which the award should be paid, and, consequently, he has informed the claimants that he can not grant their request.

QUAY DEPARTS FOR PITTSBURGH

Owing to Andrews' Illness, He Would Like to Cancel His Engagements.

BUSY FRIDAY IS AHEAD

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU, Public Ledger Building, PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 22.

The senator, because of the illness of Secretary Andrews, would have cancelled his western engagements had it been possible to do so. Mr. Andrews is somewhat better today, though still unable to leave his room at the hotel. He persists in working, although ordered not to do so by his physician and Chairman Quay, and dictated many letters to his stenographers this afternoon.

Col. Quay has been notified by Chairmen Brown and Robertson that he will be given some strenuous exercise Friday. A reception in the afternoon and meeting in the evening are parts of the official schedule, Col. Quay said tonight. He also announced that W. H. Wilson, president of the Commercial museum, Philadelphia, would make an address. The birthday anniversary of a granddaughter will occupy the senator tomorrow, according to W. F. Wright, his private secretary.

William T. Creasy, Democratic state chairman, made a gum-shoe visit here today. The "Farmer" said he was looking for John S. Rilling, chairman of the Democratic speaker's bureau. He failed to find Rilling.

"Gov. Pattison's majority in Pennsylvania will be 150,000," said Chairman Creasey. Then he smiled. Then he left town.

John P. Few, the Democratic orator familiarly known as "Foghorn," pretends to be very indignant because his name will go on the official ballot as a legislative candidate in the Seventeenth district, he having failed to withdraw within the legal time limit.

"My withdrawal was sent to Harrisburg in a registered letter. I have the receipt of the postal authorities showing that this letter was receipted for by E. C. Baxter, acting for Secretary W. W. Griest, on Monday, October 20. It is no fault of mine if Mr. Grist was not in his office to open the letter on Monday. Should Secretary Griest persist in his refusal to take my name from the ballot, I shall go into court and ask for a mandamus to compel him to accept my withdrawal."

Gov. Stone has written to the local Republican leaders that he will be able to come here on Saturday of this week and will address the Republicans of West Philadelphia. The governor expected to be able to come here last Saturday, but was compelled to break his engagement by reason of official business.

The Republican tour of the state will conclude Saturday night, November 1, with two meetings in Media and Chester, Delaware county, at which Samuel W. Pennypacker, Hampton L. Carson and ex-Postmaster General Charles Emory Smith will make addresses.

Democratic lieutenants here are industriously circulating a report that City Controller Larkin of Pittsburgh is alleged to have written George W. Guthrie, predicting a majority of 20,000 for Pattison. CHESTER D. POTTER.

AN EXCITING RUNAWAY.

Brake on a Trolley Car Broke on Steep Grade in Braddock—Wild Ride for Women.

Car No. 1072 of the East Pittsburgh and Homestead branch of the Monongahela division made a record-breaking run backward yesterday at Braddock. Conductor H. B. Ryan of Duquesne junction prevented three terror-stricken women from hurling themselves from the car to almost certain death.

The car was bound for East Pittsburgh and was going up the steep grade of Library street, Braddock. A man and one woman alighted at the Pennsylvania station, but they had hardly done so, the car scarcely stopping, when the brakes gave way, and the car ran backward at a frightful rate of speed.

Other cars have run away on Library street, and have plunged through the store buildings at the foot of Liberty street, but no car ever went down the grade more rapidly. This car kept to its tracks as it rounded the curve, and then run along the tracks of the United Traction line, which are used as a cross-over between Library and Eighth street for the Monongahela line.

The car struck a laundry wagon, but its speed was not diminished. Thomas Warfel, 61 years old, driver of the wagon, was thrown to the street and had his right leg hurt. The wagon was but little damaged.

SIXTEENTH CHEERED.

Marches Into Mt. Carmel for Dress Parade on Heels of Miners' Procession Celebrating Strike's End.

MT. CARMEL, PA., Oct. 22.—(Special.)—According to the latest reports, only about 50 per cent of the collieries in this district will be able to resume operations tomorrow. That number have blown their whistles for a start in the morning. Even this limited number will not be able to ship coal for several days, the work of cleaning up preparatory to a complete resumption requiring some time.

Instances have been numerous of active strike leaders being refused employment upon reporting for duty today.

Following on the heels of a demonstration and parade of several thousand miners through Mt. Carmel this afternoon came a march of the Sixteenth regiment to the public park for dress parade. The miners opened ranks on the park and as the boys in blue marched through they were applauded by the rejoicing miners.

This morning, after the departure of the deputies and a number of those employed about the mines during the strike, Col. Hufings recalled all his guard detail from the collieries.

A REVELATION.

The Interesting Story a Striking Picture Tells Today.

Did you ever really realize that Campbell's store in Fifth avenue not only extends up two stories, down one story and way through one of the deepest blocks in Pittsburgh, but likewise rises eight stories in the air back in Virgin alley?

The picture in the advertisement of "The People's Store" today tells the story far better than words.

And it likewise will let thousands of people know, if they find time, that in the upper floor of the eight-story building will be found one entire floor devoted to draperies and wall paper; another floor given up exclusively to men's clothing, and two entire floors filled with furniture —all reached by their own direct elevator.

PROMINENT FARMERS HELD FOR BURGLARY

An Italian Causes the Arrest of Washington County Citizens.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, PA., Oct. 22.—(Special.)—A sensation was caused here today when James Bane and Munroe Martin, prominent farmers of Amwell township, were arrested on charges of larceny and burglary preferred by Salvani Falbaugh, an Italian, who lives at Sunset on the Waynesburg & Washington railroad. The men were released on bail.

Falbaugh, who is a section hand on the Waynesburg & Washington road, was awakened Sunday night by hearing someone attempting to gain entrance to his small house. He was the only occupant and was so badly frightened that he left by a second-story window and fled to the woods, where he remained all night. When he returned at daybreak, nearly dead from exposure, he found that the thieves had taken all his wealth, which he had concealed in a trunk.

Falbaugh at once came to this place and notified the authorities. An officer was detailed on the case, with the result that Martin and Bane were placed under arrest and brought here today. They say that they were in the vicinity at the time of the theft, but deny that they are implicated in the robbery.

Mandelbaum Syndicate Signs Deal for Community of Interest Plan With Widener.

CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 22.—A deal was practically closed here tonight by which the Cincinnati, Dayton & Toledo Traction Company will enter Cincinnati by loops through the business centers over the Grand tracks. Mr. Mandelbaum of Cleveland submitted the papers today to W. Kesley Schoepf, president of the Cincinnati Traction Company.

Later Senator Foraker and Mandelbaum revised the agreement, which is now considered effective, as there is no doubt of the approval by the concerns interested.

W. Kesley Schoepf, Hugh McGowan, Thomas P. Dolan, P. A. B. Widener, Randall Morgan and W. L. Elkins of the Widener-Elkins syndicate, with the Forakers and other Cincinnati capitalists, secure substantial interests in the Mandelbaum-Pomeroy roads throughout Ohio, including the Miami & Erie Transportation Company. Mr. Schoepf will represent the new interests in the directory.

The Mill Creek Valley line, recently secured by Mr. Schoepf and his associates, will be extended from Hamilton north to connect with the Mandelbaum lines. What is called an agreement for community of interests between the representatives of the Mandelbaum-Pomeroy and the Elkins-Widener syndicates was signed and awaits the formal approval of the companies interested.

POSTOFFICE ROBBED AT MARTINS FERRY

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

MARTINS FERRY, O., Oct. 22.—Safe crackers effected an entrance into the postoffice early this morning and blew open the safe with a charge of dynamite. The explosion did not destroy the safe and they returned in 10 minutes and inserted another charge. The explosion shook the building and sent a piece of iron weighing over two pounds through a metal ceiling.

Neighbors were aroused by the noise and the burglars escaped. The safe contained $800 and other valuables, but the robbers secured only about $50 worth of stamps.

An hour earlier two men believed to belong to the same gang attacked Thomas Walsh, toll collector on the Terminal bridge, and robbed him of $4.

Town to Have Water Works.

NEW CASTLE, PA., Oct. 22.—(Special.)—Hillsville, this county, is to have a waterworks plant within a short time, according to the plans of local capitalists, and extensive limestone operators of that place. The supply will be secured from an immense spring on the DeLos Farrell property.

A. M. E. ZION CONFERENCE.

Seventh Annual Session of the Allegheny—Ohio Body Opened in This City Yesterday.

The seventh annual session of the Allegheny-Ohio conference of the African Methodist Episcopal Zion church opened at noon yesterday in the John Wesley Zion chapel in Wylie avenue. It was called to order by Bishop J. B. Small, A. M. D. D., of York, who was made presiding officer. The Rev. Mr. Combash of Lisbon, O., was made secretary and the Rev. Mr. McIntosh of Bedford statistician. The latter was formerly pastor of the John Wesley church. Committees were chosen to which will be referred the various topics to be discussed and to formulate the manner in which they will be presented for action. One of these will take up the question of the political as well as religious condition of the colored race and treat it in a broader sense than heretofore attempted.

Bishop Small delivered a sermon in the afternoon, after which communion was taken. In the evening the annual sermon of the conference was preached by the Rev. John Pringle. The regular order of business will be taken up this morning and sessions will be held three times daily until Monday, when the conference will close with the announcement of the appointments for the coming year.

PASS RESOLUTIONS.

W. C. T. U. Does Not Agree With President Eliot of Harvard on One Subject.

PORTLAND, ME., Oct. 22.—Much time was devoted to two resolutions by the national W. C. T. U. here today. Both were adopted. The first was in effect: "That we stand committed to the principle and practice of compulsory scientific temperance instruction in all public schools of this country. We urge our organization everywhere to work for good, well-graded text books on this subject, and to oppose books that fail to teach total abstinence as revealed by modern science."

The second was that "We respectfully differ from the statement of President Charles W. Eliot of Harvard university that 'the attempt to teach total abstinence in the public schools has been an injury to the teachings of science inasmuch as ideas concerning the effect of alcohol were taught which could not be proved.'"

The report on school savings banks showed that such banks have become a feature of 1,500 schools, and the pupils in these schools have saved and deposited to their credit $1,350,611.

His Cries Were Unheeded.

PASSENGER TRAIN CRASHES INTO FREIGHT

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

JOHNSTOWN, PA., Oct. 22.—An eastbound freight on the Pennsylvania railroad broke and ran together at New Florence early this morning and before the trainmen had time to leave the wreck the first section of the western express, which passes Johnstown at 4:50 a. m., ran into it, instantly killing H. D. Correl of Derry, the fireman on the passenger engine; badly injuring the engineer in the same cab and slightly hurting a few passengers in the first coach.

Several of the derailed cars in the freight train were lying alongside the westbound track and on account of the dense fog the engineer and fireman of the passenger engine could not see them. One of the trainmen of the freight crew tried to notify the approaching train of danger by swinging his lantern, but the engineer says he did not see or know anything of the wreck until his engine was stopped by the demolished freight cars.

Fireman Correll was a young man and had been on the railroad for a number of years. The name of the injured engineer could not be learned.

The passenger train was running at high speed when it plowed into the wreck and the side was torn out of several cars. A few sleeping passengers were cut by flying glass, others were shaken out of their seats. Trains in both directions were delayed several hours.

MISSIONARIES NEEDED.

Minister Says Much Work Is to Be Done in Pennsylvania.

GREENSBURG, PA., Oct. 22.—(Special.)—At the afternoon session of the state Missionary society of the Baptist church appeals were made for more extended work among the foreign population of Western Pennsylvania. The Rev. B. F. McGee of Huntingdon stated that 40 per cent of the population of the state is of foreign extraction. He claimed that for every 1,000 foreigners there should be a missionary. He stated that more is being done in Western Pennsylvania than in Eastern Pennsylvania for the evangelization of the foreigners.

The Rev. J. H. Thomas of Pittsburgh spoke on "Western Pennsylvania as a Mission Field." He stated there was ground for alarm on account of the conditions of life among the foreign population. Foreign missions were discussed by the Rev. L. W. Kronkhite of Passein, Burma. The Rev. Charles A. Seers of Philadelphia was elected president of the society.

NO MORE MISSIONARIES.

Unless Their Safety in Macedonia Is Assured, Missions There May Be Soon Abandoned.

BOSTON, Oct. 22.—(Special.)—Dr. E. E. Strong of the American board admitted tonight that it has been practically determined not to permit Miss Ellen Stone to return to Macedonia. It was hinted by others familiar with the board's plan that unless the United States government affords better protection to citizens in foreign lands, the missions to Bulgaria, Eastern Europe and Asia Minor might be abandoned.

The letter from Dr. Marsh this week and the Stone outrage have aroused a feeling of unrest. Then, as matters are now in the dilatory channels of diplomacy no ruling or statement can be expected as to the Turkish government's ideas.

Unless missionaries' safety is speedily assured, valuable property will be sold and the results of years of endeavor abandoned.

Dr. Strong and his associates are considerably wrought up over the matter. He admitted that everything was hung up, and that no one knows where it would end. As to Miss Stone, he left no room for doubt that the board will not incur the possibility of her ransom demand. Miss Stone is said to have acquiesced in the board's decision.

PRAYER CIRCLE STARTED.

English and Australasian Institution Brought to New York.

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—(Special.)—A six-hour prayer service was held today in the old Fulton street prayer meeting rooms. This is a special effort to inaugurate in this country what is known in Great Britain and Australasia as a "prayer circle." New leaders are provided for the special service each hour, and the worshipers are invited to go in and remain as long as they can.

The first service, which began at 10 o'clock today, was well attended, and the national central committee of the twentieth century national gospel campaign, under whose auspices the services are being held, are confident that the new work has already met with favor.

STRIKE CAUSES SUICIDE.

Miner Victim Thought Dispute Would Not be Settled in Time.

PASSAIC, N. J., Oct. 22.—(Special.)—William Swartz, a coal miner, ended his life here today because he thought the strike would not be settled and that he would starve before he could get work.

He was staying at the home of his daughter. He told her this morning that he must get work in a few days, as his money was gone. At 4 o'clock this afternoon his daughter found his lifeless body suspended from a hook in the ceiling. Swartz came to Passaic from the coal regions a few weeks ago.

TRYING A NEW PROCESS FOR ROLLING TIN PLATE

Sharon Mill Experimenting With An English Invention.

SHARON, PA., Oct. 22.—(Special.)—It developed today that Lord Charles Beresford, admiral of the British navy, who recently visited the Sharon tin works, is interested in a new system of rolling tin plate which is being tried at the Sharon tin mill. It is said the system, if successful, will revolutionize the industry.

Thomas V. Allis is engaged in developing the new process for manufacturing tin plate. H. H. Andrews, who is at the head of a big steel industry at Sheffield, England, is the inventor of the system, which is covered by patents in this country and Europe. Lord Beresford is chairman of the company, and Mr. Allis is also interested. The latter is working out Mr. Andrews' ideas.

No details have been given out, but it is stated the system is a departure from the present methods of rolling the plate, and will cheapen the cost of producing tin. It is understood the Amalgamated association has waived the tonnage limit, thus giving the experimenters every encouragement.

EXPRESS COMPANY INDICTED.

Receives Money for C. O. D. Packages of Liquor in Iowa.

KEOKUK, IA., Oct. 22.—The federal grand jury today returned an indictment of the Adams Express Company for an alleged violation of the internal revenue laws. Persons at Birmingham, Ia., received C. O. D. packages of whisky, from consignors in Illinois and paid collections and charges to the express agent.

The theory of the grand jury is that the C. O. D. method constitutes a sale of goods by the express company to the consignee, and hence requires a retail liquor dealer's license.

HERBERT'S LIBEL ACTION ON TRIAL

CRITICISMS TOO SEVERE

His Counsel Runs Foul of a Paragraph of Difficult Terms Which He Tries to Read and Fails. Plaintiff's Case Rested.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU, Herald Building, Herald Square, NEW YORK, Oct. 22.

The suit of Victor Herbert, director of the Pittsburgh orchestra, to recover $50,000 damages for libel from the Musical Courier, was put on trial before Justice Truax in the supreme court today. The basis of the libel action was the publication of an article in which it was said that Victor Herbert was a "plagiarist and composer of comic operas, the airs of which were so unpalatable that not even a street piano would pay any attention to them."

The publication, still referring to Herbert, also declared that "Great symphony conductors are not drafted from the ranks of composers of shoddy American farce operas, alias leg shows."

The first witness called by Arthur Palmer, the plaintiff's counsel, was Otto Weil of the firm of Witmark & Sons, music publishers. He identified several operas published under the name of Victor Herbert.

Frederick M. Rankin, who described himself as a librettist, was not allowed to testify as to the standing of the Musical Courier in the musical world.

Mr. Palmer then offered copies of the Musical Courier, published several years ago, lauding the works of Victor Herbert. The court admitted this evidence as offer of proof that the alleged libel was inspired by malice.

Mr. Palmer then rested his case.

Justice Truax, in looking through the different articles on Victor Herbert in the Musical Courier, said:

"I see a great deal in here that I do not understand. You had better read it to the jury and explain it, Mr. Palmer."

The lawyer started in to read one of the articles to the jury, but had hardly got out a sentence when he staggered, put on his glasses, attempted to pronounce a complex period of musical jawbreaker, sputtered, and finally admitted that he had better sim over the hopelessly unpronounceable phrases.

"Let me help you out," broke in A. H. Hummel, counsel for the defendant, gracefully reaching for the paper. Mr. Hummel glanced down the column Lawyer Palmer had tripped on, and in a few rolling sentences reeled off the technical sentences, while the court room and justice laughed at Mr. Palmer's discomfiture. Mr. Palmer turned upon Mr. Hummel and said:

"There is nothing to laugh at in my being unable to read this. It is very serious, as serious as it would be if anyone accused you of not knowing any law."

Stevenson Drew a Parallel.

At a Citizens party meeting in Bowerstown hall, Shaler township, last night, J. H. Stevenson, one of the speakers, drew a parallel between the present campaign and that in which Lincoln, a Republican, and Andrew Johnston, a Democrat, were elected president and vice president, in 1864. He said then, as now, party lines were wiped out in the determination of the Union party to nominate candidates pledged to crush out the slaves. The Union party of '64 is the Citizens party of today, pledged to overthrow the county and state system of slavery of the past quarter century.

DANES DEFEAT ISLAND SALE

Tie Vote on Treaty for Purchase of Danish West Indies.

ACTION IS UNPOPULAR

Results Greeted With Shouts of Disapprobation—Belief in Washington that Possessions May Yet Be Ceded to U. S.

Copenhagen, Oct. 22.—The landsthing today rejected the second reading of the bill providing for the ratification of the treaty between Denmark and the United States in regard to the cession of the Danish West Indies to the latter country. The vote stood 32 to 32, a tie. The announcement caused the greatest excitement in the house and demonstrations on the part of the spectators. The vote was taken without any debate today, and the result was greeted with mingled cheers and shouts of disapprobation. Crown Prince Frederick, all the ministers and many members of the diplomatic corps and members of the folkething were present. The public galleries were crowded.

The cabinet held a meeting immediately after the rejection of the bill and the ministers unanimously agreed that the action of the landsthing did not necessitate their resignation. The finance minister intends to send a commission to the Danish West Indies to investigate the situation with the view of assisting the islands in developing better economic conditions. The syndicate which recently promised to help the islands has been requested to submit its plans and prepare to carry them out as soon as possible.

The predominant sentiment throughout Denmark is undoubtedly pro-sale and the rejection of the treaty is attributed chiefly to a domestic political effort to embarass the government and bring about the resignation of the ministry. The question of the sale of the islands may not remain dead for any length of time. The inability of the rigsdag to agree on a policy for bettering the conditions of the islands is expected to be a factor in again inforcing the sale question to an issue.

The result of today's vote was doubtful until the last moment. One member had not taken a definite stand and it was uncertain whether two sick members would be able to attend. The ages of these men, Thygoson and Raben, are 97 and 87 years. Both had been expected to die for several weeks past; they were bedridden at their homes, 150 miles from Copenhagen, but they were brought to the city. Prominent anti-sale political leaders were sent to transport them here. The sufferers, who were accompanied by physicians, were carried into a saloon car, which was rolled on to a ferryboat, on which it crossed from Jutland. On their arrival at Copenhagen they were met by leading anti-salers and were driven in carriages to a hotel. There the two old men were guarded and nursed over night and were eventually carried to their chairs in the landsthing half an hour before the meeting. They had a prompter on hand to assist them in voting.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—The state department was today advised of the action of the Landsthing in rejecting the treaty of cession. The action causes little surprise for, as already indicated in these dispatches, the advices received from Copenhagen indicated that the fate of the treaty hung upon the slenderest thread.

The officials here are disposed to view the situation philosophically, resting in the belief that it will only be a short time before Denmark will tire of making good a deficit in the revenues of the islands and let us have them.

It is probable in view of the closeness of the vote of the landsthing that the Danish government will decide to make another attempt to secure approval of the treaty at a more auspicious time.

ELKIN QUERIES IN RAPID FIRE ORDER

Attorney General Desires to Know All About Allegheny County Situation.

"Tell me about Allegheny county."

"How big will be the majority of the state ticket?"

"Is Judge Pennypacker gaining votes here?"

"What about the Citizens party?"

For a few minutes at the Hotel Duquesne yesterday afternoon Attorney General Elkin kept up a fire of political questions relative to the situation in the city and county. He appeared to be after information, and what he learned seemed to be satisfactory to him.

The attorney general registered at the Duquesne about 11 o'clock, and lunched with Attorney R. B. Scandrett. He left Pittsburgh shortly after 1 o'clock for Brookville, where he spoke at a political meeting last night.

Mr. Elkin refused to make any estimate of the majority Judge Pennsypacker will have in the state, but did not hesitate to say he would be elected by a great majority.

"While I am in the ranks this year, and not at the head of the line, I have not the least doubt of the election of the whole ticket, since the conclusion of the strike question the state ticket is undoubtedly gaining strength."

TRIED TO GET MONEY.

It Is His Own, but Matter Leads to Arrest on Charge of Getting Some One's Else.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 22.—Robert Zatamea, a young man, has been arrested here on telegraphic instructions from the east. He is wanted for an alleged embezzlement of about $10,000 from E. Cardona, New York representative of the European house of R. Faban & Co.

Zatamea, who had been employed by Cardona for several years, was last seen in New York on October 2, and it is supposed he left that day for San Francisco. His home was at Staten Island, N. Y.

The detection of the alleged embezzler was brought about by his effort to secure funds from the Knickerbocker Trust Company of New York, with whom he had a personal account.

Robbers Made a Good Haul.

The house of Joseph Pisl in Heidelberg, near Carnegie, was robbed Tuesday night, and negroes employed on the Wabash tunnel are suspected. Yesterday morning when Pisl awoke, he discovered his door was fastened from the outside, and that two trunks, which were later found broken open in a nearby field, were missing. The robbers secured $800 and two watches.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 25TH

IS THE DAY ON WHICH WILL OCCUR THE GREAT SALE OF LOTS IN CHADWICK ANNEX.

CHADWICK!

THE REAL ESTATE MARVEL!

We call Chadwick the "Peoples Bank" because so many people are putting their money into it, and because it is the best bank that money can be put into. You cannot get the same amount of interest on your money from any other bank. To prove this ask the people who have bought or live in Chadwick. Ask some of them what they have been offered for their purchases. You will then understand why we are entitled to call Chadwick Annex the "People's Bank."

THESE CARS NOW RUNNING OVER LINCOLN BRIDGE, CONNECTING THE "PEOPLES BANK" WITH THE REST OF THE EAST END.

The best evidence that Chadwick is worthy of being styled the biggest interest-paying bank in existence are one hundred instances similar to the ones which we shall now recite:

We resold Lot No. 456 for one of our customers yesterday at an advance of $700 more than he paid for it, and received a letter from a lady in Columbus, O., who owns Lot No. 84 not to accept less than $600 for this lot, for which she paid only $425. Lot No. 542 that was purchased for $325 has been resold for $700.

PRY INTO THE TRUTHS!

Every indication points to a success unparalleled in the history of East End real estate. Judging from the fact that the first plan has virtually been all sold and seventy handsome brick structures built upon it, investors will have no time to lose in taking advantage of the opportunities this second plan (Chadwick Annex) presents. No person who pries into the truths concerning the money which purchasers have already made by investing in Chadwick property will be able to convince himself that it is possible to find a better proposition than Chadwick Annex affords. We say this upon grounds that are irrefutable. Buyers of lots in the first plan have pocketed and refused 30 to 40 per cent. clear profit on sales they purchased less than a year ago. The promoters themselves, in justice to their own interests, were twice compelled by the tremendous natural advancement of real estate values in this neighborhood to go over the first plan twice before it was sold out and raise the prices. It is their purpose to do the same with the second plan, or Chadwick Annex, after the present sale. For this reason practical buyers will see the wisdom of visiting this property now while they can get first pick, and positively save or earn not less than 10 to 20 per cent. Remember, also, that earning 10 to 20 per cent. on our prices is earning at least 30 to 50 per cent. in actual value, taking the prices asked for adjoining and less favorably situated real estate as a criterion. For instance—$35 to $50 a foot front is not an unusual price for East End real estate that is as good as we give you in Chadwick Annex. In fact, $60 to $100 a foot front has been paid in cash transactions for no more valuable property than Chadwick will contain in two years from now.

There have been a great many careless statements made in real estate advertisements, but we do not believe in making unsupported assertions, and are in position to back up our statements in a way that will sell the property. We believe that no man who comes out here and sees the amount of money purchasers have made from real estate investments will hesitate about taking hold of the opportunity we extend.

The location of Chadwick has had a marvelous influence in building it up so rapidly. When you purchase a lot here you are buying in the heart of the East End. You get it in the midst of culture and refinement. You get it where it will be enhanced by diversified architectural ideas, instead of where it will be cheapened by a structural sameness that often mars property that would otherwise have a great future.

GRAND FREE GIFT!

LISTEN FOR THE BELL!

One of the features in this great lot sale that can't fail to arouse enthusiasm will be the giving away of three lots in this beautiful East End residential section. These lots are priced at $400, $350 and $250 respectively.

Promptly at 11 A. M. the bell of the Lemington Avenue School House will peal forth same as the fire alarm the plan number of the first lot that is to be given away.

When the bell has ceased ringing the party who stands on the lot bearing the number proclaimed by the school bell will be made a present of that lot free of all charge.

If there be no one on the lot, then the party who is standing nearest to it will be awarded the lot in question.

If there be two or more persons on the lot bearing the winning number, then the individual who happens at that particular moment to have the largest amount of United States money in his pocket will be counted the winner.

Promptly at 3 o'clock the second lot will be given away on exactly the same terms and conditions. Precisely at 4 P. M. the third lot will be given away in a like manner and under like circumstances.

Remember, this is not a lottery scheme. There will be no favoritism shown. Take note of the fact that we do not state "the purchaser who stands on the lot." Therefore the chance is open to everybody.

Bear in mind that this Free-Gift proposition is different from most free-gift propositions. It is not a reduction in prices under the name of "free-gift." Instead of cutting prices we have been compelled to continually advance them against our own will in fairness to ourselves, demonstrating that we opened and have maintained our property at prices that mean a growing investment for our customers.

It never does to make prices at the start higher than the property has advanced to in value. It is better to make them lower, like we did. Then you get the confidence of the public. Besides, under our procedure, you don't have to wait years and years to make a profit. Real estate promoters must remember that the public is not asleep. Offering thousands of dollars in prizes is as attractive as it looks. But how does it look? It tells investors what they want to know before they investigate.

It's Wonderfully Located!

You get a comprehensive idea of just where Chadwick is located when we tell you that it is in the Twenty-first Ward, fronting on Lincoln Avenue, only a stone's throw from the Lemington Avenue Public School Building, commanding an unobstructed view of Highland Park and the reservoirs. It will be but a step from the beautiful park that the Pennsylvania Railroad Company has offered as an inducement to have the city vacate a street that it will require to complete its route. This park will be 95 acres in extent, located between Chadwick and the Beechwood Boulevard.

Chadwick will be the only desirable vacant property near these picturesque pleasure grounds or within easy access of the magnificent depot of this new road, which is to cross Silver Lake and connect the main line of the Pennsylvania Railway system with the Allegheny Valley Railroad. It is believed that passenger service equal to that on the main line will be thus opened to Chadwick, giving Chadwick the same train service into the city that East Liberty has. This advantage when coupled with the excellent traction service is not to be underestimated.

The cars marked "East Liberty via Center Avenue," passing the property every three minutes, make the run from Chadwick to the city in 32 minutes. Wood Street and Fifth Avenue is the city terminus of these cars. You do not have to get transfers. Get off at the corner of Lincoln and Lemington Avenues and you will be right on the property.

If you get on the Frankstown Avenue line you can get transfer to Lincoln, and on returning to city you can get transfer to any car going either East or West.

Chadwick Annex Lots

Will be Sold During This Sale at

$100 to $650

There will be no lots offered at a higher price than $650. We mean that there will be none offered at a higher price than $650 while this sale lasts. We reserve the right to raise prices on any of the unsold lots.

The Terms Are 10 Per Cent Down.

Balance $5 to $15 a Month.

10 Per Cent Discount for Cash.

EXAMINE THE BEAUTIFUL HOMES!

The minute the investor sees Chadwick Place, with its 20th Century Improvements, he realizes that he is in contact with a proposition that deserves his attention.

The seventy fine residences on the plan are principally vitrified buff brick and German mottled brick. Some are red wire cut re-pressed brick. The very handsome houses on Lemington Avenue (having the advantage of complete sewerage, city water, electric lights and both gases) have large reception halls and all the latest interior and exterior merits.

It's the Real East End!

In thinking about making a purchase in Chadwick Annex you want to consider that it will not be long now until the purchase of vacant property in the East End will become an impossibility. At least there will be none of it offered at prices that anybody except the very wealthy can afford to pay. We are speaking now of what can truthfully be called East End property. Some promoters term anything east "East End." But we do not have to stretch a point to call Chadwick Place East End property. It is not only East End property, but it is the most accessible East End property. It is surrounded by the landmarks which stamp quality upon a community.

The most remarkable thing about Chadwick Annex is the fact that its promoters are willing to sell it at popular prices and upon easy terms. Most owners of large tracts of East End holdings want fancy prices. They know what the future is going to be and usually won't sell unless they can get a premium.

There can be no doubt that the persons who have already purchased and who will buy the rest of Chadwick at this next great sale will get just as large premiums in the next few years as some of the owners of high-class neighboring frontage have already realized. It wouldn't be contrary to precedent if a lot bought today at $300 were to bring in ten years $6,000. Such events in East End and Squirrel Hill real estate are matters of history.

LABOR SHOWING TRUST IN QUAY

EFFECT OF STRIKE'S END

Prominent Men Who Will Address Two Special Rallies Are Expected to Swell Results. Purging Registry Lists.

"Chairman Quay's estimate that Judge Pennypacker will have a majority of 200,000 votes at the coming election you will find to be very nearly correct," said Recorder Brown, chairman of the organization's Pittsburgh city committee, yesterday. Continuing, he said: "The Republicans in the state are gaining every hour and from now on until the election thousands of Democrats will be brought into line for the Republican state ticket.

"The settlement of the coal strike has proven a great boon to the cause of Republicanism, and Judge Pennypacker will gain many votes as the result. There is no cause for alarm in this county. The head of the ticket will win out by a handsome majority.

"Never in the history of state or county campaigns have Republicans been so active, and the enthusiasm shown is evidence of a great Republican majority in Allegheny county. We are getting together our figures and will be in position to tell about the majority Allegheny county will give for the state ticket, in a week from now.

Labor's Confidence in Quay.

"The feeling in the county some days ago warranted some cause for alarm, but since the settlement of the strike the labor vote is realizing the part Chairman Quay had in the settlement, and as a result the candidacy of Judge Pennypacker is growing stronger every day."

Recorder Brown believes the meeting to be held at the Carnegie Music hall, in Schenley park, tomorrow evening, at which Senator Quay and Congressman Dalzell will be the special attractions, will serve much to do towards securing a marked Republican victory in Pittsburgh. The meeting will be preceded by a reception in honor of Messrs. Quay and Dalzell, at the Hotel Schenley. The other speakers announced for the meeting are the Hon. W. B. Wilson, director of the Philadelphia Commercial museum, and James F. Burke.

Recorder Brown is also enthusiastic over the prospects for a great rally in Allegheny next Wednesday night, at which United States Senator Foraker of Ohio, and Attorney General Elkin will speak.

Busy at the Headquarters.

There were some stirring scenes around political headquarters yesterday. At the Citizens quarters in Third avenue, hundreds of workers were gathered and the enthusiasm appeared to be unlimited for the Citizens' county ticket.

The workers all bore an air of confidence and were loud in their predictions of victory at the coming election. The managers expressed opinions that the victory for the Citizens movement this fall would be the most sweeping of any reform movement ever carried on in any county.

Andrew L. Robinson and Charles W. Simon yesterday filed a petition in common pleas court No. 2, asking for a correction of the registry list of the First district of the Fourth ward, Allegheny. It is alleged that J. E. Beemer has included on his books the names of persons not living in the ward and fictitious names, to the number of 200.

UNCLE SAM'S DECISION ABOUT THE TRANSVAAL

Declares that the Boer Country Was Not Subject to Great Britain Until Annexed.

BOSTON, Oct. 22.—A decision by Judge Lowell in the United States district court today is of interest in that the United States government declares that the British government had no authority over the Transvaal in 1900.

The case was that of J. C. Taylor, alleged to have embezzled a sum approximating $10,000 from an Englishman named Hoskins in Johannesburg, in February, 1900. Taylor came to this country soon after that time. He was arrested here a few weeks ago in proceedings begun by the British government, which seeks his extradition.

Judge Lowell today announced that after correspondence with the Washington authorities, he must decide for Taylor in the habeas corpus proceedings and grant him a discharge. In concluding his opinion in the case Judge Lowell says:

"This court is informed by the department of state that there appears to have been no case in which the United States, since the annexation of Porto Rico and the Philippines, has sought or obtained from any government the extradition of a person charged with having committed a crime in Porto Rico or the Philippines before the annexation of those islands. The words 'committed within the jurisdiction,' must receive their natural interpretation, and cannot be held to include acts committed in a place which has been annexed to Great Britain since the act was committed."

SHOOTS INTO CROWD.

Shamokin Saloonist Protects Non-Union Patron from Strikers.

SHAMOKIN, PA., Oct. 22.—(Special.)—In order to capture Shock Einsenhocker in John H. Logan's saloon at Treverton and punish him for doing non-union work occasionally dur ng the strike, a mob of strikers last night asked Long to chase the non-unionist from a rear room of his establishment. Eisenhocker ran upstairs and Long prevented anyone from following.

The mob assembled outside and began firing rocks and clubs at the saloon. Long fired into the strikers. John Meyer dropped with a bullet in his leg. The crowd dispersed.

Farewell to Dr. Barnes.

A farewell reception will be given in the chapel of the Fourth Avenue Baptist church next Monday evening in honor of the Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Lemuel Call Barnes, who leave late that evening for the east, to make their future home in Worcester, Mass.

Monday afternoon in the Oakland Baptist church, a reception will be given by the Rev. Mr. Pritchard, the missionary pastor of the Pittsburgh Baptist association, and his wife, to which all the pastors and their wives in the association are invited, the guests of honor being Dr. and Mrs. Barnes.

Mr. and Mrs. Barnes have made warm friends among the young people of the Fourth Avenue Baptist church, and the Tourists, a social and literary organization of the young people of the church, will meet tomorrow evening at the home of Harvey King, in North Craig street, beyond Center avenue. The Tourists are not accustomed to meet until later in the season, but the first meeting was called for this week in order that Dr. and Mrs. Barnes might be present.

WHEELING GAS CO. MAY SOON BE SOLD

Standard Oil Co. People Deny That $2,550,000 Option Is for Them.

The Wheeling Natural Gas Company of Pittsburgh, in which Senator William Flinn owns a three-fourths interest, is under option to a Pittsburgh broker and may be sold before the end of the week, the reported purchaser being the Standard Oil Company. The broker is reported to have taken his option on the stock at $85 a share, or $2,550,000 in the aggregate. The option was secured on Monday and expires Saturday evening.

The Wheeling Gas Company is one of the heaviest earners of Pittsburgh natural gas concerns. The par value of its stock is $25 a share and 30,000 shares are issued, their par value being $750,000. The terms of the option are understood to provide for the prospective purchaser assuming the bonded indebtedness of the company of $250,000.

The officers of the gas company are William Flinn, president; Addison B. Dally, vice president, and William J. Diehl, secretary. G. T. Braden, president of the Hope Natural Gas Company, an allied concern of the Standard Oil Company, and who is the Pittsburgh representative of the Standard, denied yesterday that the Standard interests are to buy the Wheeling Natural Gas Company. He declared that its purchase has never been considered.

Rumors of a deal in the Wheeling company have been influencing its stock on the market, the price having risen rapidly. Yesterday $81 a share was bid, but none was offered below $80.

INSPECTORS KEPT BUSY.

Capt. George Atkinson Says This Has Been an Off Year.

The United States local steamboat inspectors have had much to do them busy this year, and river men say that they are certainly earning their salaries. Capt. George H. Atkinson, who has been inspector at Pittsburgh for more than 30 years, says he does not remember a year that has given this office as much concern as the present one. The conditions have not only been unusual at Pittsburgh, but over the entire country. He says that the present year is an off one. The inspectors have several cases yet to investigate, and one or two others are expected to be reported within a day or two.

News of the Rivers.

The marks on the gauge at the Davis Island dam at 9 o'clock last night indicated a depth of 3.6 feet and the river was falling.

The steamboat inspectors will today inspect the towboat Pallie.

The towboat W. H. Flint is towing coal out of the pools for the Clyde Coal Company.

J. Frank Tilley, of the Pittsburgh Coal Exchange, spent yesterday in Beaver Falls.

The towboat Tornado, coming up the river with a tow of empties, got as far as Sewickley and laid up because of shoal water.

Jefferson Smoot, who was at Morgantown looking after some work being done by the Monongahela Dredging Company, has returned to Pittsburgh.

The towboat John F. Klein, being built for the Dilworth Coal Company, will be launched from the ways of A. Axton & Son, at Brownsville, Saturday.

The towboat Hunter No. 2 is laid up at the Duquesne wharf, receiving two new sheets in her boilers, which are fire cracked. This is the first time in over eight years that it has been necessary to repair them.

The river steamboats south of Louisville are prosperous in the business of moving cotton at the present time. Whether the crop is larger than usual or not, it is certainly keeping southern river steamboats very busy.

The steamer Gertrude left for Morgantown yesterday with a large trip of freight, it having accumulated during the last few days. This boat will run until the Elizabeth can take her place, and will then go on the docks.

The gasoline boat Hazel B., taken to Vicksburg under arrest, with the Hull family on board from the mouth of the Yazoo river, is still in charge of the sheriff with a $2,000 stock on board. She has a revenue license and plenty of liquor.

Capt. Thomas Ledger and Pilot John Rollins, who were on the towboat Fred Nellis, which had several of the flues of her boiler blown out Sunday morning near Memphis, killing Mrs. Frank Hills and William Phillips, the second engineer, are residents of St. Louis.

Capt. "Lon" Craig has returned from Indiana county, where he has been hunting. The captain bagged 65 squirrels, at least he says he did. Capt. "Lon" Craig is standing watch on the Steel Queen for Capt. Craig, as the latter is attending a law suit of long standing.

Capt. Thomas Axton was in Pittsburgh yesterday conferring with Capt. Isaac B. Keefer, who is going to build a new boat for the Alvin Sand Company. This will be the second boat Capt. Keefer has built for this company in the past year and he thinks there is no place like Brownsville, where Axton & Sons' boat yards are located, to build a first-class boat.

The local steamboat inspectors, Capts. George H. Atkinson and Isaac B. Williams, are very indignant on account of the action of one of the crew of the towboat Valiant, who, while on duty, is said to have shot four times at Capt. Holmes Harger, Jr., a pilot on the towboat M. F. Pfeil. In discussing the affair the inspectors said that it was the duty of the captain of the Valiant to report the shooting to their office.

BROWN RENEWS HIS CHALLENGE

THE PENNYPACKER TOUR

It Takes His Party Through a Section of New York State, but Meetings Are Held at Towanda and Athens, Bradford County.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Athens, Pa., Oct. 22.—Ex-Judge Pennypacker, ex-Senator William M. Brown and one other member of the Republican gubernatorial party put in a strenuous day railroading over 200 miles through New York and Pennsylvania and shaking hands with and addressing big crowds of Bradford county's loyal Republicans in Towanda and Athens. At both places, Towanda in the afternoon and Athens tonight, the residents turned out in force, and from all that could be learned, Bradford county will do its duty, as usual, on November 4.

The gubernatorial party rose with the sun at Bradford, McKean county, and left via the Erie railroad for Towanda. The party was met at Waverly, N. Y., by a delegation of representative country men, including County Chairman J. W. Coddington, Misl E. Lilley, ex-Lieut. Gov. Mercer, Representative F. F. Loman, Senator R. E. Edmiston and L. T. Hoyt, and 83-year-old D. W. Hale, who has been a Republican ever since Fremont ran for president.

After a reception at the Ward house in Towanda, there was a big meeting in the opera house. Judge Pennypacker complimented the Bradford county citizens for their industry, thrift and loyal Republicanism. He reiterated his uncontradicted assertions that the present era of prosperity is due to the Republican party, and contrasted it with the financial depression following Cleveland's election and the addition of the Wilson train bill.

Ex-Senator Brown also made a favorable impression on the voters of the county. Mr. Brown said he had read Mr. Guthrie's reply to his challenge to produce a constitutional senatorial reapportionment bill. Mr. Guthrie, he said, appeared to think that a bill prepared in the session of 1899 by Senator Henry of Philadelphia was constitutional. Continuing, Mr. Brown said:

"I now renew my offer of $1,000 for the benefit of any charity Mr. Guthrie may name if he can produce such a bill. I say to him, if Senator Henry has prepared or can prepare a measure that will stand a constitutional test, it will be an easy task for him to produce it and thereby secure $1,000 for some deserving charity."

Prior to the meeting tonight there was a big reception at the hotel.

The big rink tonight was crowded to the doors. L. T. Hoyt presided and severely criticised the statement made in the same place by Guthrie that Pennsylvania is not even secondary in importance among the states of the nation.

Judge Pennypacker expressed his gratification over the large and enthusiastic audience, which confirmed his belief that he was in the midst of a strong Republican community. All through his remarks the judge made a strong and favorable impression, as did ex-Senator Brown, who vigorously dealt with the misrepresentations by the spellbinders accompanying the Pattison boomers. Watkins G. Powell also spoke, and the meeting closed with hearty cheers for the whole Republican ticket.

The party will arise with the sun tomorrow and make a 6 o'clock start for Montrose, where there will be an afternoon meeting. Tomorrow night Susquehanna county will be entered and the candidates will address a meeting at Tunkhannock.

Senator Penrose will join the party at Montrose.

GOLF COACHES WILL PLAY FOR TROPHY CUP

Thirty-six Holes of Medal Play for Local Professionals on Country Club Course Tomorrow.

Something novel for a local golf district has been arranged by the Country club in a special open tournament for the professional coaches employed by the different golfing organization. Except for special match contests engaging several of the professionals their only opportunity hitherto has been in the annual open event.

Tomorrow at the Country club course, however, 36 holes of medal play competition will be decided with a handsome trophy cup as the prize for the lowest gross score. The cup idea is an innovation, as hitherto the professionals have always played for cash.

The competitors who will take part are Ernest Way of the Pittsburgh Golf club, Nichol Thompson of Edgewood, John Dingwall of the Allegheny Country club, Thomas Smith of Westmoreland, G. D. Keddie of Edgeworth, R. D. Miller of the Brighton Country club and Lionel Walker of the Country club.

MONEY IS WASTED.

Missionaries and Not Government Will Finally Make American Indians Good Citizens.

NEW LONDON, CONN., Oct. 22.—Reports and addresses on missions occupied the attention of the delegates at this morning's session of the convention of the American Missionary association.

In an address on Indian and Alaskan missions the Rev. Dwight M. Pratt, D. D., of Cincinnati, affirmed that the Indian can never be redeemed and uplifted, and fitted for the duties and responsibility of citizenship by the civil government. The vast sums expended by the government for this purpose in the last 50 years, he said, had accomplished little. If the Indian is ever to be educated to citizenship it must be through just such vital and effective work as is done by this association.

DISCUSS CHANGING MISSIONARY CANON

Two Important Topics Taken Up by Convention of Protestant Episcopal Church.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

PHILADELPHIA, PA., Oct. 22.—Two important topics were discussed at today's sessions of the missionary council of the Protestant Episcopal church. The first, which consumed the entire morning session, concerned the desirability of a change in the missionary canon of the church. The principal speakers on this subject were the Rt. Rev. H. Y. Satterlee, bishop of Washington, and the Rt. Rev. L. R. Brewer, bishop of Montana. The second referred to the need for additional mission workers and how to meet it.

Bishop Satterlee, in discussing the first-named subject, advanced many reasons why a change would be beneficial. In his opinion, the restrictions placed upon the missionary council hampered that body in promoting the work for which it was created. New conditions have arisen, said he, and new methods should be devised to meet them.

Bishop Brewer argued against a change, as he believed the organization was satisfactory. A rearrangement would cause confusion and would fail to increase the interest in mission work.

A resolution was adopted requesting the board of managers to appropriate $100,000, to be distributed among the bishops in the south.

Mrs. Hutchinson Again Sued.

Mrs. Margaret Hutchinson of Rebecca avenue, Wilkinsburg, a large property owner, who was sued last week for drunkenness, was yesterday sued by a neighbor. The case will be heard by Burgess Horner tomorrow, when hearing will be given her on a charge of cruelty to one of her children, preferred by Humane Agent W. G. Ewing. Mrs. Hutchinson has been before the burgess a number of times during the month for drunkenness and disorderly conduct.

Meets at Detroit Next.

OMAHA, NEB., Oct. 22.—Detroit was today chosen as the place of meeting for the next convention of the Disciples of Christ. The report of G. A. Hoffman on statistics, showed there are 10,827 churches, a gain of 84, and 8,271 Bible schools, a gain of 269. There are 6,477 ministers, a gain of 94, and 796,699 Sunday school scholars are enrolled, a gain for the year of 22,358. The receipts from all sources were $6,193,967.

ALLURING COFFEE.

Nearly Killed the Nurse.

When one of the family is sick, mother seems to be the only person who can tenderly nurse the patient back to health. But we forget sometimes that it is pretty hard on mother.

Mrs. Propst of Albany, Ore., says: "About 27 months ago, father suffered with a stroke of paralysis, confining him to his bed for months, and as he wished mother with him constantly, his care in a great measure fell to her lot. She was 74 years old, and through constant attendance upon my father, lost both sleep and rest, and began drinking coffee in quantities until finally she became very weak, nervous and ill herself.

"By her physician's order, she began giving father both Postum Food Coffee and Grape-Nuts and in that way began using both herself. The effect was very noticeable. Father improved rapidly, and mother regained her strength and health, and now both are well and strong. Mother says it is all due to the continued use of both Postum and Grape-Nuts."

THE CHILDREN ENJOY

Life out of doors and out of the games which they play and the enjoyment which they receive and the efforts which they make, comes the greater part of that healthful development which is so essential to their happiness when grown. When a laxative is needed the remedy which is given to them to cleanse and sweeten and strengthen the internal organs on which it acts, should be such as physicians would sanction, because its component parts are known to be wholesome and the remedy itself free from every objectionable quality. The one remedy which physicians and parents, well-informed, approve and recommend and which the little ones enjoy, because of its pleasant flavor, its gentle action and its beneficial effects, is—Syrup of Figs—and for the same reason it is the only laxative which should be used by fathers and mothers.

Syrup of Figs is the only remedy which acts gently, pleasantly and naturally without griping, irritating, or nauseating and which cleanses the system effectually, without producing that constipated habit which results from the use of the old-time cathartics and modern imitations, and against which the children should be so carefully guarded. If you would have them grow to manhood and womanhood, strong, healthy and happy, do not give them medicines, when medicines are not needed, and when nature needs assistance in the way of a laxative, give them only the simple, pleasant and gentle—Syrup of Figs.

Its quality is due not only to the excellence of the combination of the laxative principles of plants with pleasant aromatic syrups and juices, but also to our original method of manufacture and as you value the health of the little ones, do not accept any of the substitutes which unscrupulous dealers sometimes offer to increase their profits. The genuine article may be bought anywhere of all reliable druggists at fifty cents per bottle. Please to remember, the full name of the Company—CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO.—is printed on the front of every package. In order to get its beneficial effects it is always necessary to buy the genuine only.

IN HOME COUNTY OF PENNYPACKER

Pattison Invades It, but Meets No Encouragement That He Will Win.

FOR FUSION LAST YEAR

Now the Republicans Are United and There Are No Insurgents. Congressman Wagner Sure of Re-Election in November.

By WALTER J. CHRISTY,
Staff Correspondent.

Norristown, Pa., Oct. 22.—Montgomery, the home county of Judge Pennypacker, will give the Republican nominee for governor a majority. This means that the Republicans will also elect their entire legislative ticket.

Pattison, Guthrie and the other Democratic spellbinders have been storming the county today in the hope of breaking down the strong Republican barrier. While they have been fairly well received, investigation proves that a majority of the voters are not with them.

The Democrats are particularly eager to capture the six votes in the next legislature from this county. They are also trying to defeat the Republican candidate for congressman in the Montgomery-Bucks district. The candidates were disappointed when they reached Pottstown this morning. They had been told that Montgomery was ripe for revolt against the Republican party. As a consequence much enthusiasm was anticipated.

The train rolled into the station and Pattison and Guthrie alighted. There was no reception committee there to welcome them. The candidates had almost reached their hotel before their presence in the town was discovered.

The body of the Pottstown opera house was well filled this afternoon. Speeches were made by Pattison, Guthrie, Charles J. Reilly and Charles E. Ingersoll. The latter lives in Bucks and is the Democratic nominee for congress in this district.

Senator John A. Wentz, the fusion candidate for re-election, told the people of Pottstown that if they give him another term he would continue to vote with the Democrats on all questions at Harrisburg. If Wentz is elected, he will be the first Montgomery senator to succeed himself since the formation of the district in 1874. He is on the Democratic, Ballot Reform and Union tickets.

Algernon B. Roberts is his Republican opponent. He is so strong that the leaders predict he will lead the ticket in the county.

Congressman Irving P. Wanger will succeed himself in this district. Two years ago he had a majority of 5,800, and while it will not be so large this fall, Ingersoll cannot hope to overcome it. Some of the Democrats even say that Ingersoll cannot carry Bucks, his home county.

This county being the home of Pennypacker, the people have known him intimately for years and will support him loyally. In former years there has been a strong insurgent movement in the county. This fall the leaders of that old disturbing element are with the regulars. Pennypacker will speak here Wednesday night, and the meeting promises to be the largest in the history of the county.

The meeting here tonight was well attended. Pattison, W. U. Hensel and J. B. Nolan were the principal speakers. Mr. Guthrie opened the meeting at Lansdale and then went to Ambler. Pattison followed him to both places. Tomorrow the candidates will be in Bucks county.

NORFOLK, VA., Oct. 22.—(Special.)—The Norfolk cotton exchange today adopted a resolution declaring that Castner, Curran & Bullitt, the Norfolk & Western Railway Company, George Taylor & Co. and the Nottingham & Wrenn Company of Norfolk have combined to effect a corner in the price of steam coal in Norfolk and vicinity.

The resolutions call upon the legislature of Virginia and congress to take action to prevent a recurrence of this state of affairs.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

BOSTON, Oct. 22.—In a report upon the accident in which President Roosevelt's body guard, William Craig, was killed and the president and Secretary Cortelyou were injured, at Pittsfield last month, made public today, the board of railroad commissioners find that the responsibility for the accident rests with the motorman of the electric car which ran into the president's carriage.

Euclid Madden was the motorman. His name is not mentioned in the report.

The commissioners find that the car was going at reckless speed, and hold that the management of the street railway was at fault in not establishing rules to regulate the speed of cars at a dangerous point like that at which the accident happened.

The commissioners say that the grade crossing where the collision occurred is one of the worst of its kind, and that the impropriety of the attempt to pass the carriages with the car was apparent. The report says:

"The motorman had good reason to believe that the effort which he was plainly making to reach the Country club before the carriage, met with the approval of passengers including a prominent director of the company."

SANDS PROPERTY IS SOLD AGAIN

Is Located at Osborne Station and Brought About $30,000.

JUTTE SELLS RESIDENCE

Swissvale Lots Bought for $15,600---Records Show that Virgin Alley Widening Is Progressing. Increase in House Building.

The Sands property at Osborne station, on the Pittsburgh, Ft. Wayne & Chicago railroad, has been resold by Samuel W. Black & Co. for a price approximating $30,000. About two weeks ago the property was sold to a local business man for about $27,000, and it was understood that he intended improving it with a handsome residence. The present purchaser is a prominent professional man of the East End, who bought for a home. The Sands homestead is one of the finest residence sites in the Sewickley valley. It includes about nine acres of land, having a frontage of 245 feet on the north side of the Beaver road, and a depth of 1,709 feet. The residence is a 10-room frame dwelling, which will be occupied by the purchaser temporarily, pending the erection of a modern house. On the grounds is a fine orchard and an abundance of shrubbery. The plot lies between the properties of Joseph Lamble and H. W. Bishop, and commands a fine view.

Fifth Avenue House Sold.

W. C. Jutte has disposed of his former residence at No. 5529 Fifth avenue, for $22,000. The property measures 55x120 feet on the north side of Fifth avenue, near Ivy street, Twentieth ward. The lot has erected on it a 12-room colonial brick house, which Mr. Jutte remodeled at an expense of $2,000, when he purposed occupying the property for a home. It is said the property cost Mr. Jutte, with the improvements, about $28,000, so that it is considered a good purchase at the price paid. The buyer is Mrs. Thomas H. Bakewell, who will occupy the place as a home. The deal was made by the Commonwealth Real Estate and Trust Company.

Becoming a Reality.

The W. H. Sklvington Company has sold for Harry M. Gross, eight lots at Swissvale for $15,600. The property lies in both sides of Gordon street, near Swissvale avenue, and the lots have a total frontage of 390 feet, with a depth of 150 feet each. They are part of the George Schmidt plan and adjoin the old Gordon homestead and the J. C. Grubbs residence. The buyer, whose name is withheld for the present, will improve the lots with modern houses.

The deeds were registered yesterday in the transfer of two properties in the Third ward, which show that the proposed Virgin alley widening is no dream, but is being pushed as rapidly as possible. The properties sold belonged to David P. Black and J. Ledlie Gloninger, and were sold through the Real Estate Trust Company to Thomas J. Keenan for a combined consideration of $10,500. Mr. Black's lot measures 30x16 feet and Mr. Gloninger's 15x16 feet, both being situated on the west side of Reineman's court, near Virgin alley. The property formerly belonged to William A. Frisbee and is supposed to have been bought in the interest of some one who is working for the widening proposition.

The Real Estate Trust Company sold for the Anna C. Dunnwoody estate to E. J. Frauenheim the Hotel Benitz at No. 2381 Penn avenue, Twelfth ward, for $9,000. The hotel is a three-story brick structure, standing on a lot 28x100 feet.

A $10,000 brick house is to be built by Dr. C. L. Kennery in Stratford avenue, Twentieth ward. The site was bought a few days ago from George Lappe through Samuel Kelly & Co. for $5,750 and measures 60x100 feet. The residence proposed will be a colonial house containing 12 rooms.

More House Building.

The most encouraging feature of the building situation is the activity that is evident among small builders in erecting houses. Within the last two weeks there has been a noticeable increase in the number of houses proposed by individual owners who are preparing to build either for homes or rent. The constant and increasing demand for six and eight-room houses, all over the city, as winter approaches, and the tendency toward a reduction in the cost of building, should call into use a considerable amount of money which has lain idle all summer, although its owners had planned to build in the spring.

Yesterday permits were taken out for nine houses, to cost together $48,500, as follows: C. L. Kennery, brick two-story and attic dwelling, Stratford avenue, near Penn avenue, Twentieth ward, $10,000; James Jones, frame two-story and attic dwelling, Oakwood street, near Elizabeth street, Twenty-third ward, $2,700; David Thomas, two brick dwellings, McDonald street, near Meadow street, Twenty-first ward, $2,000; D. W. Pershing, brick two-story and attic dwelling, Roup street, near Friendship avenue, Twentieth ward, $2,000; A. Wright, brick two-story and attic dwelling, Mathilda street, near Friendship avenue, Sixteenth ward, $5,000; J. F. Elbs, three-story brick dwelling, Arlington avenue, near Washington avenue, Thirty-first ward, $11,000; David Maxwell, brick two-story and attic dwelling, Kedron street, near Dallas avenue, Twenty-first ward, $3,300; N. W. Stern, brick two-story and attic dwelling, Brownsville road, Wachter street, Twenty-seventh ward, $1,500.

BOERS LIKE MEXICO.

Envoys Are Well Received on Their Quest for New Home for Fighting Burghers.

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 22.—Gen. Snyman, late of the Boer army, and Marshal Bond of New York, who are here investigating the suitability of Mexico for the settlement of Boer colonists, are pleased with the reception by the citizens as well as by the government.

They have had an interview with Finance Minister Limantour, and will travel in several states, examining lands.

Almost a Coal Famine.

Through President Roosevelt and Mr. Mitchell they have averted a coal famine. Keystone Commercial Company has so far been able to check an egg famine through their efforts in bringing in large supplies of fresh eggs daily. Grocers will call for prices. 55-59 Carson street.

Purchased by us from Receiver and now sold
at 1/4, 1/3 & 1/2 former Prices

There's no abatement in the crowds attending this sale. More people were here Tuesday than Monday. Still more were here Wednesday. Everybody seems to realize that this is a rare chance to save money, and determined to "make hay while the sun shines." And rightly so, for the prices named at this Bankrupt Sale are far less than wholesale. Thus, while this sale lasts, OUR CUSTOMERS CAN BUY GOODS AT LOWER PRICES THAN THE DEALERS. As a matter of fact, we could easily have disposed of the entire Patterson stock to the storekeepers FOR MORE MONEY than we are selling it for now at retail. But as we always give our customers the benefit of our fortunate purchases, we refused all offers from the dealers.

CIVIC LEAGUE'S FIRST BULLETIN

County Candidates Are Discussed in Brief and Pointed Manner.

THE FITNESS FOR OFFICE

Qualifications of Each, Regardless of Party, Is Set Forth in a Pamphlet Issued for the Information of the Public.

The Voters' Civic league of Allegheny county yesterday issued its first bulletin concerning candidates for county offices. This bulletin contains brief comments upon each candidate, some of them rather sharp and pointed.

It is issued in pamphlet form, and the foreword states that it is in conformity with one of the league's cardinal principles; namely, that the citizens of a community should be fully informed of the records of candidates for public office. It is also announced that non-partisanship has been rigorously observed in preparing this bulletin and that nothing has been stated but what can be verified.

The officers of the Voters' Civic league are as follows: S. W. Childs, president; H. D. W. English, first vice president; W. H. Nimick, second vice president; Edwin Z. Smith, treasurer; Curtis M. Willock, secretary; executive committee, Henry C. Fownes, A. Leo Weil, W. H. Nimick, H. D. W. English, J. Ramsey Speer, D. H. Geissinger, D. D., Edwin Z. Smith, George R. Wallace, E. P. Nevin, Jr., S. W. Childs.

This first bulletin is devoted exclusively to candidates for county offices. Later bulletins will deal with the legislative, state and congressional tickets. The comments upon the county candidates are as follows:

For Judge of Common Court No 1.

Edwin H. Stowe (Republican)—The general opinion of the bar is that he is well equipped and thoroughly qualified in legal attainments; but a disposition to take an impatient, arbitrary, and often inconsiderate attitude in the hearing of cases (which has increased of late years and is becoming more and more manifest) impairs his usefulness and not infrequently hinders the proper administration of justice. He has always been regarded as a fearless judge.

Judge Stowe, assisted by Judge Marshall Brown, presided at the liquor license court of 1901, which began its sessions on March 18 of that year. On April 1, 1901, the list of retail licenses granted and refused was handed down by the court and published in the daily press; and, on April 8, the list of wholesale licenses granted and refused was handed down and published.

Among those refused were seventeen (17) applicants for retail and three (3) for wholesale licenses. These same applicants on the docket were found subsequently with the word "refused" and the word "granted" written underneath.

In the liquor license court of 1902, presided over by Judge Frazier of common pleas court No. 2, assisted by Judge Rodgers, all these licenses were with one exception again applicants; and upon their examination in court, the following facts were brought out:

That these applicants had been originally represented before the court of 1901 by various attorneys; that their applications were in the first instance handed down as refused and so published; that, after being refused, they had, in most cases, employed other counsel, by whom they were afterward represented; that then, without any rehearing so far as the applicants knew, the licenses were granted a few days later.

The foregoing statement of facts are obtained from the files, minutes, records and papers of the license courts of 1901 and 1902, and from the testimony in court of the applicants themselves.

James R. Macfarlane (Democrat-Citizens)—The general opinion of the bar as to his legal qualifications is unfavorable. He is a man of courteous and genial temperament, but is not regarded as a careful student of the law.

Jacob J. Miller (Democrat-Citizens)—The general opinion of the bar is that he possesses the requisite legal knowledge, the courtesy and the patience necessary to make an acceptable judge. His standing at the bar is good and his career has been creditable.

For County Treasurer.

George W. Foster (Republican)—He has been unsuccessful in his private business; but has had a long experience as cashier in the treasurer's office, and should be familiar with its business. He has been faithful in his attendance to the duties of his office.

When asked as to the report that he was pledged to reappoint Samuel Conner as delinquent tax collector, he replied:

To the Voters' Civic League, Pittsburgh, Pa.:

Gentlemen—I wish to state that the report that I am pledged to reappoint Samuel Conner as collector of delinquent taxes, in case of my election as county treasurer is false. I am under no pledge, promise or understanding to continue Mr. Conner in this office. I shall not consider the matter of appointees in the treasurer's office before election.

(Signed) G. W. FOSTER.

David F. Collingwood (Democrat-Citizens)—Has been successful in his business activities and stands well among his business associates. He has for many years been an efficient worker on behalf of good government.

For Register of Wills and Ex-Officio Clerk of Orphans' Court.

Frederick W. Edwards (Republican)—Has conducted his office in a satisfactory manner; and, with the exception of campaign periods, can always be found in his office. His office force is efficient, and he has made but few changes in it during his term. On the other hand, he permitted Archibald Mackrell to hold the position of deputy register and draw the salary of $200 a month, although Mackrell was rarely in the office, and when there gave little or no attention to the duties of his position. Many of the duties of this office (as, for example, hearings in the case of contested wills) require a legal training; but Mr. Edwards has done well in this branch of his duties.

The receipts of the register's office in 1901 exceeded the receipts in 1896 by.....$10,402 46

The expenses of the register's office in 1901 exceeded the expenses in 1896 by..... 10,570 00

George H. Stengel (Democrat-Citizens)—Stands favorably in the opinion of the bar, and is well equipped to perform those duties of this office which require a legal training. During his term as a member of the common council of the city of Pittsburgh, he stood openly for clean and honest government; and he has always been actively connected with those who oppose dishonesty and extravagance in public office. He is a man of sturdy honesty, aggressive, able and energetic.

For Recorder of Deeds.

George M. Von Bonnhorst (Republican)—Is now seeking the office of recorder of deeds for the fifth time. His connection with the city and county machines is notorious. His attention is devoted to the political ambitions of his associates as well as his own; and his lack of attention to the details of his office is such as to cause frequent comment. His administration of his office is extravagant, as the appended figures will show. His conduct of it is not only extravagant, but has been severely criticised by the members of the bar for the want of system and laxity of discipline that prevails.

The receipts of this office in 1901 exceeded the receipts of 1896 by.....$26,734 25

The expenses of this office in 1901 exceeded the expenses of 1896 by..... 26,457 30

Much improvement in this office could be made by careful and business-like management.

Joseph Denny O'Neil (Democrat-Citizens)—Has been very successful in business and stands well among his business associates. Has been actively engaged in politics for a number of years, and has never been known to sanction dishonest or dishonorable practices. He has given assurance that, if elected, this office will be conducted on business principles, and that he will consult the wishes of the bar in regard to bettering and modernizing the system of records.

For Sheriff.

Archibald Mackrell (Republican)—He is a firm adherent of the Allegheny county machine and has been successively rewarded with one office after another. His present candidacy is the result of the same influence. Has no particular fitness for public office. During past years he has devoted so much of his time to political activity that he has been unable to give full attention to the public service. Was appointed deputy register of Allegheny county in the spring of 1901; and, although drawing the salary of that position ($200 per month) from that time until he resigned in September, 1902, he gave little or no attention to the duties of the position, and but seldom appeared in his office.

Although there are some efficient men employed in the office of the sheriff, its conduct has for years been marked by unbusiness-like methods; and there is urgent need of an officer who will give his undivided attention to improving its administration.

James M. Fahnestock (Democrat-Citizens)—Has been fairly successful in the several lines of business in which he is engaged, and is well thought of by those with whom he has had business dealings.

For Clerk of Courts.

Richard M. Kopp (Republican)—Has been extremely indifferent to the duties of the public offices to which he has been elected in the past, having been very irregular in his attendance at the meetings of the state legislature and of the Allegheny city councils while a member of those bodies. He is personally honest, but looks principally upon the political side of office holding, and, judging from his past record, could not be depended upon to give his personal attention to the duties of this office.

Francis X. Barr (Democrat-Citizens)—He was associated for six years in the practice of his profession with Willis F. McCook, Esq. He gave up the law to assist in the management of the Pittsburgh Post, a property in which he is financially interested. His standing in the business world is high. He is a man of good character and habits and unimpeachable integrity.

For County Controller.

William Emery Thompson (Republican)—During the five years that he has held his office of controller, Mr. Thompson has done nothing effective to check the extravagant pay rolls passing under his supervision. He is a member of the salary board; he is required to approve or disapprove the vouchers for these expenditures, and has the power to investigate the facts in connection with them. There have been many flagrant cases of county employes receiving pay for little service rendered; notably various cases in the county treasurer's office, where in different instances men have drawn full salary for working an hour or two a day.

Robert J. Cunningham (Democrat-Citizens)—Has been successful in business, and is of the strictest integrity. His term of seven years in the Sewickley councils, of which he has been president for several years, has shown that he has a careful regard for the requirements and duties of public office. He has taken an active and efficient part in the work of the improvement of the borough, and his efforts were marked by a close attention to the details of his office.

For County Commissioners.

J. Carson Mercer, W. W. Murray and James A. Clark compose the present board of commissioners (having served the number of years, respectively, noted above), and are therefore candidates for re-election. Their principal official duties are the following:

1. They are three of the five members of the salary board of the county, which passes upon the requests of the county officers for additional clerks and assistants.

2. They constitute the board of final revision in the triennial assessment of property for the purpose of county taxation, and they fix the final annual tax rate.

3. They have control of the expenditure of money for county purposes.

4. They have charge of the lists of registered voters.

Of their past performances, as a board, of these duties, it can be stated:

That during the past few years the number of county employes and the aggregate amount of their salaries have increased beyond all reason and out of all proportion to the demands of the county business. The county tax rate has been decreased until it is now 1½ mills, a rate lower than prevails in any other county in the state. On the other hand, property in this county is valued for taxation at an average of not less than 80 per cent of its real value, while in other counties the valuation percentage is much lower. The system of assessment is not scientific and is deficient in that different standards prevail in different sections; and the properties of some favored parties are valued at figures relatively much too low.

The roads built by the county, under what is known as the Flinn road law have in many instances been badly constructed at exorbitant figures, requiring constant and extraordinary repairs.

The books containing the lists of registered voters are public records and should be open to the inspection of every citizen. Yet the Republican members of the board of commissioners have frequently hindered and delayed their use by members and agents of the political organizations other than their own.

As to the personality of the three candidates for re-election:

John Carson Mercer (Republican)—Stands well in the community, and, while not a man of education or quick intelligence, is careful, conservative and honest. His intentions are good, and his activity in politics is not so great as to materially interfere with his services to the public.

William W. Berry Murray (Republican)—Is a man of activity, intelligence and business capacity, and his long term of service in the commissioners' office as employe and as commissioner has given him a wide and valuable experience in his duties. He is closely and actively identified with the party whose candidate he is, and favors political friends in the administration of his office to the disadvantage of the public service.

James A. Clark (Democrat-Citizens)—Is, politically, the minority member of the present board, and cannot be held responsible for such of its acts as have shown undue political bias or influence. He has been for years an office seeker. Until his election as commissioner he had little experience with large business affairs, and has not since shown any marked aptitude for the duties of his office.

James Evans (Democrat-Citizens)—A man of ability and integrity. He has been eminently successful in the real estate and banking business. While not holding public office, he has always taken an active interest in matters pertaining to the improvement and prosperity of his home city, McKeesport. The combination of his legal and business experience has prepared him for the successful handling of the important and involved legal and financial questions that must be considered and decided by the county commissioners. He is widely known in the county as a clean, honest and trustworthy man.

WRECKERS FOR THE WABASH ARE FAST CHANGING THE APPEARANCE OF THINGS IN THE POINT DISTRICT.

This illustration shows how the way is being cleared in Fourth avenue for the new passenger station of the Wabash. The building that has been torn down stood next to No. 1 engine house. At about the point where the steps are shown in the picture will be the carriage entrance to the new passenger station. Fourth avenue at this point will be bridged over for the accommodation of the Wabash's train shed. The dog, which occupies the center of the stage in the group of firemen, is one of the cleverest firemen's dogs to be found anywhere in the country.

IN EVERY NOOK AND CORNER ARE ORATORS

All Parties are Holding Rallies and Rousing Voters' Political Enthusiasm.

Voters in every quarter of Allegheny county are attending the various political meetings which are being held nightly. Hundreds were at the Citizens rallies last night. The meeting in Schultz' pavilion, Mifflin township, was very largely attended. J. W. Brown, candidate for congress, was one of the speakers.

At the old Wylie schoolhouse, Chartiers, and at Fair Haven the meetings were well attended and at the Citizens meeting at Rankin the town hall was filled. H. Kirke Porter, candidate for congress addressed an enthusiastic meeting in Turner hall, Sixth ward. At the A. M. E. church, Sewickley, a meeting of colored voters was held and much enthusiasm was shown.

The meetings in Library hall, Allegheny, and at Grand Army hall, Arlington avenue, were rousing ones, while quite a crowd attended the Shaler township Citizens rally.

Citizens party meetings are scheduled for this evening as follows: North End school, Meyran avenue, Allegheny; Crafton, Lawson's hall; Turner hall, South Thirteenth street; Fourth ward school, Pittsburgh; National garden, Sharon street, Twenty-seventh ward; Commercial hall, No. 115 Fulton street, Pittsburgh; Ben Avon hall, Ben Avon.

There was a well attended Democratic mass meeting last night in Marquette hall, Second avenue, Twenty-third ward. Hibernian hall, Wylie avenue, Fifth ward, was also well filled with Democratic voters last night. Two Democratic mass meetings will be held this evening in the Soho school, Fourteenth ward, and at the National garden, Twenty-seventh ward.

Machine meetings were held last night at Pitcairn; at the Turner hall, Thirteenth ward, Allegheny; Y. M. C. A. hall, Sharpsburg; Turner hall, Thirty-first ward; Osborne public school; in the Ninth ward, Allegheny; and at Springfield school, and the Sherman Avenue school, Allegheny. Among the speakers at the gatherings were Dr. A. J. Barchfeld, James Francis Burke and William H. Graham, candidates for congress.

The machine men have arranged for a meeting in Lawrenceville next Tuesday night. Kearns' hall will be used. The meeting will be preceded by a parade.

ALL THE ARBITRATORS ACCEPT APPOINTMENTS

There Will Be No Absentees at First Meeting of Strike Board Tomorrow.

Having summoned the members of the coal strike arbitration commission to meet here Friday morning, President Roosevelt's desire is to have the work begun and concluded as speedily as possible. For this reason he lost no time in summoning the commission and fixed the date of the first meeting, so as to allow only time enough for the commissioners to get to Washington.

Acceptances have been received by the president from all the members of the commission. Each one has indicated his intention of being present at the preliminary session. The first meeting will be devoted entirely to organization.

It is the consensus of opinion in official circles that Judge Gray will be chosen chairman. The mention of Gen. Wilson's name first on the commission when it was appointed, is said not to indicate the president's choice for chairman. He simply folowed the order indicated by the operators in the proposition.

As soon as the organization is perfected and the official call paid to the president, the demands of the miners and the contention of the operators undoubtedly will be filed with it in writing. President Mitchell announced before the miners' convention that he would lay their case before the commission.

In his report to the president on the present strike Commissioner Wright said there are more difficult questions involved and more sides to the controversy than he had ever met in his many years of experience in investigating labor troubles.

The first meeting of the commission Friday morning probably will be held in the office of Carroll D. Wright, commissioner of labor.

CHARLES W. METZGAR.

Many Want to be Inspectors.

The judges of the common pleas courts of this county have received applications from 39 men who wish to be appointed to the two places in the board of prison inspectors, made vacant by the deaths of George A. Kelly and Charles F. Nevin. Capt. E. S. Wright, former warden of the Western penitentiary, is one of the applicants.

STRIKERS REFUSED FORMER POSITIONS

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

SHAMOKIN, PA., Oct. 22.—Between 100 and 200 strikers in this region reported for duty at the mines this morning and began repairing the interior workings. All miners have been told by their leaders to report for work tomorrow, but superintendents say that not more than one half of the collieries in this vicinity will resume, on account of the condition of the mines.

Foremen hope to clear the gangways from gas and falls so that 60 per cent of the employes of each colliery will be preparing coal by Saturday.

Twenty stablemen, engineers and firemen, who have been on strike, asked for work at the Burnside, a Reading colliery this morning, and were refused their old positions. The foreman told them the imported men, who worked during the suspension, would not be discharged. The strikers carried their grievance to Secretary W. Hartlein of the Ninth mine workers' district, who told them the matter would be presented to the arbitration committee.

Superintendents say that no fire bosses who struck will get back their positions. The officials claim the men deserted places of trust.

Historic Old Monocacy Condemned.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 22.—The navy department has condemned and will sell the old gunboat Monocacy, which for so many years has been on duty in Chinese waters. She was built in Baltimore in 1865. The Monocacy was the only vessel struck in the attack of the allied fleet of the powers on the Chinese forts at Taku in the spring of 1900.

WOULD BANISH THE CAPITOL BAR

Pittsburgh Presbyterians Are Working in Interest of McCumber Bill.

A CAMPAIGN OUTLINED

President Roosevelt Will Be Appealed to in Behalf of the Measure—Local Men Are Leaders in the Fight.

The Presbyterians of Pittsburgh are making a determined effort to effect the passage of the McCumber liquor bill in the next congress. At the meeting of the Pittsburgh synod, which adjourned on Monday, a resolution was unanimously adopted indorsing this bill, and it was resolved that all proper influences should be brought to bear to have the members of congress vote for it. The permanent committee on temperance of the general assembly, whose headquarters are in Pittsburgh, is leading the movement.

The bill provides that "no intoxicating liquors be sold in any building owned or occupied by the United States government or on any grounds owned by same" and will be presented by its author, Senator Peter J. McCumber of North Dakota. If this bill is passed that much vexed problem, the canteen, will be settled. It will also mean that that important adjunct to the capitol at Washington, the restaurant, will be done away with. For the restaurant of today in Washington must have a liquor license to be successfully operated, and the members of congress and their friends who have hitherto enjoyed their meals, between meetings in that famous place, would be compelled to go elsewhere.

A delegation of the permanent committee on temperance will plead their cause before the congressional committee, having this bill in charge. The delegation will likely be composed of the Rev. John F. Hill of Canonsburg, William C. Lilley of Pittsburgh and C. L. Rose of Allegheny. In the meantime the Presbyterian clergy will visit all the congressmen and both senators from this state and request them to support and vote for the bill. In all the pulpits this subject will be discussed and the question thoroughly advertised. The third Sunday in November has been set aside by the synod as a general temperance day.

So far but few members of congress have been approached and those that have been are holding the matter under advisement and will not commit themselves at this time. Thus far no strong opposition to the bill has been heard of. So that when congress meets in December the McCumber bill will, in all probability, have a legion of warm adherents, both in congress and out.

President Roosevelt will also be approached and requested to lend his influence toward the passage of the bill. The permanent committee on temperance petitioned the president not to allow the St. Louis exposition to be open to the public on Sunday and the order was issued prohibiting visitors to that place on the Sabbath. Whether or not President Roosevelt will support the McCumber bill is impossible to determine.

POLICE TAILOR IS THE LATEST DESIRE

The salary revision committee of Pittsburgh councils held a three-hour session yesterday, at which Director Leslie and his principal lieutenants, Supt. McAleese and Fire Chief Humphreys, were heard.

Director Leslie was catechised for two hours and went into details of the duties of nearly every clerk, police inspector, captain, lieutenant and patrolman on the force, the painters, carpenters, machinists, horse doctors, and even the gray-backed policemen of the Western Pennsylvania Patrol Company.

Reference was made to three ordnances, one to increase the police bureau by adding three captains, five lieutenants and 35 patrolmen; one to increase the salaries of detectives from $1,200 a year to $1,500, and one to increase all policemen, the captains from $100 a month to $150; lieutenants $3 a day to $3.09 a day; sergeants, $2.75 a day to $3.30; patrolmen, $2.50 a day to $3, and subs from $80 a month to $70 a month.

Director Leslie took the ground that an increased wage would insure better men. The United States census reports show that Pittsburgh pays less, relatively, to policemen than any city in the country. In some cities clothes are bought for the men, whereas here they are given only a mace, badge and key. Clothes cost them about $100, and barring rough usage, should last two years. He said detectives "are born, not made," and that it requires time to determine the fitness for one of that class. He knew of no "graft" among policemen, and said the officer on the beat had as good an opportunity to get it as any superior. If he knew of any grafting the offender would be dismissed, regardless of his position.

Supt. McAleese also said he knew of no "graft," but thought it easy to get if any policeman wanted to risk it. His eyes snapped as he said the offender in that line would go in a hurry. He thought the city should buy the clothes of the men to insure uniformity in color and cloth, and that there ought to be a tailor on the pay roll to make the clothes and keep them in repair. The well-appearing policeman is a credit to the town. Chief Humphreys told of the duties of some of the superintendents, mechanics and other special men in his bureau, and declared they were all kept busy with the work assigned them.

20,000,000 Days Lost in Strike.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 22.—The annual volume of the mineral resources of the United States for 1901, prepared by Dr. David T. Day, of the geological survey, has been sent to press. Statistics show the number of working days lost in strikes in the coal industry the present year to date. The number of days lost is placed at 20,000,000, compared with 783,802 days in 1901, 4,878,102 in 1900, and 2,124,154 in 1899.

Revival in North Braddock.

The Rev. George D. Watson is holding an old-time Methodist revival service in Wesley chapel, North Braddock. He will preach every evening this week and hold an all-day service on Sunday. Dr. Watson will have the assistance of the Rev. J. T. Morgan and wife, Pentecost workers from Indianapolis, and other workers. The Rev. E. M. Sundys will have charge of the meeting.

Some Handsome Oriental Rugs About One-Third Under Our Low Prices.

There are many fine Rugs still left in the Orient that it has taken time to bring to completion, notwithstanding Western greed is fast penetrating the Rug districts of the East and introducing Yankee tricks. Splendid specimens are to be had by those who know where to go for them, and that is the greatest point in collecting Oriental beauties.

Our stock is distinctive, unusual and distinguished—rivaled only by two or three other collections in the whole country, none of them in Pennsylvania. Our representative travels through Asia each year, knowing just where to lay hands on the best specimens of these Eastern goods, and thus we have the rare and the exclusive.

Another thing, and one that is of the utmost importance, is the fact that, dealing direct with the Asiatic Rug weavers, and understanding their manners and customs, we buy their products for very much less than anyone could who goes among them a stranger.

From our large variety we have taken the following fine Rugs and put a reduced price on them. They can be used either for the library, living room or reception hall. They came from the Ushak district of Asia Minor, are every thread pure wool, the dyes are of the best vegetable variety, and everything about them is exactly as anyone would wish who has determined to invest in a fine Rug from the Orient.

No. 3008—Kirman Rug, made in Ushak, red grounds with green border — size 11.9x9.1 feet—former price $145, now $96.

No. 3008—Kirman Rug, made in Ushak, red ground with green border—size 13.6x10.7—former price $225, now $150.

No. 3007—Kirman Rug, made in Ushak, medallion green ground, red border—size 11.10x8 feet—former price $145, now $96.

No. 3522—Kirman Rug, made in Ushak, green ground covered design—yellow, red and blue—size 10.5x8 feet—former price $136, now $90.

Men's Wardrobe Trunks.

When in service, the Trunk stands on end and the top is arranged to hold six full suits of clothes without wrinkling a suit, there being six hangers for that purpose. Two or three umbrellas can also be placed in the top.

Of course, opening on the end, this compartment is on the right, while on the left are six drawers, several of them neatly sub-divided for holding—well, one for collars, cuffs, neckties and handkerchiefs, another for a couple dozen shirts, and a third for silk hat and shoes, a fourth for three suits of underwear and in the fifth can go several extra pair of trousers, while the sixth is a receptacle for soiled linen.

This Trunk is not nearly so big as the old-style Saratoga, and as for being strong, it will try the patience of the most expert baggage smasher.

Plain Broadcloths.

Handsome Imported Tailor Broadcloths, the color assortment numbering several hundred tints for evening and street wear—a color range we believe to be without an equal anywhere else.

Broadcloths, as you know, are in higher favor this season than for many seasons past. It is a delightful cloth, handsome and effective of style when correctly made up into the evening or street gown and there are very few cloths that can stand alongside of it.

And here, again, we have to mention the great 50c sale of dependable Dress Goods. Fifty cents a yard is little enough to pay for Dress Goods when they are worth no more than the half dollar a yard; but when it comes to buying Dress Goods that have had respectively 15c, 25c, 35c a yard taken from former prices the half dollar becomes still smaller.

Also Fancy Mohairs, all wool Plaids and Dress Cheviots

Delicious Candy.

The special little Candy table at the entrance to elevators on main floor had to give way to other goods, and unless you go to the department rear of main aisle for your candies you will have to wait until you get to the sixth floor. Today at entrance to the Restaurant you will find a table which will contain such candies as

Rubber Sponges.

40c to $2.75—According to what they weigh.

Rubber is a queer composition for a sponge, and singular as it may seem, it possesses all the virtues of sponges that grow in the seas, and some they don't have.

Sea Sponges are not so full of friction, they are not antiseptic and you can't prevent them from getting clammy.

Millinery Reduced—and Yet So Early in the Season!

Certainly. Why not? Isn't an early reduction just as appreciable as a late one? And don't for a moment imagine this reduction is made to enhance rapid selling. Not a bit of it. We have just about the largest trade in this great department of the third floor that we can conveniently attend to, but there are quite a number of comely Hats, exquisite little Toques and refined Bonnets that it is desirable to get into new hands—therefore we simply lop off a considerable portion of the selling price and ask women to come and buy them at the following reductions:

At $2 each from $3.50; at $3.50 from $5; at $5 from $7; at $7 from $10; at $10 from $12.50 and $14.

You will have nothing whatever to fear from the trimming of this Millinery—each Hat, Toque and Bonnet is as becoming as any lady of taste could wish for.

Outing and Promenade Hats, ready for use at $3.50 from $5; at $5 from $7.50; at $7.50 from $10. These are new Quill and Wing trimmed stiff Hats.

Our imported Hats and Toques range in price from $22 up to $65. They are very exclusive—not one of our creations is shown elsewhere—no duplicates in the collection. The most splendid exhibit of Paris Hats we ever personally selected and brought to Pittsburg.

The Charming Corset—La Fleur.

The beauty of this Corset has been recognized, and today the laudations it receives cannot be numbered.

It is the finest specimen of the thoroughly perfect Corset that has been produced, and the genius who drew the design is deserving of the heartiest of feminine thanks. We congratulate ourselves that we accepted the sole agency for Greater Pittsburg. We did so after careful study of the merits of La Fleur, and we find our choice has met with the highest encomiums.

Of course, you understand that it is an uncommon Corset—by that we mean that it is in a class by itself. There are none like it.

New Walking Suits.

If you knew how we are continually hurrying up the makers, how every week or so our buyer has to jump train for New York to get the manufacturer's ear and yell, "When in the name of all goodness do we get that last lot of suits and skirts?"—you would easily understand what rushing business we are doing, and what an exciting time we have in keeping up with the demand. But we keep up, nevertheless. Two new numbers of Walking Suits just in—

SOCIETY

A BEVY of telegraphic messages of congratulation from Pittsburgh friends reached California yesterday at the hour of the wedding of Miss Ruth Leeds Kerr, formerly of Washington, D. C., and John Henry King Burgwin of this city. The wedding took place in the chapel of the navy yard at Mare Island, Cal., at 2 o'clock, which corresponded to the hour of 5 in Pittsburgh. The only members of the two families who were in attendance from the east were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Holland, a sister of the bridegroom. Miss Mary Burgwin, another sister, and the four brothers of the bride, all of whom have now left Washington and are established in the west, one in the navy Paymaster Leeds Clayborne Kerr, who gave his sister away; another who is interested in gold mining, another a newspaper man, and the fourth in business in the west. The remainder of the guests were personal friends of both the bride and the bridegroom throughout the west.

The wedding was a brilliant one and attended by several novel features, owing to the unique surroundings, a naval and military post. The bridal party left the residence of the bride's brother, Leeds Clayborne Kerr, led by two little pages, [illegible]racken, daughter of Com[illegible]ken of the United States [illegible] Bickell Kerr, Jr., a little [illegible]ride, who were dressed in smart sailor suits of blue. Pink ribbon trailed behind them, marking the pathway from the paymaster's house to the chapel, which was decorated handsomely in pink and white. The bride's immediate attendants were Miss Carlyn Shepard of Berkeley, Cal., who was maid of honor, and Miss Alice Bacon and Miss Eleanor E. Phelps, the bridesmaids, Mr. Burgwin's best man was Dr. Harry Sherman of San Francisco, and the ushers were Lieutenant Commander Thomas Griffen, U. S. N.; Paymaster David Potter, U. S. N.; Valt Bakewell of Oakland, and Kenneth C. Kerr of Salt Lake City. The marriage ceremony was performed by the chaplain at the navy yard, the Rev. McAllister.

The bride, who has been a belle in Washington, D. C., several seasons, and is the daughter of the late Hon. John D. Kerr, wore a rich wedding gown of white satin brocade made with a full court train and trimmed with white chiffon and pointe lace. Her veil was fastened with orange blossoms and she carried a shower bouquet of white orchids. The maid of honor wore a gown of white Louisine trimmed with chiffon and renaissance lace, a white chiffon hat, and carried white roses. The other maids were gowned in pink silk mull with pink chiffon hats and carried bouquets of pink roses.

After the ceremony the wedding party returned to the paymaster's residence, where the breakfast was served. Later in the day Mr. Burgwin and his bride started for Southern California, where they will spend a couple of weeks. They will be in Pittsburgh November 8 to take possession of their new house in Coltart square, which Mrs. A. F. Burgwin is now arranging in anticipation of their arrival.

Woman in the World

The story of how equal suffrage came to be an established fact in Colorado is an interesting one, and involves the names of the most prominent women of the state. When Colorado was admitted as a state there was a provision in the constitution giving power to the general assembly to extend the suffrage to women, such action to take effect only when approved by a majority of voters at a general election. At that time the subject was agitated, but the vote, at the general election, was more than two to one against the equal suffragists. In November, 1893, it was again tried, and thanks to the work of the Suffrage association, and the fact that Colorado had the fairest minded men in the world, the amendment was carried by some 6,000 votes, and in December Gov. D. H. Waite, the famous Populist governor, signed the proclamation.

Woman's Suffrage in Colorado.

The sense of justice and right, indigenous to the west, had much to do with it. Perhaps, too, the political conditions being much unsettled made the men of the state more ready to share the responsibility. However that may be, the responsibility was very thoroughly shared at the first general election after the passage of the bill. The state was in need of redemption from fusion misrule, and the election was hotly contested, the women doing their part. There was a full registration, and 47 per cent of the entire registered vote of the state was cast by women. The result was that Populism was defeated by the women, and the very governor who signed the bill was relegated to the rear. Those were stirring times, and the years have made them not less so.

It is not true that women blindly adopt the political views of their husbands and fathers. Actual figures go to prove that a large number of them—10 per cent in a recent election voted independently, increasing, not doubling, the vote. A wealthy wholesale merchant of Denver can testify to the truth of this statement, as he undertook, in the presence of his wife, to give her politics as well as his own to a canvasser. She was quite equal to the occasion, and her words, "My dear, you were not my sponsor in baptism, neither can you be in my politics," settled the matter for all time.

Among the specially invited guests at the coronation in Westminster abbey was Miss Knudson, the first governess who taught Queen Alexandra to speak English. She came from Copenhagen expressly to witness the coronation of her former pupil. The queen always visits Miss Knudson when she goes to Denmark, and a pretty little story is told of how on one occasion her majesty found the aged lady engaged in putting her room to rights and insisted on taking the duster from her hand and completing the dusting and the arrangement of the room.

There are many signs that the occupation of nursing, which has been so popular with educated girls of late years, is getting rather overdone. Miss Molleti, the matron of the Royal hospital, Southampton, writing in the British Journal of Nursing, attributes the feeling of discouragement about their position which they have been exposed in print during the last few years. She points out that the displeasure which people frequently express, that the nurses keep the patient's friends out of the room, depends very often upon the patient's own entreaty, under the lassitude and irritation of severe suffering. She complains that the lectures addressed to nurses teem with advice to them to propitiate the servants, which she considers should not be necessary if the mistress of the house is really the mistress. Alas! nowadays servants are people who have to be propitiated. After complaining that food and sleep are very often not properly arranged for a nurse, she winds up by saying to the public, "The attitude you are taking with regard to trained nurses, your senseless jealousies, your harshness, your indifference, are gradually squeezing out of the ranks of private nurses exactly those for whom you are clamoring. The sensitive, well-bred woman will not lay herself open to be classed with most undesirable women, and railed at in print." No doubt this is very true.

Sarah Bernhardt, the great actress, who is likewise a writer, a musician, an artist and a sculptor, has been coming out in a new role, that of a lecturer. She has been delivering a lecture at Geneva on "The Theater and Its Influence," reading from large sheets of blue paper, on which the text was inscribed.

Time Sarah entertains no apprehensions with regard to the decline of the dramatic art, which in her opinion, despite the efforts of certain people to lower it, remains "living, vibrating, poetic, enchanting and instructive." The theater she compares to a kaleidoscope, which presents to an attentive public "the cowardice, crimes, vices and daws of mankind, the errors of civilization and the ridiculous side of society, and in this movement of rotation, which shows the evil and its causes, the spectator, after the conclusion of the drama or comedy, often remains conscience-stricken, and will profit by the lesson."

Texas clubs are raising $3,500 a year for educational scholarships. Mississippi clubwomen have fitted up reading and amusement rooms for boys in several towns, and are anxious for a compulsory education law.

Massachusetts women have a committee, appointed by the federated clubs and the Association of College Alumnae, which has for its motto, "The schools for the children, and not the spoilsmen." It aims to secure adequate salaries for teachers, well equipped and sanitary buildings, and rooms not overcrowded. It has an advisory committee of which President Eliot is a member.

Among the Clubs.

One of the new directors of the general federation is Mrs. Samuel H. Hays, wife of the attorney general of Idaho, who did much to secure the traveling library law, and is one of the library commissioners appointed under its provisions.

Club women of Denver, Minneapolis and Cincinnati are all engaged in building club houses. The winter will see the opening of the finest of all women's club houses, the $250,000 edifice which is to house all Boston's feminine clubs. It is on Huntington avenue, near the new Symphony, Horticultural and Chickering halls.

Just before Lord Roberts left for South Africa it will be remembered that he received a curious present in the shape of a bullet-proof shield of aluminum.

This was sent to him by its inventor, a woman. She who patented this very much the reverse of domestic implement is Miss Helen S. Murphy, one of the few women inventors. Her invention is so far a success that it attracted the attention of a foreign government, which has lately been making inquiries as to the supply of a large quantity of these soldiers' chest protectors for its entire army.

Some Clever Inventions.

As might be expected, the larger number of patents taken out by women are for domestic inventions of one kind or another. Some, however, like Miss Murphy, have turned their attention to very different subjects.

A Mrs. Westham has recently patented a new kind of solder for use by metal workers. A woman from Blackpool has devised a novel tent, which is said to be very light, and easily folded and carried.

Metal working is not the sort of occupation one would imagine congenial to women. Mrs. Florence Harrison has shown that the fair sex can excel in such a branch of industry by patenting a process for desulphurizing certain ores.

Mrs. Ames Lynde is another well known instance of a woman iron worker. At her extensive works at Thornham, in Norfolk, were made the beautiful drive gates of Sandringham, and the king has for years taken the keenest interest in her work. Mrs. Ames Lynde not only superintends the work which she has started, but prepares all the designs herself. She has invented many new and unique designs as well as several methods for welding together the separate portions which go to form the elaborate pieces of work turned out at her works. So far has the fame of this novel village industry extended that its head received an order for the royal pavilion at the Paris exhibition of 1900.

A novel and interesting example of laboratory practice along domestic science lines is the experimental housekeeping at Lasell, that pioneer in the field of home making. In a separate building, known as the girls' train in all that pertains to running a house, assuming different roles. The housekeeper pro tem. does the marketing and arranges the menus, acting also as hostess to welcome the daily invited guest. Next she assumes the duties of waitress, drilling in the art of setting the table and serving, caring for the dining room, china closet and silver. As dishwasher she collects and prepares the dishes for washing, takes a daily lesson in cleansing them and learns how to care for the towels. Throughout her course special attention is given to order, system, neatness, economy and daintiness, with constant aim to inspire respect for all work, however menial; to strive to put her best efforts in the running of the house. She must keep her household accounts, too, and study the principles of making a true home, this practice work being supplemented with two courses of lectures on "Science Applied to Housekeeping." The grand dinner at the close of the season prepared by the members of the class, is always an occasion for pride and jollification.

Housekeeping Taught at College.

The custom of devoting less time to dining which has been introduced of late among fashionable folk seems to give general satisfaction. It is said that society is indebted to his Brittanic majesty for this reform. It is his express wish that at houses where he dines the dinner should be served quickly, and never last longer than an hour. As the smart sets of America have long modeled their manners and adopted their usages from the Marlborough house set, the coterie led by Edward VII. when he was prince of Wales, and from a purely fashionable standpoint, the upper crust of England's society life, short dinners have become the fashion. Even the most ceremonious dinners are arranged to be over in an hour.

Long Course Dinner Out of Fashion.

But if it is noticeable that at smart houses the menu is decidedly shorter than it was a year or so ago, it is also true that what they lose in quantity they gain in quality. The cookery today in American houses is noted for its delicacy and perfection, and is as good as can be found in Paris, St. Petersburg or London.

Lovers of pretty centerpieces linger long over the new pieces of malachite-green or coral-pink linen with insets and deep borders of rich Irish crochet, for centers for luncheons or suppers. Imagine the joy of decorating a table for a green or pink luncheon with one of these centerpieces! For dinner the white cloth with insets of crochet in the center and corners is correct. A smart white cloth has the monogram or crest in colors. For stag suppers, late suppers and like informal affairs, there are bright colored Indian, Persian, Chinese and Japanese strips, which are used on the polished table top with a low bowl of silver or hammered brass filled with scarlet geraniums, scarlet sage or autumn leaves.

Beaver Candidate Invites Acheson to Debate Contest.

PROPOSAL IS DECLINED

The Congressman Refuses to Discuss in Joint Meetings the History of the Nomination Dispute in the Twenty-fourth District.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

"Beaver, Pa., Oct. 20, 1902.

"Hon. Ernest F. Acheson, Washington, Pa.

"My dear sir—The court of Dauphin county, Pennsylvania, after a full and fair hearing and argument, has declared your alleged certificate of nomination as the Republican candidate for congress in and for the Twenty-fourth congressional district of Pennsylvania, invalid. This decision leaves the Republican voters of this district without any regularly nominated candidate to vote for at the coming election. I have been credibly informed that you propose to be a candidate regardless of the decision of the court, and that your name will appear upon the official ballot under the title of 'Regular' Beaver county, wherein I reside, is one of the counties constituting the Twenty-fourth congressional district. The Republican voters therein, through their county convention, held May 16, 1902, declared me to be their nominee for congress, and again, on October 18, 1902, through the executive committee of their organization, re-affirmed their action of May 16.

"In obedience, therefore, to the mandates of my party, which with me are always supreme, when they represent honest purposes, honestly expressed, I will be a candidate for election to said office at the election to be held November 4, 1902, and my name will appear on the official ballot in the column entitled 'Citizens.'

"Both of us claim to belong to the Republican organization, and as to party policies or principles no questions could be raised which, as between us, would be debatable.

"The voters of the district, however, have a right to know why we both, being members of the same organization, in this irregular manner solicit their suffrage.

"In order, therefore, that they may have knowledge of conditions necessary to a proper understanding of the issues between us, and thus be enabled to reach an intelligent conclusion before casting their ballot, I most respectfully invite you to appear with me at a series of meetings to be by you arranged throughout the district where we can relate and explain to those who see proper to attend the proceedings within the district and elsewhere in the past year leading up to and causing present conditions, explain our connection therewith, submit our records as to party regularity, and our claims, if any we have, for the indorsement of the voters at the polls. There being but a limited number of days intervening between now and the day of election, a prompt reply is earnestly requested. I shall withhold the publication of this letter until after I shall have heard from you in reply thereto, provided you act promptly. I am, sir, your most obedient servant,

"J. H. CUNNINGHAM."

"Washington, Pa., Oct. 21, 1902.

"James H. Cunningham, Esq.

"Dear sir—Your registered letter of October 20 received. I respectfully decline your proposition. Yours truly,

"ERNEST F. ACHESON."

WASHINGTON COUNTY WORKING FOR ACHESON

Vigorous Campaign Is Being Waged in the Interest of the Congressman.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, PA., Oct. 22.—If any apathy prevailed among the leaders or in the rank and file of the Republican party in Washington county it has disappeared, and the indications are that an aggressive campaign will be waged. Republican workers have entered the present political struggle with a determination which Acheson's friends believe betokens success. Today there were many representative Republican workers from different sections of the county at headquarters who have received instructions as to the educating of the voters in the interests of Acheson for congress, and this campaign has been successfully launched. Friends of the congressman in every part of the county, and many of his opponents at the primaries whose support Cunningham was expected to receive, are working almost night and day to bring about Acheson's election, and the county has been stirred up as it never was before. Acheson's personal popularity is doing much for him, and no effort is being spared to instruct the voters as to the proper manner in which to mark their ballots.

The candidates for office on the Republican ticket in the county held a meeting today and requested John G. Hall, secretary of the county committee, to perform the duties of chairman of the committee to succeed William M. Phillips, whose death occurred last Sunday. They also indorsed the action of Acheson in refusing to make a deal with Cunningham, who stated he would withdraw if Acheson gave him the nomination two years hence. Last night the Republican voters of nearly all the wards in this city held mass meetings and indorsed Acheson's candidacy.

CHURCHILL IS DEFENDED.

West End Street Car Men Resent Strictures of D. A. No. 3.

Division No. 85, Amalgamated Association of Street Railway Employes of America, has adopted resolutions declaring that an unwarranted attack was made upon the character of George J. Churchill, a member and officer of the division, by District Assembly No. 3, Knights of Labor, when the latter organization on October 15 adopted resolutions reflecting on Churchill.

The resolutions adopted by Division No. 85 declare that a fair investigation made by the executive officers of the division shows that the recent turbulence among the West End street car men was encouraged by the executive officers of D. A. No. 3, who misdirected affairs without consulting the larger body of street railway men employed by the Pittsburgh Railways Company, and that the results that have brought about impressed the West End men with the importance of uniting with the body they are now affiliated with, and that they then surrendered their K. of L. charter; and that in taking this action Churchill figured to no greater extent than an individual member.

College Receives Gift.

EASTON, PA., Oct. 22.—(Special.)—Founders Day at Lafayette college was observed today by the dedication of the Pardner hall, the new building for the Y. M. C. A., a gift of James Renwick Young of Philadelphia, alumnus of the college. The presentation address was made by Mr. Hogg. The building is of granite and cost $35,000.

Popular Physician Kills Himself.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 22.—Dr. Frederick Roland Nordman, a popular Baltimore physician, well known here and elsewhere, committed suicide at his home today by shooting himself through the head with a revolver. He had been in a state of melancholy for some time, brought on by protracted illness.

THE W. U. P. TEAM GOT A SURPRISE

The West Virginia Eleven Knows How to Play the Game.

FAST, CLEVER CONTEST

The W. U. P. football team stacked up against the surprise party of the season at the Colosseum yesterday afternoon. The surprise was sprung by the eleven representing the University of West Virginia, who made the local players look like a lot of amateurs and beat them out by a score of 23 to 6.

The game was attended by a fair-sized crowd of rooters, who were largely W. U. P. sympathizers, and they had an assortment of yells which they alone knew. It was a good thing for them that they sprung those yells before the game started, because after things got going they had mighty few chances. To get down to the real truth, the local team was mighty lucky to work in a score and save the disgrace of a shut-out, and their chances of scoring would have been pretty slim had not the visitors weakened their team by putting in subs toward the close of the contest.

Where W. U. P. Was Fooled.

Before the game started there was the usual wrangle about the length of halves. The visitors wanted short ones, as they have a hard game to play with the Marietta college eleven tomorrow, but Capt. Martin of W. U. P., figuring that his players were in better condition than the West Virginians, held out for 30-minute halves and had his way. It only took about ten minutes of playing time to convince Capt. Martin of the error of his way, and he no doubt then wished the playing time was out in half.

The West Virginians started out like a cyclone and the work put up was the prettiest team display of the season. There was not a man in the whole bunch who was not fast on his feet, and the way they went at the local eleven was simply a wonder. They pounded the center, went through the tackles, dashed around the ends; in fact, they did pretty much as they pleased. Their fast, clever team work took the W. U. P. representatives right off their feet, and they were about as helpless as a lot of children.

An Exciting Five Minutes.

Capt. Martin begged, coaxed, and finally threatened his players in an effort to stop the advances of the West Virginians, but it was no use. Not only in offensive but also on the defensive was the visiting team strong, and few indeed were the first downs made by W. U. P. in the first half. The visitors, however, scored a touchdown within five minutes of play, and Washer missed the goal. Then to show the first one was no fluke they pushed the ball down over the other goal line, and this time Washer kicked the goal, making the score 11 to 0 in their favor at the end of the first half.

In that half the West Virginia stars were halfback Smith, who was very fleet of foot and made a couple of nice runs, and Buck Washer, who played right end. Washer is the baseball pitcher that the Pittsburgh club has a string on, and if he can only pitch baseball as well as he can play football, President Dreyfuss should pull the string right away. Washer was a regular demon in the tackling line and there was hardly a play made that he did not have a hand in.

A pretty bit of work in this half was put up by W. U. P. when it successfully defended its goal with the ball but a few feet from the line. On two occasions the West Virginians had their man over the line, only to see him hurled back by the desperate wearers of the old gold and blue. The struggle lasted for fully five minutes, and the playing was so fierce that the spectators stood up on their chairs and cheered.

Just Saved a Shut Out.

The second half was all West Virginia's until near the close, when the coach foolishly allowed one of his best players to drop out in order to save himself for the Marietta game. The visitors had scored one touchdown in this half and things looked easy, but they were not. It was West Virginia's ball, and it was being pushed down the field in great shape, but the center fumbled on his own 25-yard line and the ball went to W. U. P. Once before W. U. P. had the ball on the 20-yard line, and Kerr tried for a field goal, but failed.

This time the local players were desperate, and urged on by the shouts of their friends they went in to do or die. Slowly but surely did they push the ball down, Martin, Rush and Boyd doing the bulk of the work, and in the midst of the excitement Martin went over the line, carrying about half the West Virginia players, as well as the ball, with him. Rush kicked the goal and W. U. P. saved itself a shutout. The game was presided over by Ed Young of Cornell and J. A. Pierce of Lafayette, whose decisions were never questioned, both being capable officials. The score and line-up:

| West Virginia—23. | | W. U. P.—6. |
|---|---|---|
| Arthur | L. E. | Stroud |
| Cole | L. T. | G. Jackson |
| Core | L. G. | Boyd |

| Pack | Q. B. | Carpenter |
| R. Martin | L. H. | Kerr |
| Smith | R. H. | McCrea |
| Roy | F. B. | J. Martin |

LIGGETT PLAYS KERR FOR CUP.

F. M. Hutchinson Defeated in 37-Hole Match at Sewickley.

In the semi-final match on the Edgeworth course at Sewickley yesterday for the J. S. George cup S. S. Liggett defeated F. M. Hutchinson by 2 up and 1 to play in 37 holes. Hutchinson gave Liggett two strokes of a handicap on the regular 18-hole contest. It was nip and tuck throughout and as they were even at the 18th hole, nine holes more were necessary. Liggett getting one stroke.

This afternoon in the final match for the cup Liggett will meet W. N. Kerr, who defeated Hon. Elliott Rodgers in the semi-final match decided on Tuesday. They play on even terms.

The High School Team Won.

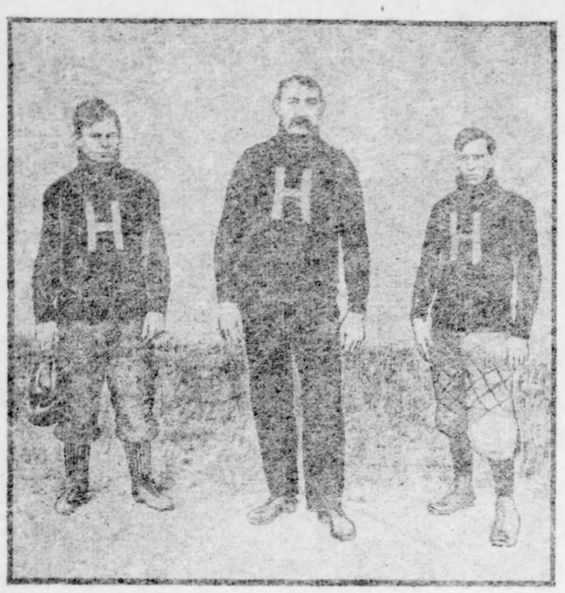
MT. PLEASANT, PA., Oct. 22.—(Special.)—The Institute High school and Alverian football elevens came together this afternoon at Fricke park and the former won 16 to 0. The teams were evenly matched in weight but the visitors did not have any interference and were easy victims for the local players. The line hitting of Globs and Wardley's 60-yard run for a touchdown, were the features.



Capt. Spuhler, Coach Lalus and Manager Patterson of the High School Team.

QUAKERS AGAIN TASTE DEFEAT

This Time It Was the Middies That Walked Off With Game.

CONTEST HARD FOUGHT

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

Annapolis, Md., Oct. 22.—In a hard-fought contest here this afternoon the Naval cadet football eleven defeated the University of Pennsylvania by a score of 10 to 6. Except during a portion of the first half the middies played all around their famous Big Four rivals. The red and blue were never in the hunt and showed that they must improve wonderfully to keep in select company. Their line was woefully weak, and except for some good work by Gardner, Bennett, Fortiner and Richardson, they would have been out-classed throughout.

The navy team played good ball except for a little slowness in getting off their plays. The line did not charge with sufficient force and the backs, as a rule, got off slowly. The Quakers twice tried their famous quarterback kick, but in both instances Smith was too quick for the oposing ends. Strassburger, Soule, Whiting and Carpenter did splendid playing.

Three minutes after Belknap kicked off navy scored their first touchdown on an exchange of kicks, two fumbles by the Red and Blue, a penalty for off-side play and gains by Wilson and McNair. The latter carried the ball over the line, but failed to kick goal. On the next kick-off Pennsylvania, after a series of plays, got the ball near midfield and by steady gains through the line carried it to navy's 10-yard line. A quarterback kick was frustrated by Smith. Belknap attempted to kick out of danger, but the ball went out of bounds, with only slight gain and without a stop the Quakers carried it over navy's line. Gardner kicked a goal.

In the second half Wilson made a touchdown after some fine gains by the backs. In this half the Quakers were completely outplayed and only the call of time prevented the score from being larger. The navy players were carried off the field by their comrades after their victory. Score and line-up:

| Pennsylvania—6. | | Navy—10. |
|---|---|---|
| Richardson-Nelson | L. E. | Whiting |
| Forney | L. T. | Rodgers |
| Hoffman | L. G. | Carpenter |
| McCabe | Center | Frez |
| Pelletier | R. G. | Belknap (Capt.) |
| Dick-Mitchell | R. T. | Schlabach-Olson |
| Metzger | R. E. | Soule |
| Dale | Q. B. | Smith |
| Fortner-Wessner | L. H. | Wilson |
| Gardner (Capt.) | R. H. | Strassberger |
| Marshall | F. B. | McNair |
| Bennett | | |

MANY CHANGES MADE.

Yale's Captain Makes Numerous Shifts in the Team.

NEW HAVEN, CONN., Oct. 22.—(Special.)—As the Yale 'varsity football eleven has been playing behind closed gates all the week there has been no chance to learn just how they have been playing. They met the scrubs in a short practice between the halves of the Yale freshmen-Andover academy contest this afternoon and it was seen that Hogan, the veteran tackle, had been relegated to the second eleven; Kinney, last year's Andover captain, given his position at right tackle; Hamlin, the former tackle, played at guard, and Wilhelmi, the old halfback, played at end rush. It is believed that Capt. Chadwick made these changes last Monday and has keep them quiet ever since. The Yale freshmen tied the Andover academy eleven here this afternoon, 6 to 6. The Andover players scored in five minutes, taking the ball from kick-off and keeping it till they had scored.

In the second half they had the ball at the Yale freshmen's five-yard line, losing it on downs. Capt. Cates of Andover scored another touchdown after a 75-yard run, only to have it disallowed by Umpire Heffelfinger, because an Andover player held a Yale man. The Yale freshmen scored in the last three minutes of play.

BETHANY WANTS GAMES.

Has Fine Eleven and Is Anxious to Meet College Teams.

BETHANY, W. Va., Oct. 22.—(Special.)—Bethany college football team is very anxious for a game with the University of West Virginia, but it seems impossible to arrange it, as no communication can be established with the University manager. Bethany is playing good ball this year, and from the record so far established the team this year bids fair to be the best team in the history of the college.

Coach A. C. Chapman is doing good work in bringing out the raw material that has been dormant for several years, and under his coaching Bethany already has three victories to her credit. This is the first time that Bethany ever defeated Waynesburg, and is an indication of the kind of a game that Bethany is playing. Following is the schedule for games: October 25, Brilliant A. C.; November 1, open; November 8, open; November 10, Ohio university; November 14, Franklin college; November 15, Scio college; November 22, open; November 27, Parkersburg A. C.

HARVARD THE WINNER.

MORRISTOWN, N. J., Oct. 22.—Princeton led Harvard by nine holes to three in the first half of the fina round of the International Golf association today at the Morris County Golf club, but by clever uphill work the team from Cambridge won out finally by 10 points to 6½.

Harvard was chiefly aided by the good work of the two Westminsters, H. C. and W. E. Egan, although the team captain, A. M. Brown, also scored, and W. C. Chick halved his match.

The Pennsylvania Gets a Big Part of the Divided C. S. & H. Road

Official notice of the division of the Columbus, Sandusky & Hocking railroad was issued yesterday. The notice states that the Toledo, Walhonding Valley & Ohio, which is a part of the Pennsylvania system, has acquired that part of the road lying north of Fifth avenue, Columbus, and west of the Cleveland, Akron & Columbus railroad crossing near Columbus. The Zanesville & Western receives all the property lying east and south of Thurston, O., and three miles lying east of the Cleveland, Akron & Columbus crossing near Columbus.

Although not mentioned in the notice, the Hocking Valley receives that part of the line lying between Columbus and Thurston. The division is largely a Pennsylvania plan. The Zanesville & Western, while nominally independent, is believed to be in effect a Baltimore & Ohio property, or soon will be. The Hocking Valley is a Morgan road and receives about 30 miles in the division.

Until October 31 the road will continue to be operated as an entirety by Joseph Robinson, the old receiver, who acts now as agent for the new purchasers. After that time the Pennsylvania will operate its portion as a part of the Toledo division. The Zanesville & Western is to take over all the books and accounts and close up the Columbus, Sandusky & Hocking's tumultuous career.

Thomas M. King With L. F. Loree.

President L. F. Loree, of the Baltimore & Ohio, spent a few hours in this city yesterday after a trip to Cleveland. He was accompanied from Cleveland by Col. Thomas M. King, former president and receiver of the Pittsburgh & Western. "There have been many changes in the Pittsburgh & Western since my time," said Mr. King yesterday. "The road has plenty of money now and that is what was needed to make it a fine railroad property." With Mr. Loree were General Superintendent L. G. Haas, Robert Finney, general agent, and H. N. Donaldson, assistant general agent at Pittsburgh, with Paul Didier, assistant chief engineer in charge of the Pittsburgh & Western lines.

President Cassatt Here Next Week.

President Cassatt, with the directors and a number of officials of the Pennsylvania railroad, will be in Pittsburgh next Monday evening or Tuesday morning. The annual inspection of the lines of the company is to be made. The party of Pennsylvania railroad superintendents, under J. T. Richards, engineer of maintenance of way, who arrived here Tuesday, returned to Philadelphia yesterday.

AFTER THEATRICAL BUSINESS.

B. & O. Will Start Saturday Night a Late Cincinnati Express.

The Baltimore & Ohio is to start next Saturday night a regular Saturday night service between Pittsburgh and Cincinnati. This is the theatrical service which several months ago met with such opposition from the Pennsylvania that it was suspended for the time. This opposition will undoubtedly be revived and the Pennsylvania may come back by meeting the differential which the Baltimore & Ohio now enjoys on Pittsburgh-Cincinnati business.

A new vestibuled train will be put on, leaving Pittsburgh at 11.50 p. m. and stopping at the principal stations. It will run only Saturday nights. From Pittsburgh to Cincinnati is the usual jump of westbound theatrical troupes, and the Baltimore & Ohio has decided to take part of that business, as it has in the past.

Railroad Notes.

W. J. Watt, secretary to President Loree of the Baltimore & Ohio, is at St. Vincent's hospital, Cleveland, seriously ill.

Baltimore & Ohio stockholders residing in Baltimore will at the annual meeting, November 17, demand representation on the board of directors in order to recover for the road the local standing it has lost since the Pennsylvania acquired control.

Among the railroad men visiting Pittsburgh yesterday were C. H. Latta, of New York, southeastern passenger agent of the Wabash; Col. William M. Shaw, district passenger agent of the Burlington at Cincinnati; D. J. Mulany of Cincinnati, general agent of the Western Atlantic, and J. R. Kearney, superintendent of car service of the Baltimore & Ohio.

The announcement of the Lake Shore that it will erect a 14-story office building in Cleveland ends the rumors of removal of headquarters to Chicago. It also makes the story of the Vanderbilts centering at Cleveland the headquarters of their western lines, as the Pennsylvania has done at Pittsburgh, seem more probable. Cincinnati will in that case lose the general offices of the Big Four.

WRITING EXPERT AGAIN APPEARS

Wm. J. Kingsley Brought Into Molineux Case to Identify Certain Letters.

POSTAL BOX MAN ALSO

Fails to Identify Defendant as Having Rented Place to Receive Mail Under Name of H. Cornish.

New York, Oct. 22.—Police Capt. George McCluskey was called in the Molineux murder trial today to identify the exhibits in the case that passed through his hands when he was head of the detective bureau. He told of the packages then found at 1620 Broadway, where the letter box was hired in the name of Cornish, and was telling of the reports made to him by the men of his staff when ex-Gov. Black objected.

Justice Lambert ruled against him and McCluskey identified the package of Kutnow powder sent to the letter box and never called for.

Joseph J. Koch, the keeper of the letter box place, was then called to the stand.

He said that in June of 1898 he received a letter signed Roland B. Molineux, asking the cost of a private letter box. He sent a circular containing his rules and terms to Molineux in Newark. On December 21, 1898, the witness said, a young man came to his place of business and hired a letter box. The man gave the name of H. Cornish. Cornish was standing in the body of the court room.

It Was Not Cornish.

"Is that the man who hired the letter box?" asked Mr. Osborne.

"It is not."

"He was in the store inquiring about the rent of a box."

"Did this defendant here hire a letter box from you?" was ex-Gov. Black's first question. The witness answered "No."

Koch said that, with the exception of the mustache, there was a resemblance between Harry Cornish and the man who hired the letter box in the name of H. C. Cornish.

Koch said it was not until the summer of 1899—in June—that he first said he recognized Molineux as the man who called to ask about hiring a letter box.

Written at Molineux's Request.

"Did you write this letter?" asked Mr. Osborne, showing witness a paper and envelope.

"I did. I wrote it and signed it and mailed it at Mr. Molineux's request. My initials appear under his name."

The letter was offered in evidence after Mr. Osborne had explained that it was the letter Koch received asking for the magazine "Studio," and to which he replied by inclosing his circular, giving, among other things, the terms for private letter boxes.

"Did Molineux ever know anything about that letter you wrote to Koch?"

"No."

"Did Molineux get the papers received in reply to that letter?"

"I don't think so."

Ex-Gov. Black still objected to the admission of the letter. The assistant district attorney argued that all he wanted to show it was that Molineux's address was sent to Koch and to corroborate Koch's testimony that he had Molineux's address and had sent him a circular. In that way counsel argued he would establish the presumption that Molineux had knowledge of 1620 Broadway as a place where letter boxes could be hired.

Justice Lambert reserved his decision.

Handwriting Expert Appears.

William J. Kinsley, the handwriting expert, identified some writing he saw Molineux do in the district attorney's office on February 17 and 19, 1899, and then declared that the so-called Harpster letter written to Frederick Stearns & Co., in Detroit, was written by the same hand.

Mr. Osborne promptly offered the letter in evidence and ex-Gov. Black as promptly objected on the ground that it is incompetent under the ruling of the court of appeals; that it tends to connect and accuse the defendant of a crime other than that for which he is on trial, and that the signature, "H. Cornish," does not necessarily refer to Harry S. Cornish.

Justice Lambert overruled the objection and the letter was read to the jury.

Rudolph Heiles testified that at the request of Molineux he wrote from Newark on the letter head of Jacobs Bros., cigarmakers, to Frederick Stearns & Co. of Detroit, asking about Harpster.

Mr. Osborne said he proposed showing that the inquiries about Harpster formed an act of hostility toward Cornish and that it was because the reply to the Jacobs letter sent by Heiles was unsatisfactory that Molineux wrote the much-discussed Harpster letter in the name of "H. Cornish."

"Did Molineux say to you, 'Harpster is the same low-down vile kind as Cornish?'"

"Yes, sir," he replied.

RELIC HUNTERS CUT SPLINTS FROM COFFIN

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

LEES SUMMIT, MO., Oct. 22.—The body of Jim Younger, the bandit, who shot himself at St. Paul, arrived here today, and probably will be buried in the family lot tomorrow.

Pall bearers have been selected from Younger's former Missouri friends, several of whom knew him from childhood and served with the Youngers under Quantrell.

When the coffin arrived it was seen that many splinters had been cut from the pine box enclosing it, probably by relic hunters, who had met the funeral party at different points along the route.

BOY SINGER, WHO FOUND FRIENDS

POLICE GOOD TO HIM

The Newspapermen Helped Him Along, and as a Result He Bids Fair to Become a Footlight Favorite—At Avenue Last Week.

Harry Smith, the 14-year-old boy whose sweet voice captivated the audiences at the Avenue theater twice each day last week, where he obtained an engagement through the kindness of Police Inspector Will and Manager Harry Davis, has rather a remarkable story.

HARRY SMITH.
The Boy Singer, Who Knows What Pittsburgh Generosity Means.

He is a bright youngster of gentlemanly manners, showing evidence of having received careful training at home. He is boyish and frank and yesterday told his story to a Gazette reporter:

"My father is C. W. Smith of Jackson, Mich., and until two weeks ago I lived at home. About six months ago I met Hughey Cannon, the musician, song writer and vaudeville actor. He heard me sing, and said that if I would go with him he would put me on the stage. I sang with him there until about October 1, and then we went to Hillsdale for one night. I made $3 there singing on the depot platform. Then we went to Toledo for three days, and made a little money singing in saloons.

Parents Gave Permission.

"Mr. Cannon is a nice man, and he treated me first-rate all the time. Before leaving Jackson I should say that he got the written permission of my parents to take me with him, and I wanted to go on the stage because I like it, and there are so many of us at home I thought I might make my own living.

"Well, we decided to come to Pittsburgh from Toledo, but when we got to the depot we found that our tickets had expired and were no good. Mr. Cannon, however, gave me all the money he had, $3, and told me to take one of the grips and get a ticket, and that he would follow me the next day. That was Saturday. I came to town and made some money singing in the saloons on Saturday night. Mr. Cannon borrowed some money in Toledo and joined me on Sunday, and, oh! he was awful sick. We did not have any more money, so I started to sing in the smoking room at the Union station, but they put me out and then the police found me.

Grateful to Friends.

"The police found Mr. Cannon, too, and they sent him to some hospital, or some place where they tell me he is very sick and may die. The police, Inspector Will and the newspaper men were very good to me, and they kept me for four days at the police station, until they wrote to my father to know if I had run away. They got a letter saying it was all right, and they got me on the stage here.

"I like it first-rate and I am going to stick to it. I am engaged to play at Harris' muzee theater at McKeesport all this week, but I don't know what I will do after that, although Inspector Will tells me that some people in Boston have written to him offering me an engagement. I was offered a position in the sextet of the 'Little Outcast' company at the Empire theater, but I was engaged to Mr. Davis and could not go back on him.

"Say, Mister," he said wistfully, as the reporter was about to leave him alone in all the glories of his own private dressing room at the theater, "if you are going to write anything about me, won't you please say that Roy Fraker, the clerk at the public safety building, has taken care of me and hoarded me all week, and that I can't thank him enough."

LOOKS LIKE ACCEPTANCE.

Vote on American Tin Plate Proposition Will be Reached Probably This Morning.

Discussion of the rebate proposition was continued all day yesterday at the conference of the tin plate men of the Amalgamated association.

Much of the opposition against the acceptance of the proposition of the manufacturers has dwindled away, and it now looks as if the vote for its acceptance will be substantially unanimous. Many of the delegates who favor the offer of the American Tin Plate Company were quite jubilant last night when the meeting closed. "We will reach a vote in the morning," one of them said. "The majority will be so large that the vote will be practically unanimous."

YOUNG MAKES NO PLEA.

Judge Orders It Entered as Not Guilty—Counsel Not Allowed to See Grand Jury's Minutes.

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—William Hooper Young, who is accused of the murder of Mrs. Anna Fulitzer, was arraigned before Judge Cowing today to plead to the indictment of murder in the first degree. On the advice of his counsel, William F. S. Hart, the prisoner did not plead and Judge Cowing ordered that a plea of not guilty be entered.

The court denied a motion by Mr. Hart that he be allowed to inspect the minutes of the grand jury.

STOCK SPECULATION IS NARROWING DOWN

Sharp Advance In Sterling Exchange Portends Gold Exports---Stock Market Closed Steady---Dull Day in Local Securities.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

The eastern stock market is gradually getting within the bounds which the banks and conservative commission house brokers have urged as the only safe course if another severe flurry in money is to be avoided. The transactions yesterday fell considerably short of 500,000 shares, or less than half the daily total of a week ago. At the opening the tendency was downward, and by the end of the first hour the average of prices was below the lowest of the preceeding day. There was a slow recovery in the general list, but there was an absence of pool operations on a scale sufficient to attract special notice. Baltimore & Ohio was sold down to 108¼, and bearish views were expressed on the stock, based more upon speculative and money conditions than upon anything connected with the affairs of the road itself. A rally to 109½ later occurred, a part of which gain was retained at the close. Reading sold off to 67½, but at the decline it was thought that buying for interests which have been accumulating the stock was resumed, and the price recovered to 68¾, closing at 68. St. Paul rallied to 191¾ on the report that the threatened strike of switchmen had been averted by granting the men an advance in wages. Missouri Pacific rallied 2 points, and the Wabash stocks were firmer, but as stated, there were no particular movements in any part of the list. In the closing hour covering of shorts caused general slight advances, and the market finally closed steady to firm, but the dealings throughout the day were of a professional character.

The incident which attracted most attention was the sharp raise in sterling exchange. The latter opened firm and slightly higher, and near the close of the day advanced to 486⅝ for demand. Experts figure that this rate is only a shade under the point at which gold may be profitably shipped to Paris. At the same time the selling price of gold bars and American eagles in the London market advanced slightly, indicating that London bankers were disposed to make use of the artificial means within their control for the purpose of shifting the French demand for gold to New York. London was again a seller of our securities, being credited with unloading on Wall street 10,000 shares Union Pacific, 5,000 shares Atchison and fully 10,000 shares of other international stocks. Brokers who endeavor to keep tab upon London's operations estimate that the sales for foreign account during the past 10 days have exceeded the purchases by at least 150,000 shares. It is this selling of American securities that offset the foreign purchases of our breadstuffs and cotton. The primary receipts of the latter have been increasing during the past few days, and as they accumulate at shipping points the tendency will be to depress the price and increase exports, but the latter may not immediately be of sufficient volume to prevent specie exports.

Everybody recognizes the fact that if gold exports occur, it will not be on account of any lack of confidence in either our currency or our business prosperity. It may be that European leaders are demanding payment of maturing loans with the view of renewing at a higher rate. Everybody does not recognize the fact, however, that with our present volume of currency it may prove dangerous to attempt to carry on a bull campaign in stocks and at the same time furnish the means for handling the crops and supplying the needs of merchants and manufacturers, not to mention the requirements of the various syndicates whose plans have been held in abeyance. There was little change in the money market yesterday, rates on call loans ranging between 7 and 5 per cent, but time loans remain firm at 6 per cent, and offerings are not large.

There was a decided falling off in the dealings on the Pittsburgh stock exchange and prices were irregular. The principal trading was in Window Glass common. The stock opened lower and declined to 56½, but later in the day there was a recovery to 57¼, and the close was at 57⅛, a net advance of ⅛. The disappointment over the poor showing made by the company for the past year was offset in some degree by the financial predictions of larger earnings this year, and also by the possibilities connected with the latent blowing machine. If the latter proves to be as great a commercial success as has been claimed, it will practically put the company beyond the reach of competition. The coal stocks, which dominated the market the day previous, relapsed into dullness. Pittsburgh Coal common sold at the uniform price of 30¼, a decline of ⅛, and the preferred remained unchanged at 88½. There were no transactions in River Coal, and big prices were steady and unchanged. Crucible Steel common remained unchanged at 21@21¼, while the preferred was a shade off at 85¾. The announcement that the company had assured its future ore supply by making a large addition to its holdings in the Mesabi range was well received, as being in the line of policy decided upon to place the company in such a position of independence as regards raw material as will render it free from serious competition in the future. United States Steel common was quoted at 40¾@40⅝, but no stock changed hands all day. The preferred sold at 89, a decline of ½. Westinghouse Electric second preferred was again very dull, a small lot selling at 108¾, a decline of 1¼ for the day. Airbrake sold unchanged at 177. Pittsburgh Brewing common was firm and a fraction higher at 52, and the preferred sold at 45¼, an advance of ¼. Fire Proofing common declined to 20½, while the preferred gained a fraction at 58¾. One stock in the list made a new high record, Manufacturers Light and Heat selling at 90⅝, and that price was bid for more. Philadelphia Company was lower, selling at 47, Wheeling Gas was nominally quoted at 80 bid, 90 asked. The report that the Standard Oil Company was negotiating for the purchase of the property no doubt accounts for the recent advance to more than three times the par of the stock, which is the highest premium ever quoted for a natural gas stock in this market.

Bank and trust company stocks were not dull as the industrial list. The only change of note was the sale of a small lot of Pittsburgh Trust at 880, a decline of 10 points from the last previous sale. At the close the stock was offered at 870, represent ng a decline for the day of 20 points. Real Estate Trust gained 2 points, selling at 207, and Federal National bank advanced 4½ per cent to 145. Colonial Trust did not change hands, the stock being nominally quoted at 900 bid, 915 asked for small lots.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

Manager McCandless of the Pittsburgh clearing house returned yesterday from a three weeks' vacation in the east. During his absence he visited the clearing houses in Boston, New York and Philadelphia.

The gross earnings of 44 roads for the second week in October increased 8.66 per cent.

Traders are inclined to be bearish on Baltimore & Ohio, in consequence of the tight money market, a 4 per cent stock selling around 110 is too high, at least for buyers on margin. Bulls on the stock point to its large earnings and the urgent needs of the former for a portion of the favorite of the pools, and the latter are not always governed by earnings or rates for money.

There are conflicting reports as to the real condition of the local money market, some brokers reporting it tight as ever, while others state that there are unmistakable evidences of an easier feeling. The general impression is that if the call rate in the east remains at or below 6 per cent, the amount of loanable funds offering will increase, and many say that gold sent east for the purpose of obtaining high rates will return to the local market.

"I think our market is now undergoing liquidation," was the remark of a local broker yesterday. "There has been some selling of Philadelphia Company and the coal stocks, which is due to the depression of the money market, and not to any unfavorable change, present or prospective, in earnings."

Notice has been sent to the subscribers for the new seats in the Pittsburgh stock exchange that application for membership and payment of seats must be made on or before 10 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. The list response to the notice was James S. Crawford, whose name was posted yesterday.

Pennsylvania Trust advanced to 390 bid, 550 asked. South Side Trust was quoted at 100 bid, 104 asked. Peoples Trust of the South Side, 105 asked. Iron City Trust, 129 asked. North American Savings, 175 asked. Commonwealth National bank, 198 bid, 210 asked. Republic National bank, 117 bid, 120 asked.

On the exchange United States Steel 5s, series A, were offered at 101 and accrued interest.

Mr. R. C. Hall has been elected a director of the Republic National bank.

Pressed Steel Car Company directors met in New York yesterday afternoon and declared a quarterly dividend of 1¼ per cent on the preferred and 1 per cent on the common. The preferred will be paid November 10 to stockholders of record October 29. Transfer books close October 30 and reopen November 10. The common dividend will be paid November 26 to stock of record November 5. Books close November 5 and reopen November 26. Checks will be mailed. The directors elected P. F. Jenks treasurer of the company. Mr. Jenks has been acting in that capacity for almost a year, with the title of assistant treasurer. He will be located in Pittsburgh.

The quarterly dividend on National Fire Proofing preferred will be payable on Saturday.

The stock has displayed some weakness recently that has attracted attention, it being quoted relatively lower than any of the other 7 per cent industrial preferred stocks. It is generally believed that last summer, when the dividend was declared on the common stock, the question of increasing the latter was under discussion. It was finally decided to maintain the old rate of 6 per cent, and holders of the preferred looked upon this action as strengthening the position of their security, but the latter has steadily declined.

The present prospect of gold depends upon the movement of sterling exchange in Paris more than upon the fluctuations of sterling in New York, which are influenced both by the Paris quotation and the condition of the money market. It is estimated by experts that with sterling in Paris 25 francs 12½ centimes, gold could be exported from sterling here at $4 87¼ 4.85. A change of ½ centime in the Paris quotation is equivalent to 10 points in our quotation of sterling, so that an advance of sterling in Paris would raise the gold export here, while a decline would reduce it.

Knowledge of the alleged deal for acquisition of Florida East Coast by Southern Railway is denied at the offices of both companies. The report is generally discredited.

Lazard Freres have received advice from the London-Paris and American bank at San Francisco of the shipment of 750,000 sovereigns from the Philippines. The gold is due at San Francisco about the middle of November.

One rather significant item of news from the other side is the announcement that there will be no omission of a dividend on Consols during the present session of the British parliament.

The total amount of government bonds accepted by the treasury is $12,908,000, and the total amount of cash discount $17,150,000. Total amount state and municipal bonds to date. Place governments as security for government deposits, $15,004,500, and $2,502,000 awaiting transfer.

The process of creating big banks out of small ones and of increasing the capital of banks continues. The directors of the Seventh National bank of New York, of which Edwin Gould is president, have agreed to increase its capital from $1,700,000 to $2,500,000. In connection with this action it is consolidated with two other neighboring banks in which Charles W. Morse holds control. In the last ten years there has been a net loss of five in the number of banks in the New York clearing house, although the amount of capital has increased upwards of $40,000,000.

H. C. Frick was yesterday elected a director of the Equitable Trust Company of New York.

The comptroller of the currency has authorized N. S. George of South Fork, Pa., Harry Gerken, D. Jones Shiller, Illinois, and Edward S. Allen, Amos D. Strong and others to organize the First National bank of South Fork on $50,000 capital.

The comptroller of the currency has authorized the Merchants' National bank of Quakertown, Pa., to begin business on $50,000 capital. James Shiller is to be president and John D. Moyer, cashier.

President Ziegler, of the Hocking Coal & Iron Company, returned from a trip through the west this week. He says crops all sides prosperity abounds. The people are rich with money and goods. This is especially the case in the states of Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Michigan. Business is considerably stimulated. The crops in these states have been good and the farmers have lots of money. I see continued prosperity ahead. The Hocking Coal & Iron property is in excellent condition. The oil proposition which we have been considering for some time is developing very nicely. With comparatively little outlay we are able to develop oil wells of much value to the company.

MARKETS FIRM WITH FEW PRICE CHANGES

Sweet Potatoes Advancing. Marrow Beans Higher--Home Produce Scarcer.

No changes in price were made yesterday in the hay and grain market, all descriptions remaining steady at quotations of Tuesday. Offerings were light on the exchange, and bidding was not very spirited, dealers having enough receipts of their own to take care of demand but new enquiries for cars are also coming in. Straw in very scarce and was asked for, but holders were too stiff to meet views of buyers, and no sales were made. New oats, 10 days' time, was offered at 55c, the highest bid calling for short of asking price.

Wheat keeps very strong, and another half advance in flour occurred late Tuesday afternoon. While this served to strengthen the market and make sellers' position even firmer than it was previously, there was actually no actual change was made in local quotations. Coffee and sugar are unchanged in price and conditions. Navy beans still hold to the range of $2 @2 65, while prime marrows have advanced to the same figures. Dried peas are stronger with quotations at a bushel higher.

The advance in canned corn made on Tuesday has been firmly maintained, a steady and active retail demand causing the added strength in the market. California white cherries are firmer, however notation having been advanced, making a narrower range of prices. California Yakima pears are higher, owing to the stiffness in the raisin market generally, caused by the average shortage in the world's production.

Sweet Potatoes Advancing.

The sweet potato situation is firmer than ever, and Jerseys have scored another advance. Irish potatoes maintain their position of strength, but are no higher. Radishes are scarcer and prices have gained. Green onions are higher. Florida egg plant has commenced to supplant the home raised variety, and is offering in crates. Green corn is almost done, and is going out of season. Limes are also declining. Mango peppers are less plentiful and command higher figures. Top grade quinces are higher. Peaches are getting very scarce, and fine stock is in small demand. Concord grapes are firm at old quotations.

No change of any kind was made in the market for butter, cheese or eggs yesterday, all descriptions holding steady. Poultry, both live and dressed, is unchanged. Demand is good, but receipts keep up well enough to take care of all request.

KOSTURKO DID NOT FORGE NAME

Alibi Saved Defendant in the United States Court.

NEW BANKRUPTCY ISSUE

Owners of Judgment Want Insolvency to Date from Answer to Petition of Creditors—E. A. Kemerer's Trial Goes Over.

With the returning of a verdict of not guilty in the case against Valentine Kosturko in the United States district court yesterday work of the jury in criminal cases concluded. Kosturko was charged with forging a name to a money order at the Clearfield postoffice and the defense established an alibi.

The term for criminal cases was a very short one, consuming but two days. Thirteen defendants pleaded guilty to the charges against them and will be sentenced later in the week.

The only civil case on the list is the suit of Reinhold Betterman against the Cambria Foundry and Machine Company, which will be heard today. It is to recover a penalty for the alleged offense of making the word "patented" on an article which was not patented, $148,000 being involved.

Among the cases continued till the next term is that of Edward A. Kemerer, who is charged with using the mails for fraudulent purposes under the name of Karson & Co.

Attorneys Albert Thomas Morgan of the Washington county bar and George J. Kambach of Pittsburgh were admitted to practice in the United States circuit and district courts.

A report was filed in the bankruptcy case of Frank D. White of New Castle by William R. Blair, the referee, recommending that he be adjudged a bankrupt.

A petition was filed against White by some of his creditors alleging that while insolvent he had committed an act of bankruptcy by permitting the Marquis Limestone and Clay Company to obtain judgment. An answer was filed by the Marquis Limestone and Clay Company alleging that White was not insolvent, that he had committed no act of bankruptcy, and was not a resident of this district, as he lived in Cleveland.

White's answer admitted insolvency and claimed New Castle as his residence. Referee Blair found that White was a resident of New Castle, but that in permitting the Marquis Limestone and Clay Company to obtain a judgment he had committed no act of bankruptcy. The Marquis Limestone and Clay Company asked that if White be adjudged a bankrupt that it date from the time of filing his answer, and not from the date of filing his petition. Should this be done the lien of the judgment would have accrued more than four months prior to his insolvency and would, therefore, be not affected by the bankruptcy proceedings. Referee Blair says the validity of the lien of the creditor will come up later for determination, but on the record as it stands he recommends that an adjudication be entered against Frank D. White.

An order was made discharging Samuel A. Lutz from bankruptcy.

Secret Marriage of the Reddings Ends In Divorce Court—Reports of Commissioners.

The report of Attorney R. H. McLarn, recommending that a decree be granted, was filed in the divorce case of Reed H. Redding against Sarah M. Redding. The couple were married on June 19, 1898, at Limestone, N. Y., to which point they eloped from Bradford to conceal the marriage from the wife's mother. Redding testified that he and his wife never lived together, but that he continued visiting her until February, 1900, when the visits ceased. He said he had written asking his wife to come and live with him, as he was able to keep her, but she always refused. It was stated by other witnesses that Mrs. Redding had, when asked about the marriage, denied it, but afterward said she always regretted the marriage.

Reports of commissioners in three other divorce cases were filed yesterday. In the case of James Bachelman against Julia Bachelman the report showed the couple were married on January 10, 1888, and separated in February, 1894. The libellant says that his wife associates with bad characters.

In the case of Mary Colly against William Colly, the libellant avers their marriage took place on June 17, 1892, and separation on June 1, 1895. She says that when she returned home on the latter date her husband was moving things from the house. When she questioned him he slapped her in the mouth and left the house.

In the case of Elizabeth Lehocsky against Samuel Lehocsky the libellant states they were married on January 6, 1896, and that he deserted her two years later.

Supreme Court Arguments.

The following appeals were argued in the supreme court yesterday: Beaver county—James K. Myler, appellant, against Edward Wiffish and others, an action to strike off a judgment; the Pennsylvania Junction Railroad Company, appellant, an action over a right-of-way. Butler county—B. F. Benton against the Forest Oil Company, appellant, appeal of Martha Amberson from a decree of the orphans' court; Adam Miller and Edward against Sarah Mackey, appellant, an action growing out of a street improvement; H. Covert and others against the Pittsburgh & Western Railroad Company, appellant, an action in ejectment; John E. Shaffer and others against Harmony borough, an action to recover for personal injuries.

MUST SERVE A TERM.

L. C. Barton Gets Six Months in Workhouse for Embezzlement After Exhausting All Defense.

Attorney L. C. Barton, who was convicted on a charge of embezzlement, on September 11, 1901, was brought into criminal court yesterday and placed in the hands of a deputy sheriff to be taken to the workhouse for a term of six months.

Barton was found guilty of embezzling about $4,000 from Isabella McLucas, his sister-in-law. In his defense he represented that the money was in dispute, but subsequently made restitution of the sum. He was sentenced by Judge McClung on December 21, 1901, to serve a term of six months in the workhouse. The court refused a new trial and Barton appealed to the superior court and the supreme court; both decided against him.

Both branches of criminal court adjourned early yesterday owing to a scarcity of business. The day's trial list was small and when a number of cases were called they were found to be not ready for trial.

W. H. McFadden, charged with felonious assault by William E. Webster, was convicted of simple assault and battery, the jury acting on the instructions of Judge F. H. Collier.

Adam Paul also was convicted of assault and battery committed on Thomas Burke.

Policemen Asked to Study Diagrams.

At a meeting of the Western Pennsylvania Humane society yesterday the bungling job of a West End policeman, made of the killing of a horse which had been hurt in a street railway accident, was discussed. The horse had both hind legs broken and the policeman, it appears, first tried to kill it with an ax and then had to shoot it two or three times. The society adopted a resolution to the effect that all policemen be asked to study the diagram cards posted in all police stations illustrating the proper way to kill a horse by shooting.

Missing Witness Arrested.

DETROIT, Oct. 22.—The hearing of a motion for a new trial for Frank C. Andrews, the convicted vice president of the wrecked City Savings bank, will be resumed tomorrow before Judge Murphy, after an intermission of five weeks, due to Mrs. Addie J. Corby's refusal to appear and give much-wanted testimony. Mrs. Corby was located by detectives and put under bond today.

When in doubt, buy the Sunday Gazette.

A New Discovery Which Cures All Forms of Catarrh.

The tablet is the ideal form in which to administer medicine, but until recently no successful catarrh tablet had ever been attempted. There is now, however, an excellent and palatable remedy for catarrh in tablet form, known as Stuart's Catarrh Tablets and sold by druggists, composed of the most recent discoveries in medicine for cure of catarrh and results from their use have been highly gratifying.

The old time treatment of catarrh was in the form of inhalers, washes, douches, sprays, etc. Later on internal remedies were used with greater success, but being in liquid or powder form were inconvenient to use and like all medicines in liquid or powder form, lose their medicinal properties when opened or exposed to the air.

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets contain highly concentrated antiseptics, Hydrastin, Blood root, and Red gum which kill the catarrh germs in the blood and mucous membrane, and in this respect are strictly scientific and modern, because all authorities are now agreed that catarrh is a constitutional blood disease, and local applications can have only a transitory effect.

The use of inhalers, douches and sprays is a nuisance and inconvenience and can in no wise compare favorably with the same antiseptics given in tablet form internally, where they can reach the stomach and blood and kill catarrh germs right where they are produced.

A prominent lawyer and public speaker of Pittsburgh says: "I have been troubled with catarrh of the head and throat for 12 years. In this climate it seems impossible to get rid of it. The continual dropping of mucus from the nose into the throat caused irritation and hoarseness, seriously interfering with my public speaking. It took me an hour or more of coughing, gagging, expectorating and sneezing every morning before I could settle down to work and this condition gradually brought on catarrh of stomach, causing loss of appetite, poor digestion and a foul breath, which annoyed me exceedingly. My physician advised me to try Stuart's Catarrh Tablets and I took them for two months and was astonished to find how quickly they cleared my head, throat and stomach and I have no hesitation in recommending them. They are not only pleasant to take, but they seem to get at the very root of the trouble, because since using them I have had no trace of catarrh."

They can be carried in the pocket and used any time and as often as desired since they contain no cocaine, mercury or any other injurious drug.

GREAT DOINGS AT A GREAT STORE.

OUR "CONTEMPORARY SALE" is now at flood-tide. Fifteen solid columns of "specials" in new, fresh, up-to-date, reliable merchandise have been spread before the purchasing public this week, and the response has been something extraordinary, even for a store accustomed to brilliant successes. We fearlessly challenge comparison in prices and qualities with the best goods sold by any other store--BANKRUPT STOCKS OR OTHERWISE.

'Tis a good thing we have a big place in which to take care of the wants of the multitude. Perhaps even now you do not quite comprehend how extensive "The People's Store" really is--two hundred and forty-one feet from Fifth Avenue to Virgin Alley, seventy feet wide, occupying two entire floors and the basement of the Masonic Temple, and in addition, a lofty eight-story brick building of our own in the rear---the Only Eight-Story Department Store in Pittsburgh.

The newspapers this afternoon will tell you the most absorbing story of our matchless FRIDAY'S BARGAINS--a list surpassing in its splendid possibilities even our "Contemporary Sale" specials. With all the trade-stimulating forces working together at once we expect that tomorrow will be a record-breaker. So come in the morning if you can. But come anyhow.

Is Your Good Will Assured?

Attorney General Knox in his address on the Trust Problem last week said:

"Good will is property capable of being appraised, bought and sold. In many cases it is the main ingredient of value. It represents all the struggle, industry, tact and judgment that make success. In estimating the worth of a business it is not infrequently reckoned more valuable than the buildings and machinery that make up the physical plant."

How much is the Good Will of your business worth?

How much would it be worth if you were to die tonight?

Is it assured for an amount in harmony with its value?

FROM $2 A WEEK TO $50,000 A YEAR

COL. ROBERT C. CLOWRY, who began life as a telegraph messenger boy advanced to the position of President of the Western Union Telegraph Co. at a salary identical with that of the President of the United States. Col. Clowry never had the advantage of a college education. The necessity of earning his living while yet a boy allowed no opportunity for a college training. His circumstances in those early days were similar to those of thousands of young men and women in Pittsburgh today, who are busy making a living instead of going to college. But young Clowry did more than simply earn his living. He devoted his spare time to self-improvement and the habit of home study then formed, steadily continued during the years he has been mounting upward. Men and women, clerks, bookkeepers, stenographers, workers in all callings of life, is not the lesson a plain and practical one? If you want to make substantial progress you must build now for the future by giving your spare time to self-improvement.
